hearts to the Lord."—Eph. v 19. "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord."—Col. iii, 16. "Is any merry let him sing psalms."—James v, 13. The duty of teaching and admonishing one another, of speaking to one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, indicted by the Holy Ghost, and singing these songs is enjoined by the Holy Spirit. Christians are commanded to express their spiritual joys, by "singing psalms." Nothing could be more express than all this. Besides, it was the practice of the early Christians for the whole congregation to join in singing the praise of God, is as evident as any other well attested fact. Pliny says that "the early Christians met together before day and sung praises to Christ as God," evidently meaning the whole assembly. We have no intimatian of any other practice obtaining from the Apostolic age to the days of the reformation. It is well known that it was the practice of all the reformed churches for the whole congregation to unite in the song of praise. How good and comely is all this?

"Praise ye the Lord; for it is good praise to our God to sing;
For it is pleasant, and to praise, it is a comely thing."—Ps. cxlvii, 1.

After all the bone of contention—and what will keep the protestant churches from becoming a unit—is the rejection of the songs indicted by the Holy Spirit, and substituting in their room the poetic effusions of human genius that they have made, without God's permission, their songs of praise for themselves—may be permitted to decide for themselves who shall sing them, and how it shall be done. Their songs are their creatures and let them dispose of them. If it is so that all the people of God did sing the praises of God, as they were commanded—and who can doubt it?—the psalms must have been read out by verses or lines, (and this is the order of the noted Dr. Spurgen while ministering to the thousands,) if that were not done, either the whole people must have all the book of psalms committed to memory, or they could not have sung. Copies of the law were so scarce, when written out with a pen and on parchment, that in the most prosperous state of the church in Israel, there could not have been more than one copy of the law in each synagogue; it is perfectly certain there could not have been one for each family, or one for each worshiper in the synagogue; the inference is irresistable that in order that "every one" might sing to the Lord, the psalm must have been parcelled out—reading it line by line.

"The people all praised God" on the day the ark was carried up to the place that David had prepared for it on the hill of Zion. On the very day of the procession (1. Chron. xvi, 36,) the psalm which they sung was delivered to the leaders in praise, so that they neither could have committed it to memory nor could have copies have been written out for all the people to sing it without LINING. This must have been the case, too, with all the psalms when they were sent first to the people to be sung. The manner in which they first sung them was, no doubt, continued ever afterwards. They neither complained that the sense was marred nor the melody of the music impaired by that mode of singing. In the early ages of the church the same method must have continued, for the copies of the Scriptures were so rare and expensive that, except among the opulent—and there were few such,—they were scarcely to be found in private families. It was with no little difficulty that every church could be supplied with a copy of the word, until the invention of the art of printing—a little before there formation of the sixteenth century. During all that long period, if all the people sung the praises of God—as they all did who had voices—the practice of reading the lines prevailed. This cannot be gainsaid.

In the reformed congregations, on the continent, the same practice was continued; for, though the copies of the psalms were not so rare, yet few of the people could read. In the Directory for worship agreed upon by the assembly of Divines at Westminster, and which is the basis of the form of worship of all the Presbyterian churches in Britain and America, we have the following provision: "That the whole congregation may join in these [the singing of psalms,] every one that can read is to have a psalm book; and all others, not disabled by age or otherwise, are to be exhorted to learn to read. But for the present, where many in the congregation cannot read, it is convenient that the minister, or some fit person appointed by him, do read the psalm, line by line, before the singing thereof." As the version of psalms now in use—made by the General Asssembly of the church of Scotland in the purest times of the reformation, and now used by the United and Reformed Presbyterian churches, by the free and established church of Scotland—is now printed, what was originally one line is divided into two. Reading the psalm line by line, meant the reading of what we now call two lines:

"That man hath perfect blessedness who

was originally one line. In most cases the verse is so constructed that one long line embraced a complete sentence. In this it follows the original which usually expresses a full and distinct thought in one verse; and that portion was, probably, the length of the lines read in the Israelitish worship "before the singing thereof." The Presbyterian churches in Britain did all adopt and long practice the provisions of the Westminster Directory. Most of them—all the Reformed Presbyterians, the Associate or Antiburger, and many of the Associate Reform congregations—continued the mode of ining until very recently, in this country, and some of them still continue to go forth by the footsteps of the flock.

This usage, then, at which many affect to sneer as rude and illiberal, is of high authority and venerable antiquity, and has been practiced by the greatest and best of the people of God for a term of nearly three thousand years. In this way by far the greater number of the redeemed of the Lord, who now praise him in heaven, learned to praise him on earth. In this matter those who practice it are going forth by the footsteps of the flock.

In public congregations of worshipers it seldom if ever occurs that some of the reasons which render the reading of the lines necessary are not found; and therefore the practice should be continued. Besides, the church has decided that the lines shall be read; and it belongs to her supreme judicatory alone to determine when the practice shall cease, if it is ever to cease, in the church militent. Wherever the appointment of God and the church's law, whether statute or well established common law, enjoins a rule of order, government, or worship, no congregation may set aside such rule upon its own responsibility. To do so is the very spirit of independency, and strikes at the whole doctrine of uniformity to which so much importance has been, and always should be, attached by the witnesses of Christ. Farther, where a change in a matter of this nature is offensive to any of the Lord's people, it should be avoided rather than give offence to Christ's little ones, were there no other reason. Innovation, under such circumstances, is harsh, is cruel, is unwarrantable. It will be avoided by the wise who seek for the promotion of holy harmony in a congregation, and who delight in the peace of Jerusalem.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE by DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINE.—To cure consumption, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made, thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach, of all bilious or mucous accumulations, and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutricious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhoea they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure, is to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the room as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. (2nd w. ea.mo, 1yr

AN INVALUABLE MEDICINE —FOR—
The Purifying of the Blood.

