New Constitution.

There are two questions before the people of the United States generally, that affect each individual, if not directly, indirectly. They are the Spanish or Cuban question, and the financial question. There is a third question, which, however, is limited to this Commonwealth, but is of more importance to the people of this State than the two former ones. It is the question of the adoption or rejection of the proposed New Constitution. It shall not be our fault if it is not read. Within two weeks there will be enough copies of the proposed new tundamental law circulated in this county to place a copy in the hands of every voter.

The following address has been issued by the Executive Committee of the Constitutional Convention to the people of Penusylvania as a statement of the work accomplished by that body, and showing wherein the New Constitution differs from that now in force :
