latter place. A hickory pole was raised in the public square, which is one of the handsomest ever secured in this section. It is perfectly straight, and a hundred and two feet high. At its top is a mammoth hickory broom, which will serve to keep the despondent Radicals in mind of the big sweep the Democracy intend making in November. Mrs. David Olin, on behalf of the Democratic ladies of Girard, in an admirably conceived speech, presented to the club a large and splendid American flag, which was received on their part by Mr. G. W. Arbuckle, in that felicitous vein in which he has few rivals. The flag was then hoisted to the top of the pole, and as it spread its folds to the breeze a tremendous cheer burst forth involuntarily from the audience, while the band played the "Star-Spangled Banner" in so excellent a style that all present were loud in their praise. Col. J. Ross Thompson delivered the main speech of the day, which is highly spoken of. He devoted it mostly to financial issues; and left an impression that cannot help but tell for the good of the cause. Mr. Savage followed in a logical and convincing speech about half an hour long. The meeting adjourned with three cheers each for the Democratic ladies, the speakers, and the ticket, all present being delighted with the events of the day.

OUR copious extracts last week, showing the difference between the Dispatch's preaching and practice, have not had the effect of shaming it into mending its habits, as we expected. It even has the assurance to pretend that it does not care for the exposure of its inconsistencies, and makes bold to say, though not in direct language, that it will continue to pursue the same policy of misrepresentation and blasphemy in which it is includged for years. We did not suppose a labit indulged in for such a long period could easily be broken off, but we confess to a reling of surprise that our cotemporary should assume an air of indifference, and with a bravado that few would care to dis-
