The Conspirators Trial PAYNES REPORTED INSANITY. TESTIMONY OF PHYSICIANS.

WASHINGTON, June 14.

The previous day's record was partly read, when the Commission took a recess until two o'clock, in order to allow the examination of Payne by the comp appointed for that purpose. The Commission re-assembled at two o'clock. Mr. Doster stated that he had closed the defense in the case of payne, and did not propose to call as witnesses the medical gentlemen who had been appointed to investigate the condition of Payne as to in-

Witness examined the prisoner Payne this morning and was assisted by Drs. Norris and Porter, and was subsequently joined in the examination by Surgeon General Barnes. The prisoner was asked almost the same questions that were put to him yesterday, in order to ascertain whether his answers. uld be similar. He answered to-day would be similar. He answered to-day with rather more promptness than before, and his answers were much the same.

Question—Are you now prepared to express an opinion whether or not in your judgment the prisoner is a safe and responsible man?

Answer—I am now prepared to say that there is no evidence of insanity.—
The prisoner's mind is feeble and uncultivated, but I cannot discover sufficient eyidence of mental incapacity.

Cross-examined by Mr. Doster. Question—What are you prepared to state as to his noral insanity.

Answer—we asked him to-day whether he believed in a God, and he said he did, and believed he was a just God. He also acknowledged to me that at one time he was a member of the Baptist church. I asked him the question whether he and believed he was a just God. He also acknowledged to me that at one time he was a member of the Baptist church. I asked him the question whether he thought that the assassination of an enemy in time of war justifiable. He said he believed it was.

Examination of Dr. Norris—the witness, in company with Surgeon General Barnes and other medical gentlemen, made an examination this morning of the prisoner, Payne, and arrived at the opinion that he was sane. There was nothing in the prisoner's looks, speech, or conduct to indicate that he was of unsound mind. On the contrary, his reasoning faculties appeared to be good, as also his judgment.

Cross-examined by Dr. Doster.—I am not familiar with cases of insanity; don't think the conduct of the prisoner during the prisoner during the conduct to attend the said the Band will enliven the occasion with the choicest

The cross-examination of this wittless was mainly with reference to what constituted mental and moral insanity, and was terminated by the President of the Court objecting to the course of examina-

Assistant Judge Advocate Binghan entered upon the record several papers among which was a certified copy of resolution of the United States Senate consenting to and advising the appointment of Wm. H. Seward of State, and the qualification of Andrew Johnson on the 15th of April, 1865, as President.

Judge Advocate Holt said that some additional testimony, relating exclusively to the general conspiracy, and not effect ing either of the prisoners particularly would be offered in behalf of the Gov would be offered in behalf of the Government, it having been understood that one of the auguments for the defense had been prepared. He desired the Court to hear it, notwithstanding that it should be handed in before that argument was presented to the court. It had been tho't possible that Mr. Johnson himself would be present to-morrow to deliver an argument in person. If he was not on hand, Mr. Clompett, by agreement among the counsel, would present the argument to the court.

The Judge Advocate enquired as to which of the prisoners the argument was intended to apply.

Mr. Aiken said it was an argument relative to the jurisdiction of the Cou t. which was prepared by Mr. Johnson, and in which all the counsal concurred. It was intended for all the prisoners.

Assistant Judge Advocate Bingham said, Mr. Johnson was not counsel for all the prisoners.

General Wallace said, if the argument on the jurisdiction of the Court was ready, it would not be improper for the Court to hear it, and in order to settle the question, he moved that the court be cleired.
