

SENTIMENT FOR THE TIMES. Under no possible emergency, not even in connection with the rebellion, should the Government justify itself by suspending the writ of Habeas Corpus...

PUBLIC SALE HELD. In English and German, printed at this office, on any reasonable terms as they can be had at any other establishment.

FLUAS, DANVERS, REMUNERAL COLORES, &c. Address G. W. Crowell & Co., No. 211 State Street, Cleveland, Ohio. Feb 14-6m.

PIRE-WATE CHANCE. We have for sale at this office a $25 warrant on the Iron City College at Pittsburg, which we will sell for $20. The school is one of the very best in the country...

WEEK READING ROOM. The Democratic Club Room, at the corner of State Street and the Park, is open to visitors all political circles. Files of the leading newspapers in the country are kept on hand for the convenience of the public.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING. A Democratic meeting will be held at Kinderhook, in Connetquot, on Saturday evening, the 18th of April, 1863. All in favor of the Constitution as it is, and the Union as it was, are invited to attend.

NAVIGATION OPEN. The steamer New York of Dunkirk on the 27th ult. for Cleveland and Toledo, arriving in Cleveland about midnight of the 28th. Capt. Monroe reports the lake free of ice between Dunkirk and Cleveland...

EAGLE FOUNDRY. We direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Henry & Bryant, proprietors of the Eagle Foundry. They are both well known, active and intelligent men, and will do all they promise.

FESTIVAL. A Festival for the benefit of the St. Catharine School House, will be held at the St. Catharine Hall, corner of 11th and German Streets, on Thursday evening, the 9th inst. The price of tickets is fifty cents.

CARTER'S NERVE WREN. This is the season of year when rheumatism is apt to reappear, and those who are afflicted with that disease will be glad to hear of a remedy for it. We are satisfied by several parties that Carter's Nerve Wren is certain to give speedy relief...

FOR THE OVER. On Friday night, two boys named Henry Fisher and Fred Linneman, being in Buffalo, took a position underneath a car of the Lake Shore train, bound west, on the portion of the breaking machinery.

CITY OFFICERS. The city Council, on Monday evening, elected the following additional officers: Clerk, Geo. P. Griffith; Treasurer, J. Pelton; Harbor Master, John Carr; Sergeant-at-Arms and Clerk of the Market, J. E. Lappley; Collector, West Ward, Charles Miller; East Ward, L. Momeyer.

CONCERT. The well-known musical association known as the "Liederfest," will give a concert in Wayne Hall, on Monday evening next, for the benefit of our German Free Schools. These schools are among the best conducted in the city, and well entitled to the encouragement of the public.

COUNTERFEIT SCRIPT. Our country readers may not be aware that the fifty and twenty cent scrip of the city has been extensively counterfeited. Large amounts of the bogus scrip have been circulated, and the counterfeiters engaged in the business must have been well paid for it.

THE LITTLE TOWN OF YOUNGVILLE. The little town of Youngville is entitled to the "Banner." From a voting population of 75, she has sent 32 of her sons into the National service, all of whom entered without bounty or draft, and not a single desertion has occurred among the lot.

AN OFFICER IN THE 11TH REGIMENT. Writing home, says, "Little Mac still remains the idol of the soldiers. Give him back to us, and if the Administration lets him alone, we will promise to be in Richmond before the next 4th of July."

THE QUARTERLY MEETING OF THE "Ladies Aid Society" will be held at their room in Wayne Block, on Wednesday afternoon, April 8th. A general attendance of the ladies is most earnestly solicited, as officers are to be elected for the ensuing term.

FRANCIS TARRANT. Our old friend, Prof. Francis, of "volition" fame, seems to have been treated rather roughly at Girard. The Union claims that his feet were discovered to be the result of other causes than he alleges, and pronounces him a humbug.

THE "LOYAL LEAGUE" movement, on Thursday evening of last week, missed fire. It was found that the assistance of an individual from Pittsburg was required to put the thing in motion, and the meeting adjourned to another period.

