

SEMI-ANNUAL COLLECTIONS OF THE ACCOUNTS... This Office will be made on or before the 1st day of July...

CONTRACTORS containing information of an interesting local or general nature are solicited. We intend a copy of the paper...

NEW YORK VS. PENNSYLVANIA. The following paragraph appeared in the New York Sun of a recent date:

When in 1863 the rebel army invaded Cumberland and York counties the Pennsylvanians contented themselves with firing their capital, feeling that they were about Philadelphia, and involving New York to send its State volunteers down to Gettysburg to drive Lee's army out of the State...

The above ray of sunshine, the Harrisburg Patriot thinks, is about the coolest that we have had in this region lately. Pennsylvania certainly did not play the miser when she gave to the Federal Government her four hundred thousand fighting men...

As regards "improving New York to send her State volunteers," it is a pity that such is true, and still more so that New York responded. Not only are we compelled to have the fact thrown continually in our teeth...

THE AEGIS OF FRAUD. Certain periods of fraud are known as the "golden age," "the age of grace," &c. Future historians will find no difficulty in proving that the present is the Age of Fraud. Every newspaper, nearly nine-tenths of all of which are upon the Government...

This Chicago Tribune, the recognized Republican organ of the north-west, shows clearly that the antagonism between the President and Congress is such that adjustment is possible...

NEW ENGLAND PROFITS.—The Boston Journal says that the dividends for the past six months already announced by manufacturing, railroad and other corporations in New England...

Mrs. E. Cady Stanton, Lucy Stone and Susan B. Anthony, all of them ardent advocates of woman's rights, have addressed a petition to Congress, asking an amendment of the Constitution of the United States...

TICKLE ME FOR OFFICE-HOLDERS.—These are tickle times for office-holders. They await the news from Washington with intense anxiety, and are as non-committal as possible upon the "questions at issue."

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, JUST BEFORE. That the Republican party will soon be split in two is as certain as anything can be. Even if it could hang together on the question that now threatens it with speedy disruption...

THE COMMERCIAL INTERESTS OF NEW YORK would be promoted by a reduction of the duties on imported goods. The same is true of the agricultural interests of the West. Branches of the Free Trade League of New York may therefore be expected to be organized in the West...

THE STATE LEGISLATURE organized at Harrisburg on Tuesday, and selected its officers for the session. In the Senate, David Fleming, of Dauphin, was elected Speaker; G. W. Hamersley, of Philadelphia, Chief Clerk; and Lucius Rogers, of McKean, Assistant Clerk.

MR. STEVENS' POSITION.—Throughout the whole of the late war, when the rebels had entire possession of from seven to ten States, the Government and the people of the United States maintained that those States were still in the Union...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE WIDOW OF EX-GOVERNOR ALLISON, of South Carolina, sister of Gen. J. L. Allison, has opened a school for young ladies in Meeting street, Charleston.

MR. STEVENS' POSITION.—Throughout the whole of the late war, when the rebels had entire possession of from seven to ten States, the Government and the people of the United States maintained that those States were still in the Union...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE WIDOW OF EX-GOVERNOR ALLISON, of South Carolina, sister of Gen. J. L. Allison, has opened a school for young ladies in Meeting street, Charleston.

MR. STEVENS' POSITION.—Throughout the whole of the late war, when the rebels had entire possession of from seven to ten States, the Government and the people of the United States maintained that those States were still in the Union...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE WIDOW OF EX-GOVERNOR ALLISON, of South Carolina, sister of Gen. J. L. Allison, has opened a school for young ladies in Meeting street, Charleston.

MR. STEVENS' POSITION.—Throughout the whole of the late war, when the rebels had entire possession of from seven to ten States, the Government and the people of the United States maintained that those States were still in the Union...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE WIDOW OF EX-GOVERNOR ALLISON, of South Carolina, sister of Gen. J. L. Allison, has opened a school for young ladies in Meeting street, Charleston.

MR. STEVENS' POSITION.—Throughout the whole of the late war, when the rebels had entire possession of from seven to ten States, the Government and the people of the United States maintained that those States were still in the Union...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE WIDOW OF EX-GOVERNOR ALLISON, of South Carolina, sister of Gen. J. L. Allison, has opened a school for young ladies in Meeting street, Charleston.

MR. STEVENS' POSITION.—Throughout the whole of the late war, when the rebels had entire possession of from seven to ten States, the Government and the people of the United States maintained that those States were still in the Union...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption:

THE MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL replies to the remark "that Northern labor and capital were not safe away from the military posts in the Southern States," and that "no one could go there and settle away from the military stations except at the risk of his life;" that a comparison of the records will show that life is as safe in any portion of the South as in the city of Boston.

A SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.—The radicals for information as to certain revenue appointments who could not take the oath of office. The Secretary answers that he sought for persons for such offices who could take the oath literally, but failing to find them...

THE BRIDGEPORT FARMER, one of our staunch Democratic exchanges, that studiously refuses to give up its belief in the doctrines of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, now publishes its daily telegraphic reports of the proceedings in Congress with this appropriate caption: