Thinning Fruit Crops.

We once heard a successful raiser and marketer of peaches say, that by thinning the crop to about one-third or one-fourth its ordinary number on loaded trees, he was still able to obtain as many bushels as before, on account of the increased size, and to account of the increased size, and to obtain tripple price. During an abundant season, his neighbor who neglected thinning found it difficult to get fifty cents per bushel, while he sold all his readily at a dollar and he sold all his readily at a dollar and a-half. All trees that overleir, and all that have defective fruit, either from the attacks of insects or otherwise, will be improved extensively by the quality of their crops by timely thinning—remembering always to pick off the poorest specimens and leaving the best. Even the apple crop, which is cheaper and more abundant than most others, should not be neglected. If any one who doubts will remember for a moment doubts will remember for a moment that an overloaded tree has 't' be finally picked by hand, he will see the propriety of doing a part of his picking so early in the season that the portion left may be improved by the operation.

Suppose, for example, that a tree has at the present moment three thou sand growing apples upon it, and that two thousand are small or scrubby, or infested by the apple worm or stung by the curculio. If he allows these three thousand all to grow, they will crowd each other, and none of them will be large and fine flavored. Yet if suffered to remain, they must be all finally hand picked, and care-fully let down and carried in baskets. fully let down and carried in baskets. Now, instead of this laborious process let the owner pick off two thousand poor ones, which, requiring no care to keep from bruising, may be done with great rapidity. The remaining thousand which will then have a chance to wall are in size and become perto swell up in size and become per-fect in flavor, may pe gathered when mature with far less trouble than the original three thousand. Let the experiment be made now in season.—
Country Genoleman.

Fevers and Fruit.

Let's have a little talk about orchards and gardens as life-preservers. Many farmers think they "can't fuss Many farmers think they "can't tuss about a garden" with vegetables and small fruits in ample variety, hardly about an orchard, especially beyond apple trees. So he goes on to weighry, and eats potatoes, wheat bread, pork and salt beef all summer long; no fine variety of vegetables, no grateful berries, no luscious peaches or juicy cherries. By October, fever comes, or bowel complaint of some kind, some congestive troubles, most likely. He is laid up; work stops a month, the doctor comes, and he "drags round" all winter, and the doctor's bill drags too. The poor wife, meanwhile, gets dyspeptic, constipated, has fever too, perhaps, and she "just crawls round."

A Greenlander can eat candles and whale fat, because they produce heat In January we are up towards Greenland—in climate. A Hindo lives on rice, juicy fruits, and tropical vegetables cooling and opening the system. In July we move toward Hindostan in a heat almost tropical. Diet must change too. Have apples, pears, cherries, etc., from the orchard every day, of early and late kinds. there be plenty of good vegetables, raspberries etc. It takes a little time and trouble, but it's the cheapest way to pay the doctor's bill. And, bless your dear souls, these things taste good! You study what feed is good for pigs and cattle. All right, but wife and child are of higher consequence; and it's a shame if with all our great gifts of intelect and intuition we do not obey the divine laws in our own physical beings so well that the doctor shall visit the house less (Late of the U. S. Army.) than the horse-doctor goes to the barn. Don't fail of vegetables, beres and fruit. Try it, and you'll say we havn't toled half the truth—

ITEMS IN FRUIT CULTURE.-Late summer pruning of the grape vine arrests the ripening of the fruit, and tree maturing of the wood.

Over-bearing of fruit always burts the constitution of the tree. Thinning out favors it, and improves the Dosing the soil with manure, is bad for the fruit trees in general.

A wet soil rots the roots of the trees and hurts them otherwise. Screening trees in blossoming time from the severe winds and wet, favors their bearing. It is of great importance.

Prune grape vines early in the year—say after they are out of blossom.— But cut no branches then this should be done in the fall.

Rural Nnrseries. To KEEP MEAT FRESH. -As farmers generally reside at a distance from regular meat markets, the following directions for keeping meat may be of use to those that try it: may be of use to those that try it:
Cut the meat in slices ready to fry;
pack it in a jar' in layers, sprinkle with salt and peper just enough to make it palitable; place on top a thick paper or cloth, with salt half an inch thick; keep this on all the while.—
Most can be best for three weeks in Meat can be kept for three weeks in the summer and the last will be as (That formerly occupied by Hon. Chas. C. Sullivan) as good as the first.
