Questions for the Disnatch.

Did or did not Mr. Scofield write a letter n the canvass of 1866 declaring that he had oot taken the extra pay voted to its members or Congress, and "intended to leave the impression that he would not take it " Did or did he not afterwards take the full amount of extra pay, notwithstanding his pledge to the contrary? Did or did not Mr. Scofield vote for a bill in Congress to deduct ten per cent, from the interest on bonds, thus white dly proposing o "repudiate" one-tenth of the public debt? Does not this make him an out-and-out "repudiator," and effectually seal the lips of his supporters on that subject?
