ERIE, PA., SATURDAY, SEPT 26 1863.

A BOLD FRAUD EXPOSED.
The Address of the "Union" State Central Committee.

Decidedly the most infamous partisan document that has made its appearance during the present contest between the Democracy, pledged to Liberty and Constitutional Law on the one side, and the Central Committee's receding itself "Union." With not a line in it addressed to the reason of the people, without an attempt to deny the damning charges brought against them by the advocates of white men's liberties, it is but a re-hash of the wretched falsehoods by which the so-called Republican party has long deceived the great mass of the people, and by stigmatizing concessions made in conformity to Constitutional law, for the sake of peace and Union, as concessions to "slavery," by the details of wrongs which have never existed, and of crimes which were never committed, to continue the process of "firing the Northern heart."

CASE OF ROOSEK WATSON.
Dr. B. B. Watson, of Erie, Pa., writes to the Editor of the Erie Weekly Observer, New York City, Sept. 26, 1863.

A high crime or misdemeanor. Nor did the bill suspend the writ of habeas corpus. It was proposed to be suspended by the act itself and from its date. Besides, it applied only to a very limited class of cases, and was to be in force only for a brief and perfectly definite period.

THE WRIT FOR THE SECURITY OF INNOCENCE.
The venerable which has for ages been paid to the writ of habeas corpus as the main bulwark of personal freedom, and the bulwark of the rights of the citizen for ages been the theme of all enlightened friends of liberty, naturally impresses the popular mind with the idea that it must be attended with important advantages. What is supported by so much authority ought to be founded in reason, and we conceive that the simple explanation of the object of the writ is the strongest argument for its inviolability.

CURTIN'S PLATFORM.
Three Abolitionists recently made speeches in favor of ANDREW G. CURTIN, the shoddy candidate for Governor. One was FRANCIS STRAVENS, who called the Constitution as "a God-forsaken thing."

HOW THE SOUTH REGARD THE NORTHERN DEMOCRACY.
The radicals keep up the false and senseless cry that the rebels desire the election of the conservative candidates in the North. No doubt these of the Southern people who sigh for the re-organization of the Union do ardently desire this; but there is nothing the leaders of rebellion fear so much as Democratic success in the Northern election districts.

COOPERHEADS vs. ABOLITIONISTS.
The following conversation occurred between two ladies one day not long since, upon a railway train coming down the Lake Shore road. Mrs. —, who resides at Ashtabula, had been to Cleveland, and returning, fell into conversation with the Southern people who inquired when she had been and being told exclaimed, "Ashtabula! why, there are a great many Cooperheads there, are they not?"

THE REBELS AND THE ABOLITIONISTS.
The rebels and the abolitionists, animated by a mutual hatred for the old Union, are alike hostile to the Democratic party. The rebels say, "give us men like Thaddeus Stevens and Charles Sumner. They curse the only profession of the South, and being told exclaimed, "Ashtabula! why, there are a great many Cooperheads there, are they not?"

GOVERNMENT vs. ABOLITIONISTS.

Mrs. —, who resides at Ashtabula, had been to Cleveland, and returning, fell into conversation with the Southern people who inquired when she had been and being told exclaimed, "Ashtabula! why, there are a great many Cooperheads there, are they not?"
