Our Terms. As our new terms, for 1868 seem, to have escaped the notice of many of our friends, we again call attention to them, in order to prewill be Two Dollars per year--abscribers or within a menth will be charged Two Dor. LARS AND FIFTY CENTS, and those who wait until the expiration of the year, THERE DOLtives. We have had some complaint that the former price of the paper was too high. and avail ourself of this arrangement to avoid it in future. Those who think they cannot afford more than Two Dollars for a paper have the chance afforded them by making prompt payment, and those who neglect to do so must expect to pay the extra fifty cents. These rates will be strictly adhered to and we shall publish this notice sufficiently long for all to see it, so that none will have an excuse for saying that they did not know our precise terms.

A number of subscribers paid in advance at the old rates, before we decided upon making a change. In all instances, the extra only second to that centered upon the origisum will be allowed them upon their next nal case. year's subscription, being at the rate of three; months for each fifty cents in excess.

"Loyalty" once More.

In spite of his careful study of Noah Webster and our persistent efforts to set him right on the subject, the editor of the Republican is still as much at sea as ever respecting the true requirements of "loyalty." He seems to think that in mords we disagree but slightly with him, but in practic, mas, that it should be so b we are separated "wide as the poles as under." To a certain extent, this is perhaps a correct statement of the case. The controversy is not so much one as to what loyalty means, as to what it is due under our system of Government. THE DECKIER CASE.—This much talked about case came to a sudden close on Friday forenoon by the action of Judge McCandless. On taking his seat at the opening of Court, closed their doors last week, making five the Judge stated that he had considered more fully the point made by the counsel for the tations debarred further action in the case, and was of the opinion that it was correct The law of Congress stipulates that criminal proceedings must be commenced within two men's pants this month." Too true! years after the offence has been committed, and more than that period having clapsed in this case, the indictment was without force. He therefore directed the jury to bring in a verdict for the prisoner, which they did immediately, without leaving the box. The Judge then addressing himself to Degmier, It is evident you committed a great wrong against the government in the embezzlement of public moneys. You made all reparation in your power by restitution. The statute of limitations has saved you from the penientiary." This unexpected conclusion to his case was received by the prisoner in a manner that betrayed the excess of joy. He left the Court room in a few minutes, went to the jail, bundled up his traps, and bid his late fellow prisoners good-bye, who saluted py man in a hundred and thirty-three! him with cheers as he left, saving that his behavior had been all they could ask of him. The friends of Degmier say they would not have nerved served by city carriers being charged FIFTY while the other side claim that he would CENTSENTS. All who do not pay in advance, have been prohounced guilty. It is plain from Judge McCandless' brief charge on setting him free, that his mind had received an mpression unfavorable to the prisoner. That Degmier was guilty of embezzling public funds no one seems to have any doubt; that he purloined the large amount alleged is as much a matter of dispute as before the trial. The sympathy of the community has been largely awakened in his favor, whether justly or unjustly we leave the testimony to decide, after the impulses of the moment have calmed down sufficiently to enable each one who reads it to judge with calmness and candor. An effort is to be made by Degmier's creditors to wrest from Mr. Douglass the property which the accused placed into his hands as security for the spolen money, and the result will be looked for with an interest

It has become fashionable in some quarters, since the Angola disaster, to comment & Eric R. Spencer, and the name of the concern is to be the "Keystone Pail and Tub Manufactory." A square of ground has been purchased at the intersection of the canal and railroad, on which buildings are to be crected for carrying on the business upon an extensive scale. The company will manufacture Pails, Tubs and Keelers, of every size, quality and description, and have made such arrangements for procuring the best quality of timber as to warrant them in feeling confident of success. They are already busy at work making their preparations for building, and expect to turn out specimens of their work early in the summer. THE well known grocery stand No. 24 West Park, has been taken by Messrs, Craig & Marshall, under whose enterprising management it gives promise of attaining a wider popularity than ever. The new proprietors

The best we have seen this year is that of the Conneautville Crisis, written by Charles Stowe, Esq., of Girard. It contains many passages of genuiine poetry, and as a whole will compare favorably with the productions of some of our favorite authors. THE Cleveland Plaindealer thinks "if fondness for horses is a pre-eminent qualification for the Presidency, Dan Rice has much greater claim to the position than Great. Should Dan be elected, and take his magnificent white performing horse 'Excelsior' to Washington, his stable would be one of the lions at the place,' and would outshine anything of the kind that Grant could get up. WE have been very much interested in the series of biographical sermons delivered in April. His course in the matter has been the Baptist Church, by Rev. W. F. Bainbridge, during the past month or more. On Sabbath evening last, Mr. B. closed the geries with a comprehensive summary of the advantages to be gained from the study of Christian memoirs, which was one of the best written and most entertaining pulpit productions we have heard in a long period. THE Bedford Gazette contains this funny paragraph:

paragraph:

> LIBERAL OFFER .- "Merrill's Two Horse Store" offers to Very person buying over five (5) dollars worth of goods at that establishment a present valued from fifty cents to thirty (30) dollars. They have selected from their stock a large number of articles, consisting of cloaks, shawls, dress patterns, balmoral and hoop skirts, &c., to be given to their customers. To prevent partiality being shown each package is numbered, and the customer selecting a number secures the package with the same number. The success this novel plan of advertising has met with during the past week has compelled Messrs, Merrill, & Co. to add a large number of new presents, and we advise all intending to purchase dry goods to test this plan, as it s one of the best inducements yet offered.
