LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Sleighing was good in Chester county last week. Live stock of all kinds sells high at sales this spring. It is reported that Duncannon, Perry county, has a 19 lb. baby. The time to buy property is before the new railroad has been built. Don't wear lanky shoes this bad weather, when you can buy leakless ones at Neal Bartley's.

The Commissioners will sell the lumber of the old Court House at public sale on the 16th inst. It costs just $10 a fish to catch trout before the first of April. You can buy fish cheaper at Clark Wright.

The leading article in the Register last week must have been dictated by spirits. It had the gurgle of a bottle with the cork out.

There will be an entertainment given by Rod Rock Common School, at Red Rock School House, on Wednesday evening, the 18th inst.

The borough of Patterson is petitioning the Legislature to grant her the authority to levy a tax to provide water pipes and hose for the extinguishing of fires.

The author of "Retard" has gone into the drug business in Mt. Union. Not the business for a man of the literary inclinations and ability of the author.

Cornelius Bartley has moved his shoe store to one of the new rooms on the North side. Everything there you need in the shoe line. Call and examine his stock.

A horse was sold at Judge Tyson's sale last week for $200. The Thompsons were the buyers. A brood mare was sold for $219. A man named Turbett was the purchaser.

On the 22nd ult. Rev. L. B. W. Shryock, of Academia, was elected to the Presidency of the church at Duncannon. This is a good selection, as Rev. Shryock is a talented minister. -Perry County Advocate.

A colored South Carolina Congressman will be present at Lewistown at the laying of the cornerstone of the A. M. E. church of the colored people of that town, on Sunday, March 23rd, 1874.

The Lewistown Sentinel tells the following: A milk pitcher, thrown by his wife at a Third Street husband on Tuesday morning, missed the aim and hit a handsome man, surrounding the words: "God bless our home."

J. English West, known to many of our citizens, happened in a book store in Lewistown while a minister was addressing a pair of framed chromo birds. He bought them, transferred the title and gave them into the possession of the preacher.

The Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Pythias will convene at Pittsburg on Tuesday, April 21, 1874. Representatives are expected from Europe, England, Canada and the Sandwich Islands, and from almost every State and Territory in the United States.

Last Friday the Thompsons shipped eastward a car load of horses that averaged in weight 1250 pounds. Most of the horses were bought in the upper end of Perry county. They were shipped at Perryville. The Wilson Brothers and Borgy must look out keenly or they will lose their laurels.

On the authority of C. B. Horning, Esq., it is announced that an old and experienced miner has discovered along the north base of Lost Creek Ridge, a large deposit of Protodynia. It is of considerable value, and glowing anticipations are expected of it at certain seasons of the year when it is most used.

The youngest child of John S. Graybill, Esq., died in Philadelphia last week. On Thursday the corpse, attended by the bereaved parents and other friends, arrived on the 3:28 P. M. train, and was thence borne to the Union Cemetery. Many convalescents were at the depot and attended the cortege to the grave.

An Altona boy carried a loaded pistol in his pocket. The hammer caught on something and was drawn back, and, not being held by the trigger, slipped forward, exploding the cap and sending the lead down along the leg of the boy. The ball lodged under the knee-cap. He, doubtless, will be a cripple the remainder of his life.

The cattle that John Musser, of Walker township, shipped to Philadelphia are represented by Solomon Sieber, who was in the market when the cattle were there, as the finest conditioned stock there. Sieber does not rely on his own judgment for the opinion. Such was the expression of dealers in the market. The cattle sold accordingly. Put Musser and Walker township down as No. 1 in the preparation of cattle for market.

The Register last week was moved to the length of a column about women's prayers, which it characterizes as unlawful. It is never moved by the violation of the local option law. It is alarmed. It fears that shortly a law will be passed to tell people what they shall eat, how they shall sleep, &c. It is nervous, lest it lose its freedom, and lest the country indulge generally in intemperance, in all things, prayer-meetings particularly. The only thing it is not temperate on is the liquor business. It wants the local option law repealed. That's the pith of the argument of the Register. Preserve your decorum, brethren, and don't get so nervous. It's a bad sign when a writer in an article advocates temperance, and in the same article denounces temperance people and advocates the repeal of temperance laws. Could our friends have walked a crack straight when they wrote that column of contradictions? Could they?

