GETTING SUPPORT UNDER VALUE PRE-

The Republican party may or it may not as some of its advocates claim, embody all the decency, morality and Christianity in the nation; but there is one virtue, which it must be freely acknowledged that Democrats possess in a preeminent degree, vis: a patient forbearance amounting to almost cowardice. Year after year they contribute of their means and time to the advancement and support of the popular enterprises of the day, and are as often betrayed, their money diverted fromeits original purpose and their time worse than wasted. On each separate occasion fair promises have been made, professions of purity of purpose, and appeals to cast aside political feeling have been resorted to; and just as soon as the object had been accomplished, and sufficient numbers of the unsuspecting had been "roped in," the "cloven foot" began to display itself. Still the patient Democrat submits, and only waits for anther opportunity to re-enact his part as the confiding victim.

It is a common thing to hear Republicans boast that they are a majority of the people of the Union. The statement is false. The Republican is a minority organization, always has been and always will be. In the North it dominates by a few thousand merely, while the South is a unit against it. Of the whole people of the United States, five-eighths at least despise its principles, scout its pretensions and mistrust its leaders. The fact is lost eight of by many that instead of being any longer a government of the majority, our institutions are at present moulded, and our laws enforced by a usurping mipority. Turns are many rumors here and in Canada in reference to the suspicious and threatening movement of American troops toward the Canadian frontier. One rumor is that this trouble arises from the Penian movement; another, that there is some little trouble about the return of the English deserters from Maine. We have a despatch from Washington, however, which gives the consoling assurance that these rumors are like rumors generally-merely bublies, with nothing in them.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S POSITION. As there are still a few stupid people who, even at this late day, and with the light of the most profound explanations to guide them, claim to be unable to understand the position of President Johnson, we have endeavored to glean from his expressions and acts a few indications of his policy, which will make the entire subject perfectly clear to the dullest comprehension. The people of the South must be permitted to select their own officers. If any officers are chosen who do not suit the Government, they will not be al
