The Democratic borough ticket in Warren was entirely elected, last week, with the exception of the candidate for Burgess. The Ledger says the Reput licans electioneered with great activity all day, while the Democrats were comparatively idle. It is strange that after submitting to as much insult and meanness as we have, any of our party friends should be found so careless to duty as would arounds. The Republicans were successful seem from the Ledger's statement.

We admire economy in public business, but when such a degree of parsimony is shown as our County Commissioners sometimes exhibit, it is earrying the matter too far. For instance, the county statement, a document that is of interest to every citizen, is only published in one paper, and that, too, not the one having the largest circulation. In most counties, these matters are given to all the journals, without regard to their politics. What can be the object of such unequalled stinginess? We trust our Commissioners are not afraid to let the people see how they are managing the county affairs.

The Banner, of Light, a spiritualist paper, in speaking of H. M. Pay, the test medium, who was recently detected, as an impostor in Titusville and Jamestown, N. The Eric and Mercer people, not being ble to afford a safe bank of their own, are endeavoring to depreciate Crawford County money. Portunately the Bank of Crawford county is able to stand the pressure .- Crewford Journal.

We beg leave to assure the Journal that the Erie and Mercer people" are not the only ones who have a serious distrust of the notes of the Bank of Crawford County. The feeling is wide-spread over the country, and in Buffalo, Pittsburg and Cleveland, few persons can be induced to take them except at an enormous discount. We know not whether the sentiment is well founded-we only knew that it exists, and has for a long time; and if its affairs are really in a sound condition, the Bank officers, in justice to themselves and the community, should endeavor to manage them in such a way as to remove the edium which now attaches to the circulation.
