READY FOR ANYTHING.

We hear and read a great deal from the polmeian and papers of the "opposition," about the diversity of sentiment in the Democratic party, and the hopeless disorganization which exists in its ranks. We confess that, for a souple of years, there has been divisions in our ranks-that issues have been raised, and quessions discussed, upon which all could not agree We confess, too, that unprincipled men in the party, disappointed in their aspirations for office, have seized upon those issues and questions for the purpose of defeating the organisation that had failed to give them power and | was because his desire to serve the people place but, while we confess this, we are very sertain we can see signs of returning harmony. and evidence that the efforts of the disorganmers are becoming fully appreciated among she rank and file of the party. In a word, we time for their benefit had been generally see now on every hand union of purpose and harmony of action where a year ago there was wothing but disorganization. And while we are confident this is the state of our own household, how is it with our opponents ('an the same be said of them. Verily, if it can, then do we not read the political horizon aright, nor is there any virtue in the resolves of Republican conventions A portion, it is true, like the Gasette of this city, are ready for any thing Like the man in the play, though they ean't see exactly how, they hope something will turn up to reconcile their differences, and enable them to succeed "We are ready," save the Gasette, which paper is a fair sample of its class, 'no support for the Presidency, "WM H SEWARD of New York, SIMON CAM-"BROK OF JOHN M. REED of Pennsylvania. "JOHN BELL of Tennessee, SALMON P CHASE out Ohio, EDWARD BATES of Missouri, or any outher true Statesman on whom a Union can .. be formed. Now, we apprehend it would pusale the most expert artisan of political potsery to mould a vessel that would safely carry agross the abys which separates Wm. H Seward and Edward Bates, or John Bell and S. P. Chase, the dilapidated hosts of that pie-bald party, called "the opposition" For example, is would be a sight worth seeing-better than any accrebatic performance of Blondin,-to have Edward Bates, of Missours, running for President upon the following platform:

Resolved. That the Constitution confers government, and that in the exercise power, it is both the right and duty of Congress to PROHIBIT in the Territories those twin relics of barbarism, polygamy and SLAVERY.

Especially would this be so, if we call to our last February, in a letter addressed to a committee of the opposition in New York, who were anxious to ignore the Negro question, that Mr. Barns thus emphatically condemned the course of the agitators in the North, who have made all other questions yield to this. He said:

in print, that it is a pestilent question, the agitation of which has never done good to any party, section or class, and never can do good unless it be accounted good to stir up the angry passions of men, and exasperate the unreasoning jealousies of sections, and by these bad means, foist some unfit men into office, and keep some fit men out. It is a sensative question into whose dangerous vortex it is quite possible for good men to be drawn unawares. But when I see a man, at the South or at the North, of mature age and some experience, persist in urging the question, after the successful experience of the last few years, I can attribute his conduct to no higher motive than personal ambition or sectional prejudice.

Having thus expressed himself, certainly Edward Bates would be a capital candidate for the men who still stand by the resolution we have quoted above. It is true, he says he can attribute their conduct-meaning the Chases, the Sewards, and the other fathers of the Republican party-"to no higher motive than personal ambition or sectional prejudice;" but what of that ! It is true, the Republicans of Wisconsin, in their state convention recently, repudiated the command of the Tribune to prepare for success, even if they had to let the "negro question slide," by resolving that-"eschewing all compromises of principle, they will support no man for President or Vice President who does not openly and unequivescally espouse the principles on which the republican party is founded, preferring defeat while contending for freedom and right, to a victory rendered fruitless by compromising 'principles for the sake of power." But what of that! Is'nt the "opposition" a great and homogenious party, which is, according to such. lights as the Gazette, "not only welling, but "destrous of concentrating on some Statesman "for the office-some Statesman who would "honor it-some just man who would not dis-"own the leading principles of the Declaration "of Independence." We might go further, and show the impracticable fallacy of the Gasette's ready for any thing position, but it is searcely necessary.

The majority for Governor Moore in Alabama is overwhelming. It is full 32,000, he receiving some 51,000 votes, and his competitor, SAMPORD, 19,000. Governor MOORE was elected upon a sound, conservis his competitor. ative democratic platform, just such a one as could be adopted with advantage in any State, whether North or South, while Mr. SAMFORD, although calling himself a demograt, was supported by all the oppositionthe advocates of a slave-code, the re-opening of the slave-trade, and by the disunionists and fire-eaters generally. He worked in the same traces with Mr. W. L. YANCEY, and we see the result. The overwhelming majority for Governor Moore shows how firmly the democratic sentimentias in trebched itself against all such extreme views, and will be a permanent rebuke to all the southern agitators.

One JAMES McCornic, formerly of Cincinnati, who had his life insured in Liverpool for $10,000, and whose death was announced a few months ago, has "turned ance company.

When the other day the Postmaster TERMS $1 50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE or three tons of electioneering documents franked in the hand-writing of other pergress whose name was used, the republican newspapers alleged that this was the first case of interference with the practice, and that up to that date the practice had been the democratic party. Whereat these republican newspapers howled vigorously --Their allegation was false and their howlington correspondent of the New York | cowards of us all." Times writes .

