MR. LOWRY ON "ARBITRARY AR-RESTS."

Those of our Republican citizens who were accustomed to look upon our "lovalty" with grave suspicion, and threaten us with Fort Lafayette, because we denounced the arbitrary arrests of Mr. Lincoln's Administration, must have experienced some twitchings of conscience in reading the first of Mr. Lowry's series of letters defending himself against the attacks of the Gazette. In this per that he was instrumental in releasing a number of persons who had been imprisoned for the mere expression of their opinions, doubts of Republican orthodoxy" for the course he pursued. He acknowledges that "in these exciting days of the war" "many good men and more weak ones seemed to lose their balance"-that what he did he "believed duty both to God and humanity" required him to do-that the arrests referred to were "illegal and unjustifiable,"-and that his "chief anxiety" was to "ward off this great shame" which Hid more to humble our country in the estimate of patriotic men than rebellion itself. All this simply reiterates our own views at the time, and, coming from the pen of the admitted leader of the Republican party in this part of the State, will do a pity that Mr. Lowry did not feel impelled to make his views publicly known while the might have prevented much wrong from being done, and helped dispel much of the prejudice which has grown out of these very occurrences that he now characterizes as "illegal and uninstifiable "

One of the most important revelations which Mr. Lowry makes upon this subject is that in which he states that it was at one time seriously contemplated to arrest Hon. Wm. A. Wallace and Gov. Bigler. "Many," he says "were clamorous for their arrestsome influenced by excitement, others by prevailed, and he congratulates himself upon having been one of the most active in averting the stigma, in which, for their credit let it be said, "the leading Republicans of the Legislature and the men of the party" sustained him. How much basis there was for the proposed incarceration of these gentlemen we leave Mr. Lowry to tell in his own language:

"There is this that I may say of Senator Wallace—that while I have and did differ from him all through the war, as our Sena-torial record shows, as far as men could differ, life, was in 1861, in the hospitals after the wounded soldiers, and that my best, most faithful, and untiring assistant-among many could ever have existed in this country, boasting of its freedom, when men like these could have been dragged from their homes or trial; and yet, shameful as the fact now appears, such occurrences did once happen daily, and citizens claiming to be libertywho had the courage to stigmatize it as it deserved were either treated in the same ence party polities in America. manner, or hounded down with the meanest of epithets. The progress of time is rapidly exhibiting all these things in their true light. and it will not be many years until those who I the Democratic party expect to get into had a share in them will be ashumed to ac power again, they must fight their enemies dorsed by the popular judgment, and among proved than the one it occupied in this matter of arbitrary arrests.

while the Republican vote was too insignificant to be worth considering. Of course such a result could indicate nothing else than "fraud," and the Redical schemers have been hard at work ever since to figure the Democratic majority out of existence. By throwing out all but 4,000 Democratic votes they have accomplished their object, and the are rendered supremely happy. In this way the State is now declared to have gone for Grant, and the Radical candidates for Congress will get their seats, though the votes cast show the State to have gone 35,000 Democratic. One of the tunny incidents of the occusion-if there can be anything funny in such an outrageous proceeding-is the fact that one of the bogus Congressmen is a coal black negro, whom the Radical leaders dure not refuse admission if they acknowledge the claims of his colleague. The legitimate result of negro suffrage is thus brought up in a of justice, but, on the contrary, greatly imway that it cannot be shirked, and we hope to see the Radical congressmen "toe the mark," like heroes and patriots.

THE LATEST revelation on the U.S. Senstor question is to the effect that the threats of Cameron and Lowry have frightened Kemble off the track-that J. Edgar Thompson, President of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., and in his pantaloons' pocket, has entered the canvass-and that he starts out with pledges of support from every Republican member in Philadelphia. The result of this moreknock all the Senatorial schemes and speculations into a "cocked hat," and necessitate a pertinently suggests that "if Mr. Thomas A. Scott is in favor of the project, and will visit Harrisburg, and stay long enough to get personally acquainted with the Republican memhers, we are inclined to believe that he can convince the most committed man in the party that Edgar is just the man for U.S. Senator."

The Era of Crime.

