The annual city and township elections will take place on the third Friday of the month, the 20th inst., and are already beginning to excite wide interest, from the importance of the local question at stake. Nearly, every community in the county is staggering Profound statesman, that Geary. under a heavy load of debt and taxation, and the all essential issue to be decided is how to secure relief, and at the same time continue to make the progress in improvement which age. The candidates who can place themselves upon a satisfactory platform in both these respects are the ones most likely to be positions or political affinities. In this city, it appears probable that the contest will be wolly upon the improvement issue—one side sustaining the action of Council, and the "anti-improvement" men allege that they are for a moderate system of municipal improvement, but complain that the one now in prohand, contend that nothing has been done which was not absolutely needed, and argue that the rapid growth of the city in population and wealth will soon enable it to extricate itself from the liabilities contracted, without serious difficulty. We believe it is proposed to put a full ticket in the field for Mayor and Councilmen. A number of independent andidates are proposed for various officés, a list of whom will appear in our next issue.

In husiness is dull there is the greater importance of systematic, persistent advertising. It is only occasionally that a man is found who fully appreciates its value as the great development of the power which brings buyer and seller in direct and speedy communication. Many a man has already been made the law, present their credentials, they are fich through the instrumentality of a judicious display of Printer's Ink, and many more are yet to follow. A THRIFTY farmer, who "believes in making old things last in these times," says:-"There is one thing that nearly everybody knows and hardly anybody attends to, that is, to sprinkle slackened lime on their roofs once a year, either in fall or spring. If the shingles are covered ever so thick with moss R. Barr, John R. Cochran and Wm. S. Brown the lime soon clears it off, leaving the roof clean and white, and good for years. It ought to be put on pretty thick, and a rainy day is the best for the work. Strong wood ashes will answer almost as well to keep old roofs in repair, but they will not look as nice. To make new shingles, last three or four times the usual period, they need only to be soaked a few days in a tank half full of thick lime water, which must be well stirred up before the shingles are put in."

A Strong Appeal. BY A WORKING MAN. During the last few years, we are very gravely informed by the party claiming "all the intelligence," that each House has the right to be sole judge of its own members, with regard to their qualifications, &c., and upon this provision of the Supreme law of the land they hang all their excuses for the expulsion of members who uphold, protect, and defend the Federal Constitution; and whenever it becomes necessary to pass a law over the Presidential negative they deem all members who will certainly east their votes against them, as not qualified, and forthwith proceed to expel them.
