

GEORGE B. McLELLAN, of Pennsylvania. JAMES GUTHRIE, of Kentucky.

In order to place the Observer within the reach of all who desire to read sound Union doctrine...

Why is it that the community will continue to tolerate a paper in their midst which openly, wantonly and defiantly continues to exhibit its "sympathy with the rebellion"...

Is it not encouraging—is it not comforting to the utmost degree of comfort? Who, after that, will fall to procure a "Representative Recruit"...

In accordance with general expectation, "Father Abraham" has issued another proclamation for 500,000 men, making 1,200,000 that have been called for since October 1st, 1864...

The late rebel raid into Maryland, it is now generally conceded, was much exaggerated in respect to numbers. The most liberal estimates place the enemy's force at 20,000; the lowest at 8,000.

The fact that the rebels did not seize the President and Cabinet is confirmation positive that they "know their friends." These dignitaries have been of too much service to them for the rebels to wish to relieve them of their positions.

THE DRAFT.—The World says that on one pretext or another, the draft will be put off until Mr. Lincoln has learned his fate.

The Loyal League's Creed. We believe that Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Hamilton were old fogies, good enough for their day...

We believe that Seward is honest and temperate; that Stanton is truthful and gentlemanly; that Welles is the most enterprising man in the nation...

We believe that a black man is as good as a white one, and a great deal better if he behaves himself.

We believe that the black soldier fights better than the white one.

We believe in the freedom of the negro, and placing him on an equality with all of our blood who are poorer than he.

We believe that the nation is in a more prosperous condition now, with a debt of two thousand millions and increasing at the rate of three millions a day...

We believe that the rebels are all wicked as wicked as their enemies represent them.

We believe in prosecuting the war till the old flag waves triumphant over every fold of Southern soil, and every slave has broken his chains...

We believe in the father, Abraham, in Pope and Halleck and Hooker; in the holy Abolition church; in its proclamations and messages; and in everything to thee and thine appertaining, whatsoever it may be.

The New York World is permitted to copy an extract from a letter written by a young officer in General Sherman's army, which contains the following doleful paragraph: "In all the long, weary and bloody advance from Chattanooga we have not found in any man, woman or child as much love for the Union as you could hold on the point of a sword..."

are now rent with direct enmity; the halls that resounded with the clang of arms and the sound of warlike boastings are desolate; the weapons that pointed to "deeds of glory" in the blood of the foe are hung up to rot; the lofty aspirations of martial fame are crushed to the earth...

THE MILITARY SITUATION. GRANT'S OPERATIONS. The expedition into Maryland, it appears, had an important effect on the state of affairs at Petersburg...

Wonderful Effects of Obtaining a "Representative Recruit." The "Ellixir of Life" has been discovered at last—the all-healing fount that restores the aged to youth again, the sick to sound health...

It should be deemed a rare honor to have a representative in the army who is exempt from the army. None are too old that they may not fight in this way for the life of the Government...

The rebel army lately operating in Maryland is now, it is understood, employing the Manassas railroad to assist in conveying the plunder gathered by them into the Shenandoah Valley...

We are beginning to receive Southern accounts of the Confederate expedition into Maryland. They bring its history down to the battle of the Monocacy, though no details of that action are given...

The news from Gen. Sherman's army is encouraging in the extreme, though derived from rebel sources. Dispatches from Atlanta to the Richmond papers, dated the 13th inst., state that a portion of Gen. Sherman's army is on the south bank of the Chattahoochee...

SHERMAN'S ARMY. The news from Gen. Sherman's army is encouraging in the extreme, though derived from rebel sources. Dispatches from Atlanta to the Richmond papers, dated the 13th inst., state that a portion of Gen. Sherman's army is on the south bank of the Chattahoochee...

THE INTELLIGENCE from the scene of trouble in the Northwest is that the rebel flag waves over the country in Platte county, the Pawnee reservation at that place having surrendered and joined the rebels; and further, that the inhabitants of the town appear to be well satisfied with the result...

THE INTELLIGENCE from the scene of trouble in the Northwest is that the rebel flag waves over the country in Platte county, the Pawnee reservation at that place having surrendered and joined the rebels; and further, that the inhabitants of the town appear to be well satisfied with the result.

Gen. Lee, states that the rebels attacked Gen. J. Smith in his works at Tupelo, Mississippi, on the 14th, but were repulsed. Lee claims that the battle was "a drawn one," and states that it lasted three hours.

The expedition under General Dennis, in Mississippi, has succeeded in defeating the rebels at Jackson and Clinton. Railroad communication is being opened between Jackson and Vicksburg.

An expedition against the Confederates at the mouth of White river, in Arkansas, has been successful. They have been driven some distance up the river, and lost one cannon and two hundred prisoners.

On Saturday morning last a large rebel force, said to be under the command of Gen. Forrest, captured the Federal stockade at Brownboro, on the Memphis and Charleston railroad, the garrison of one hundred men escaping.

The guerrillas are so thick in all parts of Kentucky that a detachment of citizens has been sent to Washington to procure an additional Federal force. Excepting along the Louisville and Nashville railroads, there is scarcely a Federal soldier in Kentucky.

Gen. Price, it is reported, has taken advantage of the absence of Federal troops from the country west of the Mississippi, and has begun an invasion of the State of Missouri. He leads twenty thousand men, and has no large Federal force to oppose him.

Officers high in military position express themselves satisfied that a large portion of Johnston's army has gone to reinforce Lee in Virginia, and that Atlanta will fall into our hands without a struggle.