"Postmaster General Holt did not begin his reform movement on republican docu ments. Some months ago fifteen thousand democratic documents, bearing the frank of Senator Brown, of Mississippi, were re-fused transmission through the mails, the frank not having been written by the Senator himself. The law will be rigidly and impartially enforced."

We presume this testimony will not b disputed, since the Times is an opposition, or "independent" journal. However, no such testimony was really needed, for no sensible person could be made to believe that the Postoffice Department would observe one rule for democrats and another for republicans

The Gazeue says the reason Kelley was defeated in the Republican convention, was not generally known-that he had repeatedly refused to do so, and that it (the Gazette) has no doubt, if the fact that he was now willing to sacrifice his precious know, he would have been nominated just as easy, to use a vulgarism, as "rolling off a log." This truth, if truth it is, is a very forcible commentary upon the benefit of advertising, but is it a truth? Let us see Mr. K had the benefit of the extended circulation of the Gazette, which is read by more or less of the Republican party in every neighborhood -- and add to this, he had the benefit of our circulation which is quite as much as that of the Gazette, and we think the fact of "Barkin's being willing," was pretty generally known throughout the county. But how comes it that Gennison was nominated, when his name was never announced, and the fact that he was a candidate was unknown to even his most intimate friends until a few hours before the convention met! Answer us that, will you? We do not blame the Gazette for its desire to break the fall of KELLEY, and make his defeat set as easy as possible. but it seems to us such an excuse as the one offered is worse than none

Remarkable developments in financiering have been made in Pittsburgh, in the course of a judicial investigation into the course of a judicial investigation into mance seems rather on the prosaic than certain fraudulent transactions connected the poetic side of life.—Cin. Enquirer. with the Monongahela Valley Bank. Warrants were issued a few days since for the arrest of Stephen A. Dillaye and S. G Langdon, of New York, to answer a charge upon Congress sovereign power over the Territories of the United States for their of forgery and conspiracy. The offence charged is that Dillaye and Langdon pro sented forged certificates of deposit on the American Exchange Bank, of New York, to the amount of $27, 500, in exchange for stock of the Monongahela Valley Bank, at | tion of being informed that his cara sposa The Directors sent Commissioners to New York to investigate the circumstances of husbands take warning from either version the fraud, and on their return to Pittsburg and refrain from addressing lordly lanthe warrants of arrest were issued. Dill-"As to the negro question, I have always | aye, who was out of town at the time. was thought and often declared, in speech and afterwards arrested, taken to Pittsburg, and held to bail in the sum of $2,000 to answer the charge. The Gazette is very sensitive over our allusion, last week, to the retributive justice evinced in the defeat of Mr. KELLEY. for the Legislature, in the Republican convention. It says it was "in bad taste and "not consonant with the better feelings of "our common humanity. Mr. KELLEY is "confessedly one of our most respectable "citizens, whether considered in reference "to his intellectual character or personal "and social standing, and cannot, of course, "be injured by the unprovoked reflections of "the Observer. We simply note the spirit "evinced as illiberal and discreditable."-Now it seems to us that our cotemporary is, not only needlessly exercised, but he exhibits a good deal of "bad taste" in showing it. Certainly we did not in our brief notice, reflect, in the remotest degree, upon Mr. K.'s "personal," "intellectual" or "social" character. It was Mr. Kelley, the politician, we referred to, and we so stated in very plain terms. When a politician, like Mr. Kelley, rides rough shod over an opponent one year, and that opponent rides rough shod over him the next, the fact, we apprehend, is a fair subject for newspaper criticism. This was the case with Mr. K., and we commented upon it as we thought proper, and as we shall always do. The truth is, our neighbor is altogether too "thin skinned." Republicans are no better than Democrats—their acts and failures politically, not personally—are the property of the public, and it is the provence of the political editor to comment upon them. and draw a moral if there is one apparent. Hence it will not do for the Gazette to set up the cry of "personalities" every time one of its friends is mentioned in connection with a political question.

HON. JAMES GAMBLE, of Lycoming county, has been unanimously nominated as the Democratic candidate for President Judge, in the judicial district composed of the counties of Centre, Clearfield and Clinton. Samuel Linn, Esq., of Centre county,

He remained there month after month, his spouse expecting in vain to hear from him, until two entire years had passed. A few months after the divorce was granted. Mrs. W. married again, and, after liv ing with her husband two years, he died, leav ing her an actual, as she was before a legal widow. She continued in a state of single blessedness for several years, and had determined to wed no other lord, so unfortunate -or fortunate was it—had she proved with

He immediately proceeded to Hamilton, and found his former consort, made explanations—what they were we know not, but sufficient that they proved satisfactory to her-and obtained her conset again to be a candidate for her hand. He began his courtship anew, wooed and won her in three days, and yesterday Mr. and Mrs. W., the original, came to the city and were married at the Walnut street House.