A LETTER from the Mississippi squadron informs us that the Gunboat Tusambla, commanded by Lieut. Shirk, of this city, is now at Vicksburg, or its vicinity. This is one of the finest vessels in the West, and will doubtless be prominently heard from during the stormy events that are likely to soon take place in that quarter.

THE "Loyal League" movement, on Thursday evening of last week, missed fire. It was found that the assistance of an individual from Pittsburg was required to put the thing in motion, and the meeting adjourned to another period.

THE "Loyal League" movement, on Thursday evening of last week, missed fire. It was found that the assistance of an individual from Pittsburg was required to put the thing in motion, and the meeting adjourned to another period.

BRIEF PARAGRAPHS.

The office of the Warren Ledger, the only Democratic paper published in that county, is offered for sale.

Mr. A. J. Foster, of this city, is announced as a candidate for the County Superintendent.

The cases from this county were argued before the Supreme Court, in Philadelphia, last week.

We are compelled to postpone, until next week, the publication of several communications from the army and elsewhere.

The bill compelling the Erie Canal company to keep in repair the bridges made necessary by the construction of that improvement, has passed the Senate.

In Crawford county, as in Erie county, the late elections resulted in favor of the Union candidates generally.

The "Dutch have" also "taken Holland." A resolution has passed the Legislature authorizing the Governor to present new flags to the 83d and 111th regiments, their old ones have been entirely worn out by long service.

Michael Ryan, who was burned to death, in Dunkirk, last week, had been a member of the 111th regiment. He was a brave soldier.

The project of building a new Protestant Episcopal Church, in this city, has been revived. We hope it will succeed.

"Artemus Ward" was announced to lecture in Ashtabula on Friday evening last. When may we expect the witty showman to give our city another "touch"?

The Pittsburg Gazette is of the opinion that a railroad will soon be built giving a connection between that city and Erie, by way of Franklin and the Allegheny river.

The Elmira & Williamsport Railroad has passed into the hands of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and through trains are to be run between Baltimore and Elmira.

The township and borough elections in Warren county are to be held on the first Tuesday in February, the present time of holding them interfering with the arrangements for Court.

By the new postal law, which goes into effect on the 1st of July, the postage on all letters, papers and packages must be paid in advance, or they will be sent to the Dead Letter office.

The lovers of the Weed will find at Bliss's store, a large assortment of chewing and smoking tobacco. Bliss prides himself on his stock, and will be happy for it as one of the largest and best selected ever brought to Erie.

We understand that Prof. Sibbald has been meeting with excellent success in getting up classes for the study of Elocution. He will give a public exhibition in the course of a few weeks.

Mr. J. C. Selden offers for sale a large variety of Garden Tools, together with new and elegant Wall Papers. Persons needing articles in his line will do well to give him a call.

The Capt. McKinstry, who commanded the Monongahela in the recent affair at Port Hudson, and was wounded, formerly commanded the Michigan. He is a brother of Gen. McKinstry of St. Louis notoriety.

A "Petroleum Trading Company" has been organized in England, with a capital of $300,000, who intend establishing a line of steamers between New York and Liverpool, fitted up expressly for the carrying of oil.

Col. Cobham of the 111th regiment, who has been home on a visit, returned to his regiment on Monday. He reports the general health of the regiment as good, and says the "boys" are in capital spirits.

It seems that there is going to be trouble in getting the issue of small notes by the city legalized. On the 17th ult., in the House, the Judiciary Committee reported back, with a negative recommendation, the bill for that purpose.

Persons buying furniture will do well to call at the store of Mr. G. W. Elzey, on State street. His stock is large, and comprises almost every variety. Mr. Elzey is a pleasant man to do business with, and strives to give satisfaction to his customers.

THE LOCAL ELECTIONS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTY WERE CONDUCTED ON POLITICAL GROUNDS IN ALMOST EVERY TOWNSHIP.

The greater the stigma, for men who at this age of the world have not learned that more disgraceful or dishonorable business can be followed than that of engaging in political quarrels, while this evil has well nigh deprived us of a country, and is now populating the land with widows and orphans.

And what paper has helped more than the Dispatch towards fostering these "political quarrels" from the commencement of the war, it has done as much at least to stir up party and personal feeling as any other journal in this section.

