TIME WELL SPENT.

After having labored hard during the Spring, Summer and early part of the fall every individual needs a few days of rest; and we have often thought that two or three days could not be better spent than in attending upon our County Fairs.

There are many persons who do not view this matter in its proper light, but consider the time spent at fairs as lost .-This is certainly erroneous. It must be admitted that the Agricultural interests of our County exceed all others, for we are emphatically an agricultural commu nity, and we should lend a helping hand to everything that is calculated to advance this interest; and in order to do this we should not act entirely on selfish principles, but be willing if necessary, to make some sacrifice as individuals in or der to build up and develop the Agricul tural and Mechanical interests of our county. Experience and observation have clearly shown that wherever county fairs are properly appreciated and supported by the people all their interests are enhanced thereby. Let all who possibly can, not only attend the fair, but bring something for exhibition. The following from the American Agriculturist for September, is worthy of notice :

"Save time to attend the Fairs; and be sure to take or send something to help the show. Have it in the best possible order, and don't expect so confidently to get the prize as to be made uncomfertable if you lose it. It is no shame to be beaten, but it would be shameful for a poor article to take a prize over a better one. Therefore rejoice that something more excellent than your's could be raised and that the raiser brought it. A good part of your reward should be in having contributed to make a fine show. A man seldom gains credit to himself by declaring openly that things he has, a home, are much better than those exhi ited. Such statements if made should be said privately and generally in self condemnation for not having brougt the articles. The unsuccessful competitor seldom gains more than an uneviable notoriety by openly impugning ne motives of judges.

Every one is happy to receive prizes, and the hope that he may, is a great in-ducement to present articles in competi-tion. The honor and credit should count for much, the money for very little, and really the unselfish motive of contribureally the unselfish motive of contribu-ting to make a fine show, should be the chief inducement to exert ones-self for the fair. An exhibitor going to the fair with these feelings will not leave his wag-on loads of fruit, vegetables, and dairy products outside, while he searches thro' the exhibition tables to find out if he will

MENT .- A good practical buisness educaion, such as can be acquired at the Iron City College, Pittsburgh Pa. is a fortune to any young man, and just what every, one should have, no matter what his vocation in life may be. It is not only valuable to the merchant or general buisness man, but also to the farmer, mechanic and professional man; and since the terms of tuition are so verry low, we wonder that any person should think of hair to its original color in a most repermanently settling down to any buisness as a life calling before having availed himself of the advantages afforded by a course of training in this popular institution. We have yet to hear it said by any who have graduated there, that it was not the best investment that they have Accidents.—Mrs. Schneidle, a german lady, aged about sixty, was returning home from church, on the Sabbath from Harmony, and when about a mile West of Zelienople on the Rochester road her horse, which was a spirited one, frightened and wheeled with her .-As she fell out of the saddle, her foot caught in the stirrup, and she was dragged several rods on the ground. Her leg was badly broken and bleedingly profusely, but she managed to creep into a fence corner, where she remained about two hours before any one passed by. Assistance being promptly rendered her limb was set, and she was taken to her house on Brush Creek, six miles distant.

While science has labored for the benefit of the human race, it is but a poor return to have imitaters start up and claim merits for their articles which never existed except in appearance.-Since Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer has been introduced, and the remedial effects of this valuable preparation have been so plain, a legion have commenced manufacturing their nostrums .-In point of merit there is no commparison, no more than the counterfeit resembles the genuine bank bill. ADDRESS OF THE UNION REPUBLICAN AT

COMMITTEE ROOMS, HARRISBURG, August 27th, 1867.—To the People of Pennsylenia: Fellow Citizens.—In a recent address from this Committee your attention was invited to sundry issues cent address from this Committee your attention was invited to sundry issues and principles involved in the pending canvass; and also to the politial opinions and judicial decisions of George Sharswood. A short review of the principal occurrences, since the last State campaign, is now considered proper. The contest of 1866 was fought, in the main, upon the amendments proposed by Congress to the Consituation of the United States. These were national issues; and on the one side were arrayed the Union Republican party and the "Boys in on the one side were arrayed the Union Republican party and the "Boys in Blue;" and on the other President Johnson, the Democratic party, and all the rebels and their sympathizers from one end of the Union to the other. On those momentous issues Pennsylvania ralited in her strength, and polled over one hundred and forty thousand more ralied in her strength, and polled over one hundred and forty thousand more votes than at her preceeding annual election. Among the results were the triumphant election of Major General John W. Geary for Governor, and the Indorsement of Congress, by the return of a delegation more unanimous for the right than ever known before in the history of the Commonwealth. Other loyal States united with us, and the insane wicked 'Policy' of his new frends and allies, was overwhelmed by the unprecedented and magnificent popular majority of four hundred thousand votes! Every State which had been faithful to the National Government and the cause of the Union Government and the cause of the Union auring the war, approved the amendments.

which had been rainforced with all of the war, approved the amendments. Every rebel State, except Tennessee, rejected them; and under the rebel provisional governments created by Prestdent Johnson, rebel power resumed its authority, and became dominant in their executive, legislative, and judicial departments. Vagrant and labor laws virtue thally re-enslaved the freedmen. Loyal men were outlawed and trampled under foot; and the revived spirit of the rebellinion was everywhere triumphant. Riots murders, outrages, and assassinations were the order of the day, and security for either the lives or the property of loyal men was nowhere found. Treason had from teasts, loyalty had been made editous, and traitorous conspirators against the life of the nation were vindictive and rampant.

