> THE CROPS AND FUTURE PRICES.-The harvest throughout the county is nearly gathered, and from every section we have returns of a most bountiful yield. The growing crops look well almost without exception, and we are much mistaken if the agricultural products of the county this year do not exceed the general average. The same report reaches us from all portions of the land. rendering it certain that the prices of the staple articles of living will rule considerably lower than they have done for some time past. This will be a good piece of news to laboring men and others who have to purchase the larger portion of their food, and many of whom have with difficulty been able, during the past year to provide for the with the Lancaster Intelligencer, that "the relief experienced from an abundant cror will be only partial and comparatively slight. There will be no considerable reduction in the price of the thousand and one articles which enter into the consumption of every family in the land. Clothing, groceries and almost everything which is needed will still continue to rule at high prices so long as gold stands at its present rate of premium and the only money in circulation is a depreclated paper currency. The high tariff now in force will keep goods of all kinds up to exhorbitant figures, and the ever present form of taxation which demands more than a tithe of the results of every poor man's toil, will prevent a return of low prices and prosperous times for years to come. With the industry of one > half the country prostrated, and the energies of the people of the South crushed beneath the iron heel of a military despotism, there can be no change for the better. Only when the fanatics now in power are hurled from office, and a reign of good sense, statesmanship and justice inaugurated in the place of the infamous and unwise system now prevailing, can the people expect relief from the burthens which press so heavily upon them. Those who expect that a single abundant crop will start all the wheels of stagnant trade, and bring down the price of everything, are doomed to be sadly disappoint-

City Government and Improvement. The time seems to have arrived when some suggestions which we have long thought of making in regard to our city government and the true system of conducting public improvements will command, perhaps, a due degree of attention. On all hands it is admitted that there is a defect in the management of our city affairs which requires a prompt and thorough correction. The want of uniformity in our public business, the inconsistent and often trivial course of officilas, the lack this subject our cotemporary relates some of a responsible head to carry out the provisions of the city charter and the ordinances state of purity prevails among the Radicula of Councils, have grown into a grievous annovance, which should not, and will not, if SWISS WATCHES, the public are made of the right material, be borne much longer. The subject is one that is beginning to attract the serious atten tion of our most intelligent citizens. Some of them have suggested one plan and some another, and meantime things go on in the old way, from mere lack of a determined movement to reform them. This cannot con tinue a great deal further without material damage to the city interests. The better class of our community must take up the subject and give it their carnest consideration. They must proceed to effect a thorough organization for more effective co-operation. What is everybody's business is said to be nobody's business, but this is a question which so immediately affects every tax payer's pocket that it is to be hoped the old adage may not be found to apply to it. We believe the day is not far distant when the necessary movement will be made, and in the interval let us suggest some features, which, in our opinion, are essential to the public welfare.

In the first-place, we need a thorough revision of the city charter, so as to make it comport better with the advanced ideas of the times and the progress of the locality. The present charter was good enough, undoubtedly for its day, but its period of usefulness passed away five years ago. A gov; erament that night work charmingly for a

2d. To devote special attention to those horoughfares which are of the most importance, and come most directly under the eyes of strangers. The city is too widely scattered to enable all the improvements to be made that are desirable, and the object ought to be to confine our attentions mainly to those which are of the most importance. A town or city gains its reputation by the appearance of its leading localities. Let us once have he Parks and State street finely built up, and it will do more for the fame of the city, than a dozen-times the improvement spread around in as many minor thorough-

As "Rinney's nomination was brought about by the defection of a Mercer county delegate, it is not difficult to understand who our cotemporary is here shooting.

The Argus concludes with the following reflections;
"The nomination of Mr. Finney, last fall, was bought, and the Republicans of Mercer county were sold out and betrayed. The in-solence with which the corrupt leaders in-Crawford county conducted themselves after the Congressional nomination, in order to drive the party into swallowing their fraud, was only equalled by the political crime they committed in obtaining the nomination. They declared that they had spotted every man who had voted for or detended Judge Pettis, and that not one of them should be nominated to an office for twenty years.