It has taken special pains to favor one side, and that the side of Abolitionism, and while styling Democrats by the most opprobrious titles it could think of, it has yet had the presumption to solicit their patronage, and ask them to support its favorites for office.

The public fully understand it, however, and it will receive no one in future.

The loss of Mr. John McClure, whose barn, in West Harbor Creek tp., was destroyed by fire, some time ago, is about $1,100. He lost all his grain and hay, and everything in the building except the cattle.

There are prospects that he will be remunerated by the Penna. R. Co. for the whole or part of the loss. Mr. McClure desires us to return his thanks to his neighbors and friends, for their assistance on the occasion of the fire.

Col. Vincent, of the 83d regiment, was at home in the early part of the week. He speaks well of the condition of the Potomac army, and says Gen. Hooker has exceeded all expectations as a commander.

The colored officers widely from most of his political friends here in reference to Gen. Fitz Porter. He thinks the proceedings in that case were a disgrace to the country.

BAIR CUT IRON WORKS. Very few of our citizens have anything like an appreciative idea of the large amount of manufacturing skill that is employed in Erie. We confess to having had our own views on the subject very considerably enlarged, by a brief visit which we paid on Monday, to the establishment of Messrs. Vincent, Tibbels, Clark & Co., occupy the main portion of the Square on which they are located.

It will be remembered that the old buildings were burned down in the fire of last fall, together with most of their contents. The proprietors, Messrs. Liddell and McCarter with unsurpassed enterprise, at once commenced the building of a new concern, and notwithstanding the severity of the winter, they have already completed arrangements for doing business on an extensive scale.

It is their intention to put up an additional building during the ensuing summer, the present one being insufficient to accommodate their growing operations.

The business of the concern includes the building of every sort of machinery, from the largest to the smallest. Nothing can exceed the regularity with which every operation of the works is conducted.

Each department has its own separate room, so situated as to be most convenient. We know of no more interesting way that one can spend a spare hour or two than in going through these works, and witnessing the many curious and wonderful operations through which the articles manufactured here to pass in fitting time for their respective purposes.

Perhaps no establishment in the country of similar size has turned out so much work, in the same length of time, as this. The grand total of its earnings for each year must amount to several hundred thousand dollars. Take one item, for instance—that of stills for oil works—of which over five hundred have been sold.

An extensive car factory is also connected with the works, and doing a large business. They are now engaged on a contract to furnish 150 cars for the Buffalo & Erie R. R., and their facilities are such that they are enabled to turn out, on an average, one a day.

The establishment employs from 150 to 200 workmen, several of whom are amongst the best of their class to be found in the country. The foremen of the different departments are men thoroughly acquainted with their duties, and are not only good workmen, but kind and courteous in their conduct.

The merits of the concern entitle it to a more extended notice at our hands, but we find ourselves too much restricted in room to do so at present. But we cannot close our article without complimenting Messrs. McCarter & Liddell for the enterprise and ability they have displayed in the management of their business. They have built up a trade that is really wonderful in its extent, and there are few firms in the city who have done more for its advantage, and who are now deriving of the war regard of our citizens.

DUPREY AND GARRA'S MISFEASANCE. This popular troupe is announced to appear at Farrah Hall on Tuesday evening, the 7th inst. They have been in New Orleans and Cuba nearly all winter, and have just taken a hurried run through the Canada. The Montreal Transcript of a recent date, says:

"The anecdotes and dialogue, which form the interlude between the songs, are very laughable—in fact the whole entertainment is of the most attractive and agreeable kind. Not the least prominent part in the programme is taken by two diminutive, but well-conducted, and comparatively speaking, good looking specimens of humanity, who are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last sensation, that of getting married, was certainly his greatest. They are 22 years old, yet only 22 inches high, weighing each but 22 pounds. The one talks sensibly; the other dances wily; and they take quite a prominent part in the programme. There is nothing markedly about these little men. They appear to be perfectly formed; are courteous; they are called by the euphonious paragonym of Com. Foote and Col. Small. They are said to be the smallest men living—being ahead in this respect to General Tom Thumb, whose last