ALPACAS, ORGANDIES, LAWNS,

THE UNDERSIGNED offers for sale his valuable farm, on the Kuhl road, in Harbor Creek township, one mile south of the Colt Station road, and eight miles from Erie. It contains fifty-five acres and eighty perches, all improved and in the highest state of cultivation. The land is equal to the very best in that section of the county. The buildings comprise a 2 story frame house with 1½ story kitchen and good collar under the whole; wood house and work house, 2 barms, each 30 x 5 feet; a sked 70 feet long with stable at the end; and all the necessary outbuildings. A first class well of soft water, which never falls, isn't the kitchen door. There is an orchard with 140 apple trees, all grafted; and bearing; and an abundance of almost every other kind of fruit grown in this neighborhood. The only reason why I wish to sell is that I am going West to embark in another occupation. Terms made known by applying to me on the premises, or to Hon. Elijah Babbitt, Attorney-at-Law, Frie, Pa.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed.

Herbs and Barks, tion highly concentrated and entirely admixture of any kind.

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, etc., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public. Those preferring a Medicine, free from Alco-holic admixture, will use

Those who have no objection to the combina-ion of the Bitters, as stated, will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, that which ho is associated from the instruction and intrue merit, is skill-free from injurious ingredients and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit these well-known remedies—

HÖÖFLAND'S

GERMAN BITTERS

GERMAN TONIC

Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON

Philadelphia, Pa.

These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kides arising from a dissectionach, or Intestines.

DEBILITY.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enloyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow inge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous inwalld becomes a strong and healthy being. Persons advanced in life, and feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instill new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended. Weak and delicate children are made stro

DR. JACKSON-Dear Sir:—I have frequently been requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines; kut regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for one from my usual conviction that, for General Deality of the System, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fall; but, insually, I denbt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above cause.

Yours very respectfully.

Colin has contrived to steal
Your unthinking heart away.
Of his fawning voice beware—
You are all the blind one's care,
And I mark your sighs whene'er
Our young neighbor's name is i Our young neighbor's name is heard.
Colin's tongue is false, though winning—
Hist! the window is unbarred! Ah! Lisette, you are not spinning!

The room is close and warm you say;

But, my daughter, do not peep
Through the casement, night and day—
Colin there his watch doth keep.
Think not mine a grumbling tongue;
Ah! here at my breast you hing— It is a gust of wind, you say,
That has made the hinges grate;
And my poor, old, growling Tray,
Must you break for that his pate?
Ah! my child, put faith in me;

Age permits me to foresee
Colin soon will faithless be,
And your love to an abyss
Of grief will be the sad beginning—
Bless me! sure I heard a kiss!
Ah! Lisette, you are not spinning! 'Twas your little bird, you say, Gave that tender kiss, just now; Make him cease his trifling pray, He will rue it else, I vow. THE MOST REMARKABLE SWINDLE RECORD.—A few days ago a rural-looking lady and gentleman of Sterling, Cayuga Co., called upon one of the Justices of the peace and expressed a wish to be married. The pair were made man and wife. This morning they re-appeared, and each in turn desired that the proceedings might be annulled. The lady was particularly urgent. She charged that she had been entrapped into marrying the man who stood beside her by a piece of unparalleled deception. She had been corresponding with her cousin in lowa, whom she had received the state of the process of the proce had not seen since she was a child, and dur-ing the correspondence her relative had wooed and won her affections. He wrote her that he was coming on here in December to claim her hand and take her to his home in the West. On Monday last the swain to whom she was married made his appearance, claimed to be her cousin, said he could not wait until December, &c. On the strength of these representations, she had reluctantly consented to wed. She had since learned that the man whom she had married was not her cousin, but a wretch who had secured a wife by base deception. The man acknowledged his culpability, but pleaded in extennation that the Iowa cousin read him the letters of his intended: that these had influenced him to do as he had done. His conscience smote him so grievously since the accomplishment of his treachery, that he made wait until December, &c. On the strength of these representations, she had reluctantly consented to wed. She had since learned

His conscience smoote him so grievously since the accomplishment of his treachery, that he made a full confession to the lady he had shamefully wrighed. He had hoped to reconcile her to the fraud, but she would not. He was now willing to make the only amends he knew of, viz, have the marriage contract annulled. The magistrate suggested he had not the power to unmarry them. He advised that as matters had progressed thus far, it would be better for the lady to make the best of a bad bargain, and accept the situation of the bridegroom, the lady finally decided many inquiries, quietly seated on the versual on the back of a chair, and very deliberately beauted on the back of a chair, and very deliberately pair departed.—Oswego (N. married under such circumstances. We understand the facts are these:

The bridegroom was left some years ago a widower with a family. His first wife, when dying, desired that the young lady (who subsequently became the second wife) should have the care of the children. This desire was fulfilled, and it was, we believe, in order that this lady might have a right to continue to take charge of the children that a marriage was proceeded with, although the surrounding circumstances were so strange and so gloomy. It was necessary before the marriage could take place that a special license should be obtained from the Archbishop of Canterbury. A gentleman from Readop of Canterbury. A gentleman from Reading had an interview with the Archbishop, and the facts having been laid before him, his Grace granted the special license.—Berks (Eng.) Uhronicle.