In the early part of last week a man named Thos. Barlow, hailing from Chester county, made his appearance in our borough, rented a room on Main street, and very soon every house was furnished with a circular giving notice that an auction would take place "this evening" at the sign of "the red flag." When evening came, Thomas and his auctioneer mounted the counter and the sale commenced. On the next evening our polite Constable demanded Thomas to show his license, and, failing to comply with the request, immediately two summons were served on the Chester county merchant, requesting him to appear before Justice Kreider on Saturday morning. After a careful investigation of the Justice imposed a penalty of $50 for selling at auction and $50 for selling without license. It was announced that an appeal would be taken. Finally the trouble was compromised by the auctioneer promising that they would sell no more goods after Saturday evening. On Monday forenoon the auctioneer men moved down the railroad with boxes, baggage, red flag and considerable amount of greenbacks.

EAST WATERFORD, Feb. 28, 1874. The Local Institute convened in the school-room of this place on Friday evening, Feb. 27th, and continued in session throughout Saturday. It opened with devotional exercises by Mr. John W. Evans. Under the new constitution the Institute elected M. E. Ramsey, Vice President, and M. B. Marshall, Secretary.

On account of the unfavorable roads but few teachers were present on Friday evening, but fifteen were in attendance on Saturday. Music was very deficient during the first part of the Institute, but three little girls from the primary school, through the solicitations of our County Superintendent, sang several pieces, which had the desired effect upon the teachers.

The Directors, D. B. Spanogle and A. J. Ferguson, were present most of the time, and entered into the discussions. Essays were read by Miss Ella McCulloch, Miss Bell Short and Mr. John Short. Select reading by several of the teachers. Among the subjects discussed were History, Grammar, Composition, Language, Arithmetic and Spelling.

Quite an interest was manifested, and it is hoped that the Institutes throughout the entire county will meet with as hearty a welcome from citizens as in East Waterford.

In counties and districts where the local option laws are in force, and where the people have an eye on the dealers who sell intoxicating beverages, a "jug" line, as it has been appropriately termed, has been, and is still in operation. To the uninitiated it is proper to explain the meaning of the "jug" line. It means that packages "C. O. D." are frequently sent from large cities, such as Pittsburg, to neighboring county districts, said packages containing liquor, and the same is surreptitiously disposed of. For some time the "jug" line has been one of the branches of business successfully carried on between Washington, Pennsylvania, and Pittsburg, and Washington and Wheeling. It will be seen, therefore, that it has been coming from the East and from the West, and that the toppers of Washington, have been enjoying, uninterrupted, their "schnapps." It may be of interest to the public, and certainly will to railroads and express companies, to know that during a recent session of the court in Washington county, his Honor, Judge Acheson, stated that it was his opinion that express and railroad agents in that county who delivered packages of liquor and collected prices for the same, would be indictable under the local option law. A Washington paper says that wholesale dealers in Pittsburg and Wheeling who have been in the habit of sending packages "C. O. D." should take notice accordingly, and adds that the accuracy of his Honor's opinion is, however, questioned by some of the best lawyers of Washington. -Allona Tribune.

SUPERIOR HORSES AT PUBLIC SALE. -J. & E. Kaufman will sell at public sale, at the stable of Jonathan Kauffman, on the Gallaher farm at Mifflintown, on Tuesday, March 17, 1874.

FRIABLE DEATH. -A Man Cut in Throat by a Saw. -At Osceola, on Tuesday morning, a man named Jacob Crutcher, a "setter" employed at Wells & Hines' saw mill, whilst engaged in repairing some of the machinery was accidentally caught by the saw and his body severed in twain. He expired almost instantly. Deceased was a single man and had made the remark the day previous that he was going to quit work on the 20th inst. -Allona Tribune.