The present period seems to be marked by tained definite particulars of the Convention a greater amount of crime than has ever been known in the history of the country. The papers are full of shocking details, which make the blood run cold as we read them, and lead one to question whether we are dispute between the United States and Great | really living in the enlightened age that all of us are educated to believe. Among the terrible events that have been heralded to us during the last week, are three of so peculiarly horrible a character as to be deserving of prominent allusion:

One is the murder of a woman in Ulster county, N. Y. She was found by a colored United States. In case of the death, absence man, in the dusk of the early morning, lying in the road, or by the roadside, in the ditch still alive and breathing, but unconscious; and on being removed to a neighboring house, They are to meet in Washington and act a bullet hole through her head was disthere at the earliest possible period. The Electoral College.

On Wednesday the different Electors chosen in November met at the capitals of their respective States and made a formal record of their choice for President. The way in which this was done is as follows: The Electors vote by ballot, and, after the votes, are counted, several copies of the record are made. One is sent by mail to the President of the Senate, at Washington; another, is disposed in the State archives, while a special messenger, who may be either one of their own body or an outsider, is delegated to carry a third copy to the Secretary State. The messenger receives, while on this duty, the same mileage as a member of Congress. With these precautions there is not much danger, therefore, of the vote of any State failing to arrive at Washington by the time the general count is made by Congress, on the second Wednesday of February. On the latter day the United States Senate proceeds to the Hall of the House of Represen atives, and its President takes his seat by leaders of the party of "great moral ideas" the United States Court at Richmond may then appointed, and the scaled packages from be regarded as the beginning of a liberal the Electoral Colleges are opened, usually regime in the South, which will no doubt commencing with the State of Maine. After the roll of States has been called, the result is declared by the President of the Senate. If there is no choice—that is, if no one has a majority over all in the Electoral Collegesthe House of Representatives proceeds to select from the three highest candidates for President before the people. In the House each State has but one vote on this questionwhether it has one or thirty-three members -the majority of the delegation determining how that vote shall be cast. The Senate, in the meantime, proceeds to its chamber, and there selects, by ballot, from one of the two highest candidates, the Vice President. This is on the presumption that no choice his been made by the people.

WE FIXD in the Elgin Courant (England) a strange but perhaps not "o'er true" tale. A worthy clergyman-the Rev. REMARKABLE PETRIFACTION. - About six years ago, says the Troy Press, Mr. Amos Broughton died in Wayne county, in this State, and was buried there. After his death Bridge, in this county, where they now reside. A few days ago the family of the deceased resolved to bring the remains of the father from Wayne county and have them deposited in a cemetery near their present residence. In furtherance of this purpose the grave was opened and the coffin exposed. but all ordinary efforts to lift it from its posi-tion proved in effectual. The coffin lid was therefore removed, when it was found that the body was in the most perfect state of pet-ritagion. It was covered with a dry mould, whileh, when removed revealed a surface almost as white and pure as maroie. The body showed not the least particle o' decay. Every feature and lineament was perfectly preserved, and the body had the appearance of a finely chiseled statue. When Mr. Broughtou died he weighed about two hundred unds while the remains had increased in weight by petrifaction togight hundred polunds. Before the body was interred at Buskirk it vas seen by the family friends and many others there. It is the most perfect and wonderil instance of netrifaction of human remains

HORRIBUE: OUTRAGE BY NEGROES -On Saturday list, at 3 o'clock P. M., an honest fisherman by the name of Jean Cardones, who has his shrimpery on the river, opposite Carrolton, sent his daughter. Tonille, age eleven the control of the co years, back in the rice field of Mr. Zerringae to glean after the reapers. She failed to return, a search was instituted without result: vesterday morning the swollen body of the unfortunate girl was found floating in the river in the eddy near her father's residence. That she succumbed to the brutal passions of some of the colored laborers upon the rice crop, who after accomplishing their hellish signs upon her person, murdered her and threw her into the river, seemed to be evident. She was found tightly sewed up in a sack
—the sack enveloping her body from the head to the knees. The Coroner was sent for. Let Peter Harper and Hugh J. Campbell and let them remember that it was perpet ted by the negro.-N. O. Times, 21st