Such was the condition of public affairs in the South when Congress convened in december, 1866. This nation had solemly resolved, and voted, that the Union should be restored on the basis of loyalty and justice; and to this end was the Fortieth Congress elected. Hence were passed the Reconstruction law in the required two-thirds; and they are now the laws of the lud. Under them, in cluding the guendments of last assision, the construction is rapidly progressing; and would doubtless ere long be successfully accomplished, but for the persions; of the people, to whom he had so often and so vaundingly appealed. Congress reen acted them over the vetoes, by more than the required two-thirds; and they are now the laws of the lud. Under them, including the guendments of last assisting and would doubtless ere long be successfully accomplished, but for the persions; of the people, to whom he had so often and so vaundingly appealed. Congress reen acted them over the vetoes, by more than the required two-thirds; and they are now the laws of the lud. Under them, the provisions of the received provisions of the received provisions of the received provisions. General James Longstreet, a distinguished robe officer, in a received provisions. General Ja laws and cheerfully acquiesce in their provisions. General James Longstreet, a distinguished rebel officer, in a recent published letter from New Orleans, expresses himself as follows;

"I shall set out by assuming a proposition that I hold to be self-evident, viz: The highest of human laws is the law that is established by appeal to arms.
The great principles that divided political parties prior to the war were thoroughly discussed by our wisest statesmen. When argument was exhausted resort was had to compromise when compromise was unavailing, discussion was renewed and expendents were sought, but none could be found to suit the emergency. Appeal was finally made to the sword, to determine which of the claims was the true construc. which of the claims was the true construction of the claims was the true construction of the constitutional law. The sword has decided in favor of the North; and what they claimed as principles, caces to be principles, and are become law. The views that we hold cease to be principles views that we hold case to be principles, accept the principles of th be principles, and are become lave. The views that we hold cease to be principles because they are opposed to law. It is, therefore, our duty to abandon uleas that are obsolete, and conform to the requirements of law. The military bill and amendments are peace offerings. We should accept them as such, and place ourselves upon them as the starting point from which to meet.

TRAVERSE JURORS, FIRST WEEK.

war; and boldly proclaim that "ail these grave pending questions" must be decided, "just in fact, as they would have been decided had they arisen eight years james Davidson, Sr., Adams, farmer; age, or had no war taken place." (Philadelphia Age, July 8th.) They not uply deny the constitutional power of Congress to impose terms upon the rebel States or people, but deny that Congress itself is a lawful body, because the rebel States are unrepresented. Hence, the recent application to the Supreme farmer; James Martin, Buffalo; Samuel war; and boldly proclaim that "ail the segrave pending questions" must be decided, "just in fact, as they would have been decided had they arisen eight years ago, or had no war taken place." (Philadelphia Age, July 8th.) They not only deny the constitutional power of Congress to impose terms upon the rebel States or people, but deny that Congress itself is a lawful body, because the rebel States are unrepresented. Hence, the recent application to the Supreme Court of the United States for injunctions, to nuillify the Reconstruction laws of Congress in Mississippi, Georgia, and other rebel States. In the same interest, and of the same character, is the of Congress in Mississippi, Georgia, and other rebel States. In the same interest, and of the same character, is the nomination of George Sharswood, a well known and life long State rights man, for the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. He judicially denies the power of Congress to issue paper money, or to give it value by making it a legal tender. (Borie ss. Trott Legal Intelligencer, of March 18, 1864, page 92.) Judges Thompson and Woodward, of the same court, not only announce those same doctrines in the case of Mervine ss. Sailor et al. (Legal Intelligencer of June 16 and 30, 1865, pages 188 add 205.) but in the cases of Kneedler et al. vs. Lrne et al. (8 Wright's Reports, page 238), denied the power of Congresss in time of wat to draft men into the military service. The principles declared in these decisions were as hostile to the national existence and perpetuity as any assault ever made by General Lee and his armed legions at Get-ysburg or elsewhere. It requires no argument to demonstrate that if these decisions on currency and the draft had prevailed, and beceme the established law of ions on currency and the draft had pre-vailed, and become the established law of the land, success in the war would have been more impossible than if the rebel ar-my at Richmond had been reinforced with half a million of men. Is it safe, therefore to place another man, entertaining these opinions, on the Supreme Bench of the name or all that makes faithfulness to Him, and honor among men, we stand pledged to secure and maintain forever the principles for which our brothers died.
