The Glarious Fourth.

From all parts of the country news that every where was had, on this, "ou national day." In our own county th various gatherings were so nungrous that we are unable to get them all before our readers this week! Every where all was joy, gaiety and patriotism.

But the great assembly of the occur sion was that which convened in Inde pendence Square, in Philadelphia, where the weather-beaten and battle-scarred flags of Pennsylvania Regiments, were formally presented to the Governor by their bearers. A full account of this patriotic demonstration has not yet reached us; but we expect to be able to lay it before our readers hereafter.

Let us all hope that "smiling peace with its blessings and treasures" may con tinue to bless us, and that the next Fourth may find us still prosperous and happy With both, a restored and recopciled Union,-with traitors occupying back seats in the political temple, and loyalty everywhere, dominant and respected, controling the destiny of the government, so heroically saved from annihilation.

The Philadelphia Convention. For the last six months we have adher ed to the opinion that the President and the few Union Representatives who adhered to him, intended to alienate them selves from the Union party, and form : new coalition with the Copperheads of the north, joined by the late Rebels of the South—the southern wing of the De- world," "Give me pure and unadulter mocracy. Some of our political friends thought this judgment harsh. They had been in the habit of beheving it impossi-00 ble for "Andy Johnson" to again join the 00 party that had turned false to its country, and who had abused him per-Strange things, however, do happen. A National Convention has now en called by 'the "Johnson Club" of Washington City, joined by Cowan, Doo little & Co., to meet in Philadelphia on the 14th of August next. This call, in its terms excludes the mass of the Re publican party, but embraces every Dem-This gall is indorsed by the Democratic members of Congress, so that we may look for one of the most "Conservative" assemblies that has occurred in this country since the Chicago Convention of 1864 The Chicago convention declared the way The Philadelphia Convention a failure. is intended to secure the verification of that declaration. It seems to us to be a proper time for a careful examination of situation. If any who have acted with the Republican party heretofore, would prefer political affinities with a party whose leaders in the future will be taste for a political re-union with that ortion of their party which led then ntore bellion, either openly as at the South, or covertly as at the North, they have now a fair opportunity for saying so. Let us aswit patiently the development of things. In the meantime, let all true patriots stand to arms."

The Pittsburgh Gazette has, as we think, behaved very shabily in reference to the action of our late County Conven-tion. It first announced to its readers that it had it on "trusworthy" authority that the resolutions had not passed that body as published, and asked for an exlanation on our part, which was accord ingly given. But no notice was taken of it by that paper. Not only so, but it renewed its assurance that no resolution had passed our Convention instructing in favor of Governor Curtin for United States Senator, and produced in proof of that, what purported to be cards from three members of the convention. We alled on one of these delegates to know whether he had written the card to which his name was attached, and were informed by him that he had neither written the card, nor signed it; that, on the contrary, he had been waited upon for the purpos of obtaining his consent to such a card and that he had peremptorily refused; that he was a friend of Governor Curtin and would gladly vote for the resolution We communicated this in question. fact with others of a still more convincing character to the Gazette, under which circumstances it felt compelled to recede from its former position. But it has don so with such poor grace that we canno give it much credit for it. Its old grudge at Gov. Curtin-so strongly developed in '63-is eventualy still there. However it will know better in the future what to rely on as trustworthy authority.

War! War!

The curtains have at last been lifted in Europe; and hostile armies are at length engaged in deadly combat. The military strength of Austria, on the one side, and Prussia and Italy on the other, are now being tested by perhaps 1,500,000 bayo nets! Dispatches have been already received announcing an engagement between the Austrian and Italian troops, pursuit of knowledge.
which would seem to be favorable to the former. On the other hand Prussia seems to have out-Generaled Austria, in obtaining possession of some of the more important positions in Germany.

As to the probabilities of the final issue little need be even guessed. Europe is like a chess-board, with all the crown heads as players. All that the outside world can do is to wait and see. In any event, we can congratulate ourselves that the theatre of war is changed from our own shores to the eastern continent. We can safely undertake to extend to them as much sympathy as they bestowed upon us in our great trouble, now happily over

JUNE 30th, 1866. MR. EDITOR,—Sir:—We had the pleasure of attending the First Exhibition of the Union Literary Society of the Prospect High School, near Prospect, on Church, in the borough of Prospect, on 29th. Before six Prospect High School, held at the M. E. o'clock the Church was filled to overflowing, with a highly respectable audi ence, anxiously waiting for the exercise to begin. The stage was bandsomely decorated, and the smiling happy countenances of the students, evinced that they felt proud (as they may well be) of their school, and their worthy teacher, Rev. J. J. Rockwell. We will not discriminate among the performers, suffice it to say, that they all performed their parts in a manner highly creditable to themselves and their teacher, the exercises throughout being of the most inter-esting character. The Declamations and

The original dislogue was a display of nventive genius, and the actors performed their parts admirably. The debaters handled their subject with skill.

The essays by the young ladies were ruly "gems of thought," well written, and well read. If there was a visible quivering of the paper, or an audible tremor of the voice in the reading of several of the essays, we can cheerfully ascribe it to that becoming modesty so nat ural to young ladie s when they appear on the stage.

The audience, notwithstanding the fact that they were crowded almost to suffocation, yet, preserved the best of order possible under the circumstances throughout the entire performance. In conclusion we would say, that the pleasant location of the Prospect High School, the beauty of the surrounding country and the society of the place, offer superior inducements to those who are in the
