He added, however, that he was on the eve of re-turning to his home, with the resolution to perform this task as soon as he should get a little strength. Such were the lead ing ideas expressed by the illustrious patriot during theinterview. On the following morning he returned to his home, where a few days afterwards, in the com-plete possession of his faculties, and with nothing wanting to his pure and beautiful fame, he sank full-orbed into the grave. "The views we have cited above constitute the dying counsel of the illustrious and lamented patriot to the Chief Magia trate of his country in this crisis of her existence. We, in all respectfulness, and in all solemnity, commend the counsel to that high officer. Death, in arresting its utterance, has but consecrated and en-nobled it."

CURTIN'S PICTURE, AS DRAWN BY A POLITICAL FRIEND. [Frem the Gettysburg Star & Banner, Rep., May $1, '61.]

"Penusylvania has long been called the Keystone State, and she has deserved the name. Any one not blinded by prejudice must have accorded this to her, in the late unhappy scenes through which our country has been called to go. The resolutions of our Representatives, pledging the sup-port and credit of the State to the Federal Government, together with the simultaneous uprising of the people to furnish an army to assert its commands, did more to re-establish confidence in the Union, and the inherent stability of our political system, than the action of any State or people. Pennsylvanis has earned anew the right to her proud title. Whilst all this is so, and more, -- whilst cities, counties, boroughs, volunteer organizations and private individuals have pleilged their credit, and contributed most liberally to furnish our brave volunteers with a complete equipment, and place them in a position, ready to vindicate alike the State and National Government, we are pained by the report of official neglect and spec-ulation. More than this, we have seen our noble comrades miserably clothed, by those paid, and scantily provisioned, by those paid, and well paid, to see to these important considerations. We held our peace, when, recently, we were cognizant of the fact that the Quartermaster of our own company was under the necessity of providing himself with a pair of scales to protect the company against the rapac The Vors on THE CEITTENDEN COMPAN-THE Vors on THE CEITTENDEN COMPAN-THE The following was the vote on the Grittenden Compromise, the passage which would have saved the Unionswithout war. THERE ARE SOME ANIMALS THAT LIVE BEST IN THE FIRE."

This is a fitting time to re-publish Daniel Webster's letter to John Taylor, the sup-erintentient of his place in New Hampshire : i

I am glad that you have chosen Mr. Pike no Whigs at all, and no better than dis- orist remember this, and put forth all his say he honors his father and mother, and sists that one of them shall be driven out of the tamily, what can you say of him but this, that there is no real family love talk politics-our talk is oxen, but remem-ber this: That any man who autompts to

There are some sai- other by the ballot box." mais that live best in the fire; and there make for peace. They enjoy only controneighbors or politicians. You have no more right to say that slarery jought not to exist in Virginia, than a Virginian has to say that slavery ought to exist in New Hampshire. This is a question left to every Siste to decide for itself, and if we mean to keep the States together, we must leave to every State this power of deciding for itself. I think I never wrote you a word before on politics, I shall never do it again. I only say love your country, and your whole country and when men attempt to persuade you to get into a quarrel with the laws of othor States, tell them "that you mean to mind your own business," and advise them to mind theirs. John Taylor, you are a free man; you possess good principles; you have a large family to rear and provide for by your labor. Be thankful to the government which does not oppress you. which does not bear you down by excess ivel taxation, but which holds out to you and yours the hope of all the blessings which liberty, industry and security may give. John Taylor, thank God morning and evening, that you were born in such a country. John Taylor, never write me another word on politics. Give my kindest rethembrances to your wife and children, and when you look from your eastern windows upon the graves of my family, remember that he who is the author of this letter must soon follow them to another world. -

- The engle for the goose !" ABOLITION DESIGNS.

The utter hopelessness of the rebel cause, neces arily renders the people of the rebel States anxions for a speedy peace; that they are eager for it is as well demonstrated, as that the robellion exists. Among other indications of a desire for the old Union, we find the following in a private letter from Lagrange, Tenn : "The policy of the administration seems to be to crush out all love for the old Union is the South, to dishearten those who have stood up for the Union here, and to discourage in them all efforts to bring about a better state of things in this region. Tennessee never went out of the Union by a fair vote of her own people, and she never has been out of the Uniop in feeling—is not out at this day, even amidst all the ruin and destruction, seen and felt on her borders. Were it au-thoritatively published to day to the peo-
