THE CAUSE AND THE REMEDY.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19; 1865.

Erie Obserber.

THE Gazette of Wednesday contains a sworn statement from S. A. Davenport. Esq., to the effect that he is sole owner of that establishment, that in purchasing it he acted as the agent of no man or set of men, and that he intends now and always has intended, that it shall remain an or gan of opposition to the Democratic party. The publisher of the Dispatch has also editorially disclaimed the connection of any outside party with his office, and asserts that no person but himself exercises any control over its columns-a statement which very few who are acquainted with his disposition will be likely to dispute. The amertion of Mr. E. L. Clark, in his now famous "extra." that Mr. Galbraith was the owner and controller of all the printing offices in Erie, is thus proved a falsehood so far as the Gazette and Dispatch are concerned.

It may seem hardly worth our while but since some parties who do not know Mr. Clark's nature as well as we do, may be induced to believe his statements, we desire to say explicitly, that Mr. Galbraith does not own even so much as a type in this office, nor in any manner, either direct or indirect, has he any interest, aside from that general one, which all our party friends should entertain, in its financial condition. Neither does he now, nor has he at any time, exercised any "control" or attempted to exercise any over its edi torial course. That we regard him with exceedingly warm sentiments of friendship is very true, and that his opinions like those of other leading Democrats in the city, are held by us in great esteem. we do not dony, but he has too much self respect, and knows our independence of spirit too well, to undertake to dictate what we shall print or what not.

So much for the verscity of this reck less and contemptible little mischief-maker, E. L. Clark. The three fold testimo ny of each of the newspaper proprietors of the city convicts him of being a barefaced falsifier, and hereafter he will be known to the public in his true character. We make no pretensions to speak for Mr. Galbraith, but deem it due to him te state that all the foolish stories about his ambition to become Governor, are simple treaks of the imagination. He does not desire that office or any other. When besought by his friends to permit them to use his name in connection with the Gubernatorial nomination, he has invariably declined the proposed honor. If he had been ambitious in that way, does any one of good sense suppose he would have declined the endorsement of our hate county convention, which was unanimously tendered him, and promptly refused? This bandying about of the name of an enterprising citizen, who seeks no political favors, and is so unfortunate as to be attached to the party which could give him none if he did, seems to us about the most silly and shameful thing that we have seen in our newspaper ex-

It must be apparent to every intelligent mind, says the Lancaster Intelligencer, that the principal cause of our defeat in the State was a want of thorough organization in the Democratic party. 'This was the case in this city and county, and judging from the vote polled in the strong Democratic counties, it was the same berland, Schuylkill, Westmoreland, Ly coming, etc. In almost every county and election district in the Commonwealth, whilst the Republican vote was not increased, indeed did not come near up to what it was last year, there was a greater falling off in the Democratic vote, showing conclusively an almost total, lack of organization. This defeat, if it should have the effect of a thorough organization of the Democratic party for future operations, may result in good. We now know the full strength of our opponents, and will not have to act in the dark hereafter. Let a complete and thorough organization be the watchword, and let that be accomplished without delay. It will not do to wait until the eve of another election to do that which should be done from one year's end to another. The party should be kept organized all the time, so that upon any and every occasion a full vote can be poiled. If that is done now and kept | ted States Senate. done, the Democracy of Pennsylvania have met with their last defeat. If it be not done, we cannot expect, nor do we deserve, success. Will our friends in this city and county reflect seriously on these suggestions and act accordingly ?

INSTIGATING NEGRO INSURRECTION. A speech of John Brown, son of "Old Ossowattomie," delivered in Ohio a few days ago to a company of negroes, is reported by the Ottawa News as follows : My colored friends, you have now the right to a box; and that is the cartridge box ; but there are two other boxes which you ought to blaim, one of which is the ballot box and the other the jury box .--If the white people fail to give you these, and if you cannot get them in a peaceable way, I advise you to arm yourselves and demand your full rights from the government. That is just what the Badical leaders are siming to bring about, but have not the courage, at present, to boldly avow .---The Sumners, Wades and Stevens's of the Radical party, not satisfied with the blood and treasure that has already been spilt in the fratricidal war, are straining every nerve to defeat the policy of President Johnson in the next Congress, which would bring on a war of races that would be horrible to contemplate. Humanity requires that these wicked men should be defeated in their cruel schemes.

THE Westliche Post, the Radical German organ of St. Louis, is authorized to say that President Johnson did not say to Governor Fletcher, of Missouri, in a recent conversation, as has been alleged. "This is a white man's country-and by God, while I am President, it shall be a white man's government." The report is incorrect, and it was not Governor Fletch. year, and of 80,000 from their majority er who authorized the papers to publish

