The gentleman who gives us this information is a United States Senator, and the public may be perfectly certain of the entire reliability of the statement. This decision will at once relieve the country from the suspense and uncertainty that now hangs over its business, a constant impending evil, a sword of a resolution at the last session, limiting the Damocles, liable to fail at any moment, to the destruction of all commerce and business: and will do more to relieve the existing dullness than all the financial legislation Congress could possibly enact. It will infuse new life into trade all over the country. The great apprehension has been, and will gether, than they pass a resolution increasing

A NEW REGISTRY LAW.

An attempt will, be made in the Legisla ture, this winter, to pass another Registry Law, to deprive working men of the privilege of voting. The laboring class being principally Democrats, and not being able to spend time in waiting upon Registry officers, a law requiring them to be registered prior to the elections, every year, would, have the effect to keep many of them away from the polls.
