

Democratic State Convention.

Gen. Henry D. Foster, of Westmoreland Nominated!

This body met at Reading on Wednesday, and was organized by the election of Hon. Wm. H. Welch, of York, as President. After the Convention had been fully organized by the selection of a large number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries, Mr. Vansant moved that a committee of one from each Congressional District be appointed to choose delegates to Charleston, and electors for each of said districts. Mr. Cessna moved to postpone the matter.

Mr. Plummer opposed the postponement, and favored the appointment of the delegates and electors by the Chair.

Mr. Montgomery favored the appointment of delegates and electors by the delegates themselves of each Congressional District of this Convention.

During the debate, Mr. North of Lancaster, expressed a preference for John C. Breckenridge for President, which was received with thunders of applause by the Convention.

Mr. Vansant's motion was defeated, by yeas 40; nays 91.

A resolution that the Convention elect four delegates to the Charleston Convention and two electors at large, and that the delegates of each Congressional District select two delegates and one elector for themselves, was agreed to amid great cheering.

Nominations were then made for the Charleston delegates at large, and on the first ballot, Hon. Wm. H. Welch and John L. Dawson were elected.

The Convention then adjourned at a late hour until morning, without transacting any other business of importance.

When the Convention assembled in the morning, the selection of Delegates at large was completed by the choice of Hon. Wm. Montgomery, of Washington, and Jos. E. Baker, of Philadelphia.

Richard Vaux, of Philadelphia, and George M. Kim, of Berks, were chosen electors at large.

Nominations were made for a candidate for Governor. Wm. H. Witte's name was hailed with applause, and a salute was fired by the Keystone Club.

Among the other names put forward was John L. Dawson, Jacob Fry, Nimrod Strickland, and H. B. Wright. The first ballot resulted as follows: Wm. Witte 42, Fry 10; Wright 12. The balance scattering.

This is all the proceedings, the regular dispatches to the press furnished, but the following which we find in a Cleveland paper, gives the final result of the contest.

Reading, Pa., March 1. Henry D. Foster, of Westmoreland, nominated for Governor by acclamation by the Democratic State Convention.

This indicates that there was a long contest between the prominent candidates, and a final compromise on Foster. We hail it as a good omen—a cheering indication that the Democracy of Pennsylvania are united, confident, and determined on victory!

Republican State Convention.

If we had room we should like to lay the proceedings of the Republican State Convention, which met at Harrisburg last week in full before our readers. It was we have every reason to believe, the most remarkable exhibition of "ground and lobby" political tumbling, as well as the most subject performance of eating one's own words, that has ever taken place in this State.

The chief spokesman in this convention of "buzzards," to use the classic language of Hon. David Taggart, one of the defeated candidates for Governor, was the "owner of the party" in this county, Mr. M. B. Lower. It was his great "lam," the Jupiter Tonus, of the whole concern. He moved, and the convention obeyed. He spoke, and they listened! He threatened, and they meekly "dried up," and submitted! With such an engineer is it any wonder the deliberations of the Convention resulted in nominating Gen. SIMON CAMERON, as the choice of the party in Pennsylvania for President, and ASHLEY CRETAIN, of the Pollock administration notoriety, for Governor. After we have heard so much from the press and the orators of this party about the profanity of political conventions, who would have deigned such a result as this? Who could have been convinced that any respectable party would ever have instructed its delegation to a National Convention to favor the nomination of such a man as Simon Cameron for the Presidency of this great Republic? When we look back over this man's past history, blasted and blistered and corrupted by every species of bribery and plunder; as an American citizen, and as a citizen of this great Keystone State of the Union, we feel humbled and humiliated, that within the borders of this old Commonwealth any party could be found so lost to shame that it would send its delegation to a convention instructed to support Simon Cameron for the chief office in this nation! What recommends this man? What but his fox-like cunning—his unscrupulous character and their hopes of plunder recommended him to their favor and purchased their instructions? But we need not construct language of our own to describe the characteristics of this man, whom the "owner of the party in Erie county," has brought forward for his meek followers to endorse. If any of our readers have a file of the Erie Gazette for the year 1855, let them turn to the number for Feb. 23d, and they will find a paper signed by twenty-eight members of the then "opposition" Legislature in which the political character of Gen. CAMERON is drawn with a master hand. To this paper are signed the names, among others, of DAVID TAGGART, who received seven votes for Governor in the Convention last week, and who was subsequently designated as elector for the 11th district by the same body—Hon. FRANCIS JORDAN, delegate to Chicago from the 17th district; and G. J. BALL, Esq., of this city. In that paper we are told that the signers could not, in justice to themselves, vote for Gen. CAMERON for Senator—"a man," they say, "whose whole history is but the history of intrigue—a man who has de-