To BE, OR NOT TO BE .- A rumor was current last week, that a married lady, in this city, alarmed her husband recently, by wallowing several grains of-powdered chalk, or flour, making him believe it was which it was written. We thought we had arsente. Her object in frightening him heard of all sorts of larceny, but this is the thus, was to punish him for some "plain talk" he had used in reference to her do mestic management. The husband called in a physician, and soon had the satisfacous version of the affair affort, with the same fortunate termination, however. Let guage to their wives. And, ladies, we ad nonish you to be cautious in the use of either chalk or arsenic-especially the latter for we heard one married man expressly declare that if his wife should attempt to commit suicide, he would not be so uncourteous as to thwart her purpose. There may be others equally polite.-Richmond

Homicide in Lancaster County.

LANCASTER, Sep. 12. It appears that a party of young mer residing in the neighborhood of Millers ville, went to serenade a newly married man named Frantz, and returned about 11 o'clock on Saturday evening, when they were joined by others, who in turn, visited all the places in the village where liquor was to be had. A little after 12 o'clock they went to the toll gate, at the lower end of the village, kept by Fred. Rommel, who also keeps a lager beer doggery. The in-mates of the house having retired, they knocked at the door until Mrs. Rommel got up, when they demanded lager beer, which was given them. As soon as the had drank the first supply, they called for more, which the woman alleges she refused them, owing to the lateness of the hour. They then became very noisy, and destroyed some of the furniture, under the impression that Rommel was not at home.-One of the rioters attempted to take liberties with the woman, when she screamed and the landlord came down stairs, armed with a pistol.

He ordered them out of the house, and on their refusal to go, he discharged the pistol; two large shot taking effect in the left arm of one John Dochty. The charge took effect in the fleshy part of the arm immediately below the shoulder, and inflicted nothing but a flesh wound. The shot alarmed the rioters, however, and they got outside of the house. There they held a consultation for a few moments when they went vigorously to work breaking the windows with stones. Rommel and his wife ran up stairs, when the former appeared at the window armed with a gun which he discharged among the crowd. The gun was loaded with buckshot, two of which struck Dochty under the left shoulder blade, and evidently penetrated his heart, for one of his comrades led him but a few feet from where he was shot, when he sank down and expired. Two of the shot struck a young man named Jacob Kauffman, son of Simon Kauffman, one of them lodging in his arm and the other grazing his abdomen. He was taken home and his wounds were dressed. Between two and three o'clock on Sunday morning, Rommel went to the office of Justice Denues, told him what he had done, and gave himself up. Mr. Denues brought him to this city shortly after daylight, and committed him to prison. The news of the homicide raised considerable excitement among the citizens of Millersville, and it is probable that the license law will hereafter be enforced by them to its fullest extent.

This happened at an early hour yester-

On the 17th of August the Erie Express contained a leading editorial headed "Matters Personal," in which the Editor "pitched into" the Editor of the Observer in slashing styleso much so, indeed, that several who read it, came to us with the enquiry, "who wrote it." The "Warns Game Jay" company recently organized in this city, paraded for the first time in uniform on Monday afternoon. And it is the universal verdict that a finer appearing, or better drilled body of men, for the time they have been practicing, cannot be found in the state. Their uniform. too, we think is admirable. There is nothing gaudy about it, but every thing is neat and tasty-dark blue frock cost and pants, trimmed with light blue; Kossuth hats, with black ostrich plumes, together with the other little etcetries of a soldiers toilet, presented to our mind the beau ideal of a dress for citizen soldiers

Some people are easily pleased. For xample, last Saturday night the Dunkirkers demonstrated their satisfaction with the appointment of Mr. Charles Minot as Superinendent of the New York and Eric Railroad by firing one hundred guns and parading the military and Fire Department in a torch light procession As Mr. Minot is one of the contractors for the building of the Erie and New York "cut off," from Erie to Little Valley, it ter, as we can testify is not so easy to see, by outsiders, what the Dunkirkers were rejoicing over

The "Dictionary of Love," a Book recently published by Dick & FITZGERALD, New York, is really entitled to be ranked among the best class books; for, while it treats of the most tender and unmanageable passion of human nature, and turns it up to view in every possible phase of its wayward and fiery course, t never loses sight of that higher law of restraint imposed by morality and religion. If we have occasionally to regret the slight freedom of the author's wit, we are still never shocked at anything which has the least approach to grossness or indecency.

Mr. William White, the President,

r lessee and manager of the Albany Northin Rultoid, was arraigned before the rand Jury in session in Troy, N. Y. on charg of criminal negligence in the case of the late terrible slaughter at the Schaghtiz colo Bridge. The evidence adduced is inderstood to have been clear and indisputable, showing the utter rottenness and insafety of the bridge, which had been fully brought to the knowledge of the accused. The jury, nevertheless, refused to find a bill of indictment for manslaughter, the vote being 10 to 8, lacking two of he requisite number of jurors to indet.

SHOOTING MATCH .-- We learn that Mr. J Sice of this town, has closed a wager with four sportsmen of our village, by which he binds himself to shoot 50 shots with a rifle off hand, at a target 21 inches in diameter, placed at a distance of 10 rods, and hit the target every shot. He is to take his own time for the shooting, within a limit of three weeks, commencing on Monday last. The amount at stake is $500, and the money is deposited awaiting the result— Findamie Conson.
