EDITORIAL CONVENTION. - The Editorial Convention, which convened at Brown's the most delightful gatherings it has ever been our pleasure to attend. About some sixteen or eighteen representatives of the Press were present, and the proceedings were conducted in a spirit of frankness and sociability that will render the occasion memorable to all who participated. A supper was given in the erening to the members of the Convention, which was attended by a number of our prominent citizens, and everything passed off in a highly gratifying manner. We have no time to give a fuller report of the proceedings, but we assure those of the fraternity who were not present that they missed one of the finest bis section.

A SCRIOUS OCCURRENCE .- On Friday night, dering the heavy thunder storm, the central pertion of the new Reed House building, fraving on French street, and including a space about twenty feet in width by five stories in height, fell down with a terrible crash. carrying with it all the adjoining wood work in the interior. The occurrence is attributed b) some to a defective foundation, by others to poor brick, and by many more to faulty architecture. The wall did-not fall either out or'in, as would be supposed, but simply equatted down, leaving the brick and rubbish is the cellar of the building. It was evident it all that an occurrence something like this was probable, and many predictions to that effect have been made by persons versed in building The entire structure appears to be reakly built, and the walls on the Park side are cracked in a number of places. It is very greatly to be regretted that a building as costconstructed in a more substantial manner.-Unless some measures are taken to secure the walls, the credit of the edifice must be seriously impaired for many years, and instead of being, as was anticipated, a glory and benefit to the place, it will become an object of fear and ridicule.

Blind Ton, the Musical Prodicy .- This telebrated character, who has been attracting great attention in the eastern cities, is advertised to give two concerts in Farrar Hall, commencing on Monday evening next. From the comments of our exchanges, we judge that Blind Tom is an object of peculiar nterest. He is a negro boy, who was born ightless, and whose age was only sixteen last Monday. To everything "but music, imitations in greater or less degree associated with it, and a parrot-like repetition of words and entences, he is essentially idiotic. His brain alarge, but his forehead does not come up to he ordinary negro standard of height or sidth. His emotional character is strong, ad its manifestations at all times when list. ming to others on the plane are almost vioent, and always ludicrous in the extreme .-His sense of hearing is very acute, and when tellstens he listens intensely; although when pparently indifferent he seems to remember securetly." From early childhood his musical ta'ents have been remarkable, and he is the pasz'e of all who see him. He plays the and difficult compositions upon the Piano Tib ease, and repeats any production played Alia presence, after hearing it but one time. thas been giving concerts during the week a Buffalo, and the papers there describe them umong the most largely attended and intereng ever held in the city.

... Obituary, Died, on the 5th alt., on board the U.S. steam sloop of war "Saginaw," at Acapulo, Mexico, and while in command of that ship, Lieut Com'g Robt. W. Scott, U. S. H., broth er of Wm. L. Scott, of this city.

In the death of this gallant young officer; the service has lost one of its choicest spirits; the country a serviceable citizen; society ap affable, talented and christian gentleman. But the loss falls heaviest upon those of closer and more endearing ties; as aged and widowed mother, an only brother and sister. in whom his kind and unselfish nature had Disnied affection's sanctum; their loss is irre. parable.

Lieut. Comd'g Scott entered the service as midshipman on the 9th Sept', 1841, and graduated No. 8 in his class, numbering 55, at the naval academy. Although but a youth comparatively, from his high standing, he was retained several years as an instructor in the institution, thus becoming preceptor to many now of his own grade.

When the rebellion broke out, although Southerner by birth and education, he maintained his allegiance to his Government, faithfully and gallantly discharging his duty in many dangerous and responsible positions throughout the war. After peace was restored. he was ordered to the Pacific to command the Saginaw, and while at the port of Acapulco, where the ship was stationed to protect our citizens and the interests of the Government, was attacked with the fever incident to that climate, and fell a victim after three weeks' illness.

hereafter be known as that of Gensheimer & Mr. Scofield Endorses Negro Suffrage. Mr. Scofield, (Pa ,) expressed his views against the colonization of the black race, and in the course of his remarks said that the Republican party would adhere to its principles. The more we degrade the negroes the more we degrade ourselves; and the mere we elevate ourselves the more we elevate the Hotel, on Wednesday afternoon, was one of Degroes The cheapest and best elevation is to inspire them with self respect. Give the colored people free suffrage, and you awaken the animation of the whole race throughout the United States. The pending bill should be passed to inaugurate this principle, and there was no better place than the District of Columbia to begin the work. The above, which we clip from the New York Tribune's report of Congressional proceedings, will surprise many, though not those who are well acquainted with the peculiar characteristics of our member of Congress. He has been playing a double game for the last year-pretending to be a conservative when among conservatives, and a radical when among radicals-and we are gratified to affirs that has taken place for many years in know that he has finally concluded to present himself in his true colors. Our member is one of the class of men who always take the strong side, and we may conclude that the advocates of negro voting are in a majority among the Republican leaders in this district. As Mr. Scofield is a candidate for renomination, and will in all probability be again the candidate of his party, we hope his senti ments as uttered above will be kept before the people. The majority in our district may have been blinded to sustain the Republican policy in the past, but we do not think they are quite prepared to endorse negro equality.

> LECTURE COURSE. - But three more lectures remain to complete the course provided by the Y. M. C. Association. On the 25th inst. Rev. Taylor, Esq., an ever welcome lecturer, who will discourse upon "Thought and Her Chariota." on the 30th inst. The course wil close on the 5th of February by the appearance of Miss Anna E. Dickinson in her favor. ite character of the Public Scold. Her anhiect-"Home Thrusts,"-will afford ample opportunity for the display of the qualities in which by common consent she is acknowledged to surpass any woman of the present day.