The rebel army lately operating in Maryland is now, it is understood, employing the Manassas railroad to assist in conveying the plunder gathered by them into the Shenandoah Valley.

THE INTELLIGENCE from the scene of trouble in the Northwest is that the rebel flag waves over the country in Platte county, the Pawnee reservation at that place having surrendered and joined the rebels; and further, that the inhabitants of the town appear to be well satisfied with the result.

THE INTELLIGENCE from the scene of trouble in the Northwest is that the rebel flag waves over the country in Platte county, the Pawnee reservation at that place having surrendered and joined the rebels; and further, that the inhabitants of the town appear to be well satisfied with the result.

Gen. Lee, states that the rebels attacked Gen. J. Smith in his works at Tupelo, Mississippi, on the 14th, but were repulsed. Lee claims that the battle was "a drawn one," and states that it lasted three hours.

The expedition under General Dennis, in Mississippi, has succeeded in defeating the rebels at Jackson and Clinton. Railroad communication is being opened between Jackson and Vicksburg.

An expedition against the Confederates at the mouth of White river, in Arkansas, has been successful. They have been driven some distance up the river, and lost one cannon and two hundred prisoners.

On Saturday morning last a large rebel force, said to be under the command of Gen. Forrest, captured the Federal stockade at Brownboro, on the Memphis and Charleston railroad, the garrison of one hundred men escaping.

The guerrillas are so thick in all parts of Kentucky that a detachment of citizens has been sent to Washington to procure an additional Federal force. Excepting along the Louisville and Nashville railroads, there is scarcely a Federal soldier in Kentucky.

Gen. Price, it is reported, has taken advantage of the absence of Federal troops from the country west of the Mississippi, and has begun an invasion of the State of Missouri. He leads twenty thousand men, and has no large Federal force to oppose him.

Officers high in military position express themselves satisfied that a large portion of Johnston's army has gone to reinforce Lee in Virginia, and that Atlanta will fall into our hands without a struggle.

The rebel army lately operating in Maryland is now, it is understood, employing the Manassas railroad to assist in conveying the plunder gathered by them into the Shenandoah Valley.

THE INTELLIGENCE from the scene of trouble in the Northwest is that the rebel flag waves over the country in Platte county, the Pawnee reservation at that place having surrendered and joined the rebels; and further, that the inhabitants of the town appear to be well satisfied with the result.

THE INTELLIGENCE from the scene of trouble in the Northwest is that the rebel flag waves over the country in Platte county, the Pawnee reservation at that place having surrendered and joined the rebels; and further, that the inhabitants of the town appear to be well satisfied with the result.

Gen. Lee, states that the rebels attacked Gen. J. Smith in his works at Tupelo, Mississippi, on the 14th, but were repulsed. Lee claims that the battle was "a drawn one," and states that it lasted three hours.

The expedition under General Dennis, in Mississippi, has succeeded in defeating the rebels at Jackson and Clinton. Railroad communication is being opened between Jackson and Vicksburg.

An expedition against the Confederates at the mouth of White river, in Arkansas, has been successful. They have been driven some distance up the river, and lost one cannon and two hundred prisoners.

On Saturday morning last a large rebel force, said to be under the command of Gen. Forrest, captured the Federal stockade at Brownboro, on the Memphis and Charleston railroad, the garrison of one hundred men escaping.

The guerrillas are so thick in all parts of Kentucky that a detachment of citizens has been sent to Washington to procure an additional Federal force. Excepting along the Louisville and Nashville railroads, there is scarcely a Federal soldier in Kentucky.

Gen. Price, it is reported, has taken advantage of the absence of Federal troops from the country west of the Mississippi, and has begun an invasion of the State of Missouri. He leads twenty thousand men, and has no large Federal force to oppose him.

Officers high in military position express themselves satisfied that a large portion of Johnston's army has gone to reinforce Lee in Virginia, and that Atlanta will fall into our hands without a struggle.

The rebel army lately operating in Maryland is now, it is understood, employing the Manassas railroad to assist in conveying the plunder gathered by them into the Shenandoah Valley.

THE INTELLIGENCE from the scene of trouble in the Northwest is that the rebel flag waves over the country in Platte county, the Pawnee reservation at that place having surrendered and joined the rebels; and further, that the inhabitants of the town appear to be well satisfied with the result.

THE INTELLIGENCE from the scene of trouble in the Northwest is that the rebel flag waves over the country in Platte county, the Pawnee reservation at that place having surrendered and joined the rebels; and further, that the inhabitants of the town appear to be well satisfied with the result.

DRUGS AT WHOLESALE & RETAIL. SAMUEL CARTER. Carter & Carver.

ESPECIAL ATTENTION. WHOLESALE TRADE. THE RETAIL DEPARTMENT.

CHEMICALS. Which is the largest and finest ever brought into this city.

Sheriff's Sale. BY VIRTUE OF A WRIT OF FIDELITY...

Philadelphia & Erie R.R. THE GREAT THROUGH ROUTE...

Executory Notice. L. GARDNER, of the County of Erie...

Notice to School Teachers. WRITTEN Application for the position of teacher...

QUESTIONS, QUESTIONS, QUESTIONS. That Concern Every One to Answer!

CLARK'S DISTILLED RESTORATIVE, FOR THE HAIR. TO BE UNEQUALLED AND SUPERIOR TO EVERY COMPOUND...

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE. L. GARDNER, of the County of Erie...