Lincoln's Virw .- The following is an extract from the speech made by Mr. Lincoln, a few days before his death, referred to in Mr. D olittle's remarks. It will be seen that it fully sustains the ground assumed by the distinguished Senator: ?

"We all igree that the secreted States, ac called, are out of their proper practical relation with the Union, and that the sole object of the government, civil and military, in regard to those States, is to again get them into their proper practical relation. I believe Vallandigham.—Dispatch. that it is not only possible, but, in fact, easier to do this without deciding or even considering whether those States have ever been out of opds lawyer: the honest citizen, or the join in doing the nots necessary to restore the proper practical relations between these States and the Union, and each forever after innocently indulge his own opinion whether, in doing the acts, he brought the States from without the Union, or only gave them prope assistance, they never having been out of iv.

It will be seen that the great anxiety of the late President was to get the seceded duty he owes to his country. This is no time i's position it quotes a pretended extract | States " into their propor practical relation a speech made at Bedford, Pa., by Hon. to the general government." The great anxiety of the Radicals, who profess to be executeut of "their proper practical relation to the general government." The phrase describes their policy with wonderful exactness. The contrast between Mr. Liucoln's plans, as declared by himself, and those which they seek to thrust upon the country under the sanction of his name, he being dead, makes manifest will doubt. That it was ever uttered by their shameless hypocrisy without the help of argument to point it out.

> The spirit which animates the Radicula in this city, can be seen by the following extract from a series of resolutions adopted by them in connection with the Post Office matter at

Among the active participants in the meeting at which the above model resolution was adopted, was T. C. Wheeler, Federal Assessor for that part of the county. It seems to be a horrible thing, in his view, for a Republican to accept office from Mr. Johnson. We would suggest to him whether it is not quite as wicked to hold on to a position " like grim death " under an alministration which he pretends to dispise. The difference in the morality of the two acts is one which we fail-to perceive. Our friends at G.rard should not rest content until they obtain the appointment of two good Union men in the place of Randall and Wheelcr. convinced that Mr Scoffeld is weak just where he ought to be strong." A if not satisfied with the comments attached to the communication, the Gazotte publishes an elitorial on the same subject in another pertion, of the aper, in which the writer gives it as his opinion that. " North East" "expresses the fe-ling of the soldiers The following is an extract from an edicated from an edicated in the Chicago Tribuno, copied into the Titusville Herald. It is a fair sample of the reliability of Radical organs:

At Eric a few days since 30,000 people came.

At Eric a few days since 30,000 people came. figure from careful estimates that there are altogether fully 3.000. These three thousand soldiers cast three thousand votes, and many of them control one or more votes also. Every soldier will have the fact thrust in his face that while Mr. Scofield takes a boun'y of $4,000 for himself, a few only of them get $100 or $50 each, and the vast majority get nothing " In view of these facts, the Gazette may well inquire: "Shall we (that is the Radicals) jeopardize the success of the Union (Radical) ticket by nominating a caudidate to Congress who is unpopular with the soldiers?" [From the Gazette of Aug. 30th] ECOFIELD'S UNPOPULARITY DEMON S'RATED-HE HAS ALWAYS RUN BE-HIND THE TICKET. " In 1862 the Union candidate for Audito General-the highest office in the ticket-had majority in Eric county of 1.542 votes; Mr. Scofield's majority was but 698 votes, or for his second term, his majority on the home vote alone was 960 less than that of ur. Lincoln's.'

In view of the above, we do not wonder at the general surprise which is expressed at the Gazette's zealous support of Mr. Scofield now. Thet party influences might prevent it from supporting Mr Scott we can well under tand, but consistency at least should restrain i from lauding his opponent, whom it has often and savagely condemned, and strive to advance the latter's interests by misre presentations of the basest sort in regard to our candidate. We dislike exceedingly to charge unworthy conduct upon a cotemporary, but we are not slone in the suspicion that others and less honorable motives than party re-quirements have led to the Gazette's singular change of bise." The Disparch, like the Gazette, was bitterly opposed to Socield's nomination, and dait him some hard blows in the course of the contest. Its course on the subject is made doubly honorable by contrast with the Gazetie: tor having thought him unfit before the nom-ination, it does not swallow its own truthful words now, and surp or him solely because he has become the party candidate. The fol lowing communication which appeared in its co'umns is interesting in connection with the extra pay question : Girard, August 24, 1866.