THE BLECTIONS. The election returns are not as favorable as we anticipated last week, and display a lack of organization and negligence of duty on the part of Democrate which is absolutely inexcamble. On the lightest vote cast in the State for many years, we are defeated by a majority far exceeding. that usually obtained by the Republieverywhere. Look for instance at Berks. | cans in the most exciting campaigns. No Northampton, Montgomery, York, Cam - one of honesty will presume to say that the Democratic strength has fallen off to this extent, and the dissetrous result is solely to be attributed to the failure on the part of our leaders to use proper efforts to get out the full party vote. While there was a singular carelemness on both sides in regard to the issues involved, the Republicans, either through their secret Leagues or by some other mysterious means, have succeeded in marching a larger proportion of their voters to the polls, and the victory thus obtained, though notoriously an untair criterion of the actual strength of parties in Pennsylvanis, will be used by them to the best advantage. Returns, official and unofficial, give Republican majority in the State of not less than twenty or twenty-five thousand. That party make an increase in the number of their State Senators and Representatives, and will have two-thirds of the members of the Legislature, thus insuring the return of Simon Cameron to the Uni

In Ohio the Republican candidate for Governor has about 28,000 majority, while the rest of the ticket exceed him by several thousand. The Legislature will be largely Republican.

The majority in Iowa for Stone, Repub lican, who was an outspoken negro suffrage advocate, and opposed by Col. Benton, an independent Republican, will be in the neighborhood of 15,000.

We are not surprised at the result in either Ohio or Iows, but that in our own State is mortifying in the extreme. The Democracy had it in their power, if not to elect their ticket, at least to reduce the Republican majority in Pennsylvania to a merely nominal number, and have lessness and want of organization. We end in giving up those States also to the "Goths and Vandals."

Ozio. - According to the Cleveland Plaindealer, the Republican victory is not so much of a victory after all. It is one of that class, of which the opposition may exclaim, "one more such and I am undone !" That paper, alluding to the Republican rejoicing over the result, says they have triumphed over the Democracy by a majority of from 20,000 to 28,-000 ! Call it 30,000, and what of it? That simply is a mortifying admission on their part that the Democratic gain in two years amounts to the snug little number of Eighty Thousand | and in one year to just about. half of that-namely, 40,000. Hence the radicals boast of the loss of 40,000 votes from Lincoln's majority last two years ago ! At this rate, if the Demo-

to draw fine audiences nightly. Some of the most popular pieces of the day have been presented in an excellent manner. We repeat our opinion of last week that the present company is the best which has visited Erie for a long period. Mr. Evans and Mr. Ryan, especially, have few superiors in their parts.

JEFFERSON PAVIS TO BE TRIED.

The telegraph, furnishes us a report of the interview which took place between the President and a delegation of South Carolinians, consisting of Judge Wardlaw, Alf.ed Huger, and Col. Dawson, on Friday afternoon. These gentlemen presented memorials from the State Convention of South Carolina asking for the pardon of A. Wenholm and Governor Magrath. Mr. Stephens and Mr. Wenholm had been relessed before their arrival, and the delegation seemed particularly anxious to obtsin the freedom of Governor Magrath, on the ground that he would be influential in securing harmony between the State and the Federal Government. In the course of the President's response he said :----

"If treason has been committed, there ought to be some test to determine the crime. He was free to say that it was not a mere contest between political parties, or a que tion as to the fact of Governments. Looking at the government as we do-the laws violated, and an attempt made at the life of a nation-there should be vindication of the Government and the Constitution. even if the pardoning powers were exercised thereafter. If treason has been committed, it ought to be determin ed by the highest tribunal, and the fact declared, even if clemency should come afterwards. There was no malice or pre-judice in carying out that duty."

We infer from this that the President has determined that Jefferson Davis shall be tried by the "Supreme Court for the crime of treason, and that, if he is found guilty, the Executive clemency will be exercised. The President assured the delegation that no disposition exists for persecution, or thirst for blood, and he said : further: "If I could be instrumental in restoring the government to its former relations, and see the people once more united and happy, I should feel that I had more than filled the measure of my ambition. If I could feel that I had contributed to this in any degree, my heart would be more than gratified, and my ambition full." The President is moving steadily and presistibly forward to the consummation of his Bestoration policy, in spite of Ridical depunciation. He will succeed not only in having the South represented in Congress, but in developing and organ izing the Union sentiment in the South so will act in harmony with the true Union party of the North.

We made the prediction just before the election, that, regardless of their denials during the campaign, that their party favored negro suffrage, a Bepublican victory would be claimed by their organs as an endorsement of that doctrine. The smoke of the battle has hardly blown away until we receive a verification of our power of the Government to punish the assertion. The Pittsburg Gazette accepts the verdict of the people in this snirit : "The Democrats made this a special issue in the late election throughout the State, and have be'n beaten. They in-sisted upon it that it was the imene, and the only issue. We accept the result as decisive upon that point, and the Democrate being judges, may fairly elaim that Pennsylvania has decided against the admission of Southern States unless manhood suffrage is first conceded and secured."

Her condition was discovered on shore, and, last election : although a very dangerous sea was running, the tug Home, commanded by Capt. Mark Morrison, went out to her relief, and succeeded in saving the vessel. Some ides of the danger incurred may be judged from the fact that all the windows of the tug were stove in by the waves, and the water ran into her hold to a fearful extent, being within two feet of the fires when she reached the dock. The heroism displayed by Capt. Morrison is the subject of much commendation by those interested in the Lake business.