Both bride and bridegroom were residents of St. Louis; the former a girl of seventeen, and the latter a young mechanic with very fair prospects for the future, and some little cash in bank. The wedding was celebrated in the usual manner, and the young couple started for a Northern city on their honeymoon trip. They were not long gone, however, for at the end of two days they were back in Louisville, and the young husband, who had hitherto been noted for his temperate habits, took to drinking, and in a day or the back.

Near Palermo, in Sicily, in 1516, was found the skeleton of a giant thirty feet high, and in 1550, another thirty-four feet long. Near Mazarine, in Sicily, in 1815, was found the skeleton of a giant thirty feet high; the head was the size of a hogshead, and each of his teeth weighed five ounces.

THE INTRICACIES OF MATRIMONY .- A THE INTRICACIES OF MATRIMONY.—A curious matrimonial affair has just transpired in Brooklyn; the parties are not in high life or known to fame, but their history is nevertheless interesting. Ten years ago, a couple, recently married, moved from Boston to the City of Churches, where the husband set up in business, and prospered. His business et his office was better than at his band set up in business, and prospered. His business at his office was better than at his home, and his married life was unhappy, and about five years ago the parties managed to secure a divorce. They gradually lost trace of each other, and during the past year each of them married, and each to a person who had been divorced. The two husbands were thrown together, without knowing their relations to each other, and a few weeks ago lations to each other, and a few weeks ago the one who had married the divorced wo-man invited the other home to dinner. Imagine the embarassment when the happy husband introduced his wife to his friend. Both were too well bred to have a scene, and so the dinner passed off somewhat frigidly but with no actual unpleasantness. The recipient of the dinner courtesy invited the other to go home with him soon after and partake of a family dinner, little thinking, as it happened, that he was to re-turn the compliment in every particular. It turned out that each had married the divorced spouse of the other, and it is more satisfactory to know that each was entirely pleased with the arrangement. So much for the intricacies of matrimony. I dare say there are many a couple or many a pair of couples that would be greatly benefited by internet a charge. just such a change.

MARRIED WITHOUT GLOVES.-A few days

EXTRAORDINARY MARRIAGE.—A marriage took place a few days ago in a village not far distant from Reading under peculiar circumstances. The ceremony, which was performed in accordance with the rites of the Church of England, took place in the house of the bridegroom, who at the time of the wedding was, and we believe still is, in a dying state. He had to be lifted from his bed, wrapped in blankets, and carried into the room in which the ceremony was to take place. He was supported while the ceremony was being read, and at the conclusion was conveved back to his bed room. An in-A YANKER lawyer, who was pleading the case of a little boy the other day in Boston, took him in his arms and held him up to the jury, suffused in tears. This had a great effect until the opposite lawyer asked the boy "What makes you cry?" "He's plnching

Giants of Olden Times.

In one of his recent lectures Professor Silliman the younger, alluded to the discovery of the skeleton of an enormous lizard, of eighty feet. From this the Professor inferred, as no hving specimen of such magnitude has been found, that the species which it represents has become degenerated. The verity of his position he endeavored to enforce by an allusion to the well known existence of giants in olden times. The following is the list on which this singular hypothesis is based:

The giant exhibited at Rouen in 1830, the professor says, measured nearly eighteen feet high.

The giant Ferregus, slain by Orlando, nephew of Charlemagne, was twenty-eight feet high.
In 1814, near St. German, was found the

"Is that so, mister? Waal, just hold on a minute, till I get my breath, and when I say neow, you put it under my smellers."

The hartshorn of course knocked the Yankee down, as liquor has done many a man. Do you suppose he got up and smelt again, as the drunkard does? Not he; but rolling up his electric and deathly a minute of the feet he deathly seed deathly a minute of the seed of the see ing up his sleeves and doubling up his fist, he

When her child was born there was not the semblance of a head about it. The limbs are perfectly developed, the arms long, and the shoulders, where the head and neck should be, smoothly rounded off.

But the most surprising thing of all is that the face is situated in the breast. Of course, there being no neck, the power of turning its head is wanting, except as the whole body moves; but this difficulty is overcome by the singular faculty it possesses of turning its eyes in their sockets, enabling it to see quite say well on either side as those more perfect. as well on either side as those more perfect ly formed.
