President Johnson's Policy,

The faction who cry so loud for yen geance, and who have more than once hinted that Providence removed Mr. Lin. coln because he was inclined to be teo moderate with the South, are beginning to think they may have been mistaken in Mr. Johnson's character and intended policy, or, to put it in the homely phrase, -" caught a Tartar." All the indications thus far that can lead us to judge of his probable course, show that he has no sympathy with the furious brood of agitators, who would keep the country in perpetual civil difficulty, by their severe measures of punishment. We should not be surprised to find before six months roll around that some persons who are now most zealous to pledge Mr. Johnson their unflinching support, and who have been steady advocates of the pernicious doctrine that opposition to an Administration is treason to the Government, are among his bitterest denouncers. Of a host of documents now in our possession, all tending to prove that Presiduce its expenses to a 'safe standard, are dent Johnson is disposed to follow Mr. Lincoln in the conciliatory measures pursued by him in the latter days of his administration, none is more significant than await with patience the further developthe recent order of Gen. Halleck, commanding the Department of the South. We give it below, and ask for it a careful and, as in the case of Mr. Lincoln, to reading by men of all parties :

Headquarters Mil. Div. of the James, } Richmond, Va., May 3, 1865. } Maj.-Gen. Ord, Commanding Department of Virginia : General: All persons, without regard to their rack or employment in the civil or military service of the late rebel Government, will be permitted to take the Amnesty oath, and will receive the corresponding certificate. Those excluded from the benefit of such oath can make application for pardon and restoration to civil rights, which applications will be received and forwarded to the proper channels for the action of the President of the United States. The fact that such persons have voluntarily come forward and taken the oath of allegiance will be evidence of their intention to resume the status of loyal citizens, and constitute claim for Executive clemency.

David Hume said that, although, by fairing its energies to the atmost, the country might possibly live thro' it, the experiment must z ever be repeated .even a small increase might be fatal. Granville said the nation must sink under it unless some, pertion of the load was borne by the American Colonies, and the attempt to impose this load produced the war of the revoution, and, instead of diminishing, added another hundred millions to the burden. Again, says Macaulay, was England given over, but again she was more prosperous than ever before. But Gen. Halleck's order is not the only foundation on which we base our judgment. The correspondents nearly unanimously agree that the President's opinions are not by any means what at first it was supposed they would be. From a large collection of extracts, all of the same purport, we extract the following :

[Wash. Gor. Philadelphia Ledger, Rep.] There are certain indications which go to show that President Johnson, like the lamented Lincoln, in his later days, is giving the extreme radicals a wide berth. and I hazard nothing in saying that the proclamation opening the South to trade will be soon followed by evidences still more conclusive of the desire of the President to heal the breach as quickly and pleasantly as possible, and unite the tr sections again in one 'harmonious p' .... Whether they will avail themselves of the offer remains to be seen, but they must be rebellious, indeed, if they allow so handsome a privilege to remain a dead letter with them. I under-stand, upon authority which I cannot doubt, that terms equally generous to those offered to and accepted by Lee and Johnston, will be shortly offered to the whole Southern people-a lew of their leaders in the reballion alone excepted. In other words, there will be a general amnesty tendered, and a disposition evinced to make the situation for our wayward sister ... as pleasant as portition The radical element have gaper is i ing

We suggest to our Senator that before he coupled the names of Mr. Lincoln and John Brown together it would have been well for him to have read an some of his old political documents. It is quite sure that exalted as may be Mr. Lowry's opinion of Brown, the late President did not coincide with him.
