To the last, the General, as usual, received many visitors; sometimes more than thirty in a day. All were admitted, from the humblest to the most renowned, to take the aged dying warrior by the hand, and bid him farewell. Among the the visitors during the closing week was Gen. Jessup, an old friend and companion in arms; and the meeting of these most faithful and gallant soldiers and servants of the Republic was deeply interesting and by a chatting under their window, and on affecting. Perhaps the shortest sermon on record was preached by the late Irish Denn Rir-wan. He was pressed, while suffering from a severe cold, to preach a charity sermon in St. Peter's church, Dublin, for the benefit of the orphan children of the parish school. The church was crowded to suffocation, and the good Dean, on mounting the pulpit and announcing his text, pointed with his hand to the children in the aisle, and simply said-" There they are." The collection on this occasion exceeded all belief. Sixteen years ago this July, Lieutenant

Once in a church, a young man who carried the collection plate, before starting to collect, put his hand in his pocket as usual, and placed a shilling, as he supposed, on the plate, and then passed it posed, on the plate, and then passed it around among the congregation, which numbered many young and pretty girls. The girls, as they looked at the plate, all seemed astonished and amused; and the young man, taking a glance at the plate, found that, instead of a shilling, he had put a conversational lozenge on the plate, with the words "Will you marry me?" in red letters, staring everybody in the face. with the offer.

MARRIAGE NOTICES .- A Western paper gives the following notice : All notices of marriage, if no bridal cake is sent, will beset up in small type and poked in some outlandish corner of the paper. Where a handsome piece of cake is sent, it will be put conspicuously in large letters ; when gloves and other bridal favors are added, a piece of illustrative poetry will be given in addition. The Tribune reports 19,000 blacks in the District of Columbia, and great personal distress. Here is a picture of the suffer-ings of these people: "The most frightful mortality exists, as many as 80 coffins per week being furnished by the Quarter-master's Department, most of which are for children. It is the opinion of physi-cians practicing among them, and of other observer., that three-fourths of these children die from negleot and want. In the family of a soldier, who lost his life in battle, five out of the ten oblidren have died since March, 1865, from the above causes. In another, three out of seven children of a soldier drafted in December last, have starved to death within the last three weeks.
