THE Seargent at Arms of the House, says the Washington correspondent of his payments to the members on account $2,800 for each member. It was stated and o doubt believed by many that the increase in the pay of Congress would not take place retrospectively. But the transaction is worse than was supposed; the majority in Congress not only increased its own pay, but made an ex post facto law, giving the vote a retrospective effect, and gogue, and the smallest specimen of a paying extra for past time. Cry Aloud and Spare Not.

Of all the acts passed by Congress during the session just closed, scarcely one is more deserving of condemnation, than the provision by which the members increased their pay from $3000 to $5000 per year. It is impossible for an honest and unprejudiced public to look on this enactment as anything else than plunder and robbery of the public treasury, and an enormous outrage upon the tax-payers of the country. Such an outrage should cause the constituents of every member who voted for it, or is known to have favored its passage, to reject him at the polls in October next, if a candidate for re-election. There ought, and we trust there will be found to be, enough integrity and sufficient regard for the interests of the people, to prevent the re-nomination of any such member.

It is with regret, that we noticed among the list of those who voted for this plundering measure, the names of a few Democrats. Their conduct, like that of the Black Republicans with whom they voted, is without excuse, and cannot be justified. We presume it will be attempted to palliate their conduct, by representing that this increase of pay was connected with a preaision giving bounty to the soldiers who first enlisted in the recent war; and that to yoto against the pay would defeat the bounty. This, however, is all shaim, as the proceedings on the subject, in both the Senate and House, clearly show. It is evident that the great aim was to get the increased pay, and not to give the bounty to the soldiers. For bounty, as authorised, is not what the soldier desired or expected; it is only $100 to the three year men, and $50 to the two year man. If Congress had been disposed and tax-payers of the country, they could have easily done so, by defeating the infathemselves, and if they considered the soldiers entitled to bounty, by giving them $300, and thus putting the first enlisted volunteers upon an equality with those who entered the service at a later period and received a large bounty from the government - West Chester Jeffersonian

"Democrats talk much about the suffrage question, endeavoring to make capital out of it, but as we can introduce constitutional amendments in Pennsylvania are in great distress. But if the people want it, come on with your wool—thre is no possible objection to jit." [Applause.]—Gov Curtin's speech at York.

Exectly—if the people want it, the Geary leaders are ready for it. Ever since the leaders of the "great" Republican party made it the caudal appendage to . New England Abolitionism, their cry has been for wool, and their constant efforts not introduce politics Geary agreed, and been for wool, and their constant efforts attempted some "small talk." suited to have been to "educate" the people up to their wool standard. It will be time enough hereafter to "agitate that question," says Curtin, "because constitutional amendments can be introduced only once in three years," but he conceals the tact that the disunion Geary faction have nominated negro suffrage candidates in every legislative district in the State, where conventions have already been held, so as not denied and cannot and date deny this As Geary was by Curtin's side when he uttered the above, and did not deny or explain Curtin's declaration, the language becomes his, and as his own views in favo of negro suffrage in Pennsylvania, the people will repudiate them at the polls in October by 10,000 majority for Clymer