The general health throughout the country seems to be good. Business active. All wishing oil to be found, some expecting it. Serrows of the " Phat Contributor." For the benefit of a numerous class of am bitions men who aspire to become popular ecturers, I send you a few iten s of my expe riesce. I went to Southern Illinois to get started as a lecturer. I told my hotel keeper that it was my first effort in the lecture line that I did not care for money if I could only get started. I was unfortunate on that occa sion either in my subject or my audience.
My subject was, "The urgent necessity for the immediate revival and thorough reorganization of the Know Nothing party."

I inquired the cause of the interruption. "Sir," he said, "the audience is disap-pointed in the sise of the lecturer." " Well, my dear sir." said I. "the lectures is disappointed in the size of the audience, and if you will not say anything about size,

I won't."

He allowed me to proceed, and at the conclusion was so well pleased that he urged me to stay another night, when he promised me a much larger audience. He could not come himself, but would send his wife, who weighed two hundred and sixty five pounds.' I didn't

I have had a good deal of money in my nouses at one time and another-generally in the pockets of some wealthy men in the audience. I sleays come home with money however: I borrow some to come home with I have had some large houses The larges house I had was at Louisville, Ky. That house must have been two hundred feet long, Dingty feet wide, while in height it came pretty high took all the receipts to pay rent. A Louisville editor said a good thing about me. He to buy meat, where's your grace?

He said, in conclusion, that I would improve with practice, if I had capital enough to continue the practice. And this in the face of the acknowledged fact that I had a capital lesture.

The fullest house I have had was at Pithole City, in the oil regions. Every man who came was full of beer. The lecture went off

I gave two consecutive lectures at Oil City. At the conclusion of the second lecture, one not yet arrived,) arose and assured me that I delighted them greatly. He said they hadn't enjoyed themselves so much since the Thay-ers were hung. He added that it was at the request of the audience on mose altogetherthat I should stay another night. The landlord of the inn where I was stopping, arose somewhat hastily, and stated that I couldn't stay another night with him, unless my bill was secured. Such is sometimes the encouragement that genius receives at the hands of the mercenary.

A little town on the Allegheny turned out well. The principal occupation of the inhabitants was to haul oil. That being the only hall they had, I lectured in a grocery. The people turned out in the most unexpected manner; they turned out the lights-then they turned out the lecturer-because he wasn't fat enough. They gave me twenty minutes to leave town. I told them if they'd make it twenty dollars I'd go.

As the termination of the twenty minutes ! felt something come against me very rapidly from behind. My first impression was that it was from an old fashioned leather value. Subsequent reflection has convinced me that was a boot. I shook hands with them all with much feeling. I told them they must excuse me, for I felt that I had got to go! Leaving somewhat hastily I caught the some of cherub voices in that grocery, singing in tones of the most pathetic inquiry:

"Shall we never more behold thes, Never hear that winning voice again?" I yelled back that they wouldn't-not if could help it. "That winning voice" didn't seem to win in that neighborhood. A friend addised me to go twice to the same place. He said although I might only make expenses the first time, the next time it would be different. It was, to be sure ; I only paid expenses the first time, but yet the second time—I didn't. I have tried my agents. They proved unsatisfactory with one exception.— He never asked for money. He never alluded to money but once. Said he to me one day:

You don't care for money, do you?" "No, indeed," said I. "I thought not," said be, "I never say you have a cent

I humor him in those harmless light flights of wit. You may hear from me again.

A story is told of a lady at Pithole, who, while on her way to the Morey Farm Hotal. from Holmden street, got stuck in the mire, and had to be fished out by some gentlemes. Another counterfeit greenback $10 bill has made its appearance. The signatures of Spinner and Chittenden are good, but the pertrait of Mr. Lincoln is coarse, and the bill generally much heavier in appearance than the original.

A cotemporary calls attention to the fact that the year 1865 was favored with fifty three Sundays-the first and last day being a Sabbath. It will be quite a number of years the idea of being represented at Washington before the same circumstance occurs again.

One of our editorial cotemporaries, with wisdem, beyond the usual run, thus sagely observes: "It is not what we care, but what we save, that makes us rich; it is not what we cat, but what we digest, that makes us strong; it is not what we read, but what we remember, that makes us learned. All this is very simple, but it is worth recollecting.

Mr. H. Catlin has received the appointment of Secretary to the committee on contested elections in the State Sexate. The pesition is an easy one, and will leave Mr. C. an abundance of time to flatter Mr. Lowry, and calumniate his opponents, through the columus of the Corry Telegraph, Girard Union and Union Mills Bulletin.

Senator Clymer, of Berks county, and Senstor Lowry, of this county, occupy seats in the Senate chamber, this session, immediately adjoining. We scarcely know whether to congratulate Mr. Lowry upon the sound political company he has got into, or to condole with Mr. Clymer on account of the doubtful sort that circumstances have thrown upon

Mr. Lowry seems to be held in high favor by his Republican associates in the State Senate, if we are to judge by the committees he has been placed upon. He is chairman of the committee on Federal Relations, which constitutes him the leader of his party in the Senate, and a member of the committees on Banks, Bailreads, Military Affairs and Pensions and Gratuities. The low standard of ability possessed by the Republican party in the Senate is best exemplified by facts like

As an evidence of the favor which has met his official conduct, we will refer to the fact that he has been nominated to the Senate for a coloneloy in the regular army."

The Express states further that the Captain designs returning to Erie and resuming the practice of the law.

The statement is made that the railroad from Irvine to Pithole will be in running order by the 1st of May. The Pithole and Franklin B.
