Women of the War.

Under this title the subscription publishing house of Scranton & Co., Hartford, will soon issue a new and original work by Frank Moore. It comprises full and faithful sketches of the most celebrated wemen of our country, who, during the war, consecrated themselves to the work of relieving thousands of the suffering and war-worn soldiers, in the hospitals, o the field, and at the very front of battle. The incidents of their experience overflow with pathos and the most touching sentiment, showing the truth of all that has been said of woman's charity, love, and self-sacrifice in times of trial and suffering. The devotion of Spartan mothers, the heroic tenderness of the young wife Gertrude, and the sublime sacrifice of Florence Nightingale, have all been rivaled by our own noble women during the last four years of war, and to them as deep a debt of gratitude is due from the LAND FOR SALE CHEAP. on as to those brave fellows, who, in the hospitals, "homes" and convale cent camps, were the objects of their tender 226 Acres of valuable land, one mile West care.
