WEEKLY OBSERVER

ERIE, PENNA, OCTOBER 31, 1867.

The time for which many of our campaign ibscribers have paid will expire with the resent issue, and we hope that as many as can afford the paper will at once notify us of heir desire to continue it. The ensuing year | er for our people to expect to compete with will be one of vast importance in the political distory of the country, and no person should all efforts in that line, beyond a certain point, per. We hope not only to retain all who are to waste. Erie will always be an important campaign opens. The terms of the paper will be as heretofore, $2.50 when paid in advance; $3.00 at the close of the year.

Now, that the elections have resulted so heeringly, and the crops have mostly been athered, we ask our friends in every part of the county to make a determined effort to in rease the circulation of the Observer. With over four thousand Democratic voters in the county, we should have not less than three thousand subscribers, and believe that by the proper sort of effort that number can readily be obtained. A permanent circulation of three thousand would place the paper on a substantial footing, enable us to pursue a more independent course than at present and greatly inure to the interests of the party n the county. We trust that from this time to the day of the next election every earnest Democrat in the county will consider himself n agent for the Observer, and endeavor to procure at least one additional subscriber.

A MONUTE prominent montoes displayed on a transparency carried by the Democrats at their glorification on Monday evening of last week, was the following: "Taxes for Rich and Poor alike." Many are at a loss to know neans. It means, first and foremost, that by the legislation of the Radicals, a vast share of he wealth of the nation has been exempted rom paying its just proportion of taxation for the support of the Government. It means that the masses have discovered that this discrimination adds to their own taxation, and s contrary to every principle of true Repubcanism. It means that they have resolved that all the property of the country shall bear its fair share of the burdens of Government, and that there shall be no privileged class within the limits of the United States. their votes can prevent it. It means that the party which upholds the unjust discrimination we have referred to is bound, sooner or later, to encounter the odium it so richly merits, and that the people are moving once nore to take matters in their own hands, and ender the Government, what it was designed to be, one of equal and exact justice. Is the explanation satisfactory?

The programme failed to work satisfactorily, and after some suggestions it was decided to adjourn to the Court House on Tuesday evening of next week, when a committee of eight will report permanent officers for the organization. The movement was mainly run by the "bow-backed, weak-kneed and sunken-eyed" element of the party, and the Lowryites do not appear to have taken much interest in it. The "Republican" is rather disposed to cavil at the matter, having complained on Tuesday that no information was sent to it of the proposed organization, and again on Wednesday that the meeting was called together "five minutes before the appointed time,"-a de-