DR. J. W. POLAND'S

HUMOR DOCTOR,

A Positive Remedy for all Kinds of Humors, PARTICULARLY
ERYSIPELAS, NETTLE RASH, SALT RHEUM, SCROFULA, CARBUNCLES, BOILS AND PILES

It is very gratifying to say of this, or of any other medicine, "It is the very best remedy known." It is but always so easy to prove it. It is, however, exceedingly gratifying to the Proprietor of this medicine, that while he declares to the public that this is a most wonderful and effective specific for Humors, as stated above, he has abundant proof at hand to sustain his statement

In sixteen years the Humor Doctor has been manufactured and sold, and every year has increased the value of its reputation and the amount of its sales.—In New Hampshire, where it originated, no remedy for humors is so highly prized. An eminent physician (now an army surgeon) when practicing in New Hampshire, purchased seventeen fifty and sixty gallons of it, during some seven or eight years, and used it in his practice. He has since then ordered it for the Hospital where he was stationed. Other physicians have ordered it, and have used it in practice with great success. When the proprietor lived in New Hampshire at Goffstown Center, for the space of thirty or forty miles around, and in Manchester particularly, the Humor Doctor was well known and highly valued for the numerous and wonderful cures which it effected. Though manufactured in large quantities it rarely was frequently exhausted, and purchasers had to wait for more to be made. In that region some very severe cases of Erysipelas were treated with—and they were cured.—Erysipelis sores, or carbuncles, those ugly, painful ulcers, were entirely removed where the medicine was faithfully used. So it was with scrofula and Salt Rheum. The Humor Doctor cured them.

For the sake of showing what is thought of it, a few testimonials are here inserted:

Milton Gale, Esq., Boston, Mass.

I hereby certify that I was sorely afflicted with boils for two years, developing themselves on my limbs and other parts of my body. The sufferings which I endured from them are indescribable. Suffice it to say that I faithfully tried several of the most popular humor remedies, but without removing the affliction. At length, by the earnest request of an intimate friend, I was induced to try Dr. J. W. Poland's Humor Doctor, and am very happy to attest that all my boils were removed, and my health was restored by using Dr. Poland's afore said medicine.
Boston, Jan. 14, 1866. MILTON GALE.

A. C. W. Esq., Manchester, N. H

DR. J. W. POLAND—Dear Sir: I very cheerfully give my testimony in favor of your Humor Doctor as an excellent remedy for humors. My numerous acquaintance in Manchester know how severely I was afflicted with Boils, and they know how perfectly good my health is at present. Your Humor Doctor cured me. Please refer to me for particulars in my case.
Manchester, N. H, June 11, '66. A. C. WLLACE

Mrs. Wheeler, Stoneham, Mass.

I very confidently and earnestly recommend Dr. J. W. Poland's Humor Doctor as an excellent remedy for humors, having been wonderfully cured by it myself. My own case was a very severe and obstinate one. For more than two years the skin upon the inside of both my hands, and even down to my wrist, was constantly cracked and broken up, so that I was unable to use my hands in any kinds of wet work, and was obliged to wear gloves in sewing to avoid getting blood upon my work. The humor which so afflicted me was probably a combination of Erysipelas and Salt Rheum. My general health was quite poor. Soon after I began to use the Humor Doctor I commenced perceiving signs of healing. I continued to use the medicine till I was finally cured. My hands are now perfectly free from humors, and to all appearances my whole system is clear of it, and has been for several months. I used eight bottles before I felt safe to give it up entirely, but they cured me. HARRIET WHEELER.
Stoneman, Mass., July 5, 1866.

Mrs. Porter, Dover, N. H.

DOVER, N. H, July 22, 1865.

DR. POLAND, I received your letter enquiring as to the effects of your medicine on scrofulous sores. I am happy to say that I think it is "the medicine" for it cured my dreadful sickness. I tried various prescriptions, but found none that settled the stomach and cleared the head like the Humor Doctor. I felt as though I could hardly wait to get ashore, to enclose you to intimate it to ship chandlery stores, that if they find its way to those who suffer upon the mighty deep from seasickness. If captains who take their families with them, or carry passengers, should try it for once, they would never be willing to voyage without it.

I have used it for my family since its introduction to the public for bilious habits, headache and humors about my children, and have always found it a sure cure.

I am not fond of having my name appear in public, and would not consent to it on any other account but to relieve the suffering; but if the foregoing will be of any service to you or the public, you can make use of it.
Yours, HARRIET M. PORTER.

Much more might be said in relation to this medicine, as contained in testimonials, but it is needless. A. & A. Manchester druggests about it, especially E. W. Blake, at Barr's. Inquire of Mr. Henry Plumer, of Bedford, whose wife was cured by it of Salt Rheum. Ask almost any person in Goffstown, and they will declare its value as a remedy, as used in their own cases or by their friends.

The Humor Doctor was formerly sold at fifty cents per bottle; but the cost of every ingredient composing it has gone up so enormously, that the price has been raised to fifty cents only, and that by compulsion.

The Humor Doctor is prepared at the New England Botanic Depot, for the proprietor, J. C. French.

Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere.