Good food and plenty of it, produces the same effect upon a person who has been starved that the Peruvian Syrup, an Iron Tonic, does upon the weak and debilitated; it makes them strong and vigorous, changing weakness and suffering into strength and health.

Philadelphia Cattle Market, March 9th -2,000 head sold at 47 1/2c. Pennsylvania and Western 50c, common quality 44 1/2c. Cows not quoted.

A SURE CURE FOR "LOSS OF VOICE." -Dr. John W. Corson, of Orange, N. J., communicates to the Medical Record of January 1st a valuable paper on "Borax and the Nitrate of Potass., in the Loss of Voice from Colds in Public Speakers and Singers." Dr. Corson says that, some years ago, while in charge of the class of "Diseases of the Chest and Throat," in connection with the New York Dispensary, at the suggestion of a non-professional friend engaged in teaching elocution, he was led to test the efficacy of borax, or the bicarbonate of soda, in many cases of sudden hoarseness from cold, which he at once found in mild attacks acted like magic. Ten minutes before any continuation effort at speaking or singing, a lump of borax the size of a garden pea, or about three or four grains, is to be held in the mouth till it is slowly dissolved and partially swallowed -distilled, as it were, down the throat. For an hour or so it frequently renders the voice quite silvery and clear. For this purpose it possessed three special advantages. It is easily obtained, convenient to carry in the vest pocket, and perfectly harmless. Borax thus used, as one may readily prove, stimulates the secretion of saliva and makes the whole mouth and throat "water" profusely. Dr. Corson is careful not to claim too much for borax, and he remarks that neither in chronic affections of the throat, nor in acute inflammation, nor in "tonsillitis," once established, has he found borax of any special efficacy as a curative.

The use of the other remedy above named, "Nitrate of Potass.," is thus introduced: An early friend and patient of ours, since deceased, a New York dock-builder, much exposed to the weather claimed to have a secret remedy for "colds." But he was too generous to bury anything useful. At length he confessed that it consisted in covering up warmly in bed, drinking a glass of water, and sucking a piece of the nitrate of potass. -or "saltpetre," as he preferred to call it -the size of a garden-pea or a little larger, till it was slowly dissolved and swallowed. We think we improved his prescription by sweetening the water, to cover the unpalatable taste of the "saltpetre," mixing them, and swallowing both together. We also increased the dose, from gratifying personal experience, to five grains. As a courtesy from our profession to clergymen and singers, we may suggest that they will find it very convenient in traveling to carry a few five-grain powders of the nitrate of potass., prepared by the druggist for ready use.

Like the borax, it relieves the dryness of the vocal cords. It is also easily obtained in every household, and, taken in the dose recommended, is quite harmless. With the help of the extra clothing and the glass of water, it excites for a whole night a gentle perspiration, and thus, if taken at the very commencement, "breaks up the cold." It accomplishes this as do warm foot-baths, with hot teas, or Turkish or Russian baths, if used early, by opening those millions of pores of the skin which Erasmus Wilson counted through his microscope. As the aching, the weariness, and the headaches of a severe cold tell us, the blood is slightly poisoned by suppressed perspiration. And the simple lesson of cure is prompted to open these pores. We may add, that the efficacy of any of these remedies is much increased by putting on a warm shawl or great-coat, and throwing the arms about, and walking the floor rapidly till the hands and feet are in a perfect glow, before retiring to bed. -Ec.

At the window for the delivery of advertised letters special vigilance is requisite on the part of the clerks to guard against the delivery of advertised letters to unlawful and mistaken claimants. They sometimes have a difficult task, however, in persuading an applicant that the letter he inquires for is not for him, but for another individual of similar name. One of them had such a task not long since, when a daintily dressed and highly perfumed gentleman presented himself at the window and asked for a letter advertised as remaining unclaimed for and addressed to "Edward Jackson." The clerk found the mittive inquired for, but, after reading the inscription, said in a decided tone: "This letter is not for you, sir." "Not for me! Isn't it for Edward Jackson?" "Yes but it isn't for you." "My name is Edward Jackson." "I don't doubt it, sir; but, nevertheless, I am sure this letter is not for you." "How can you know that, sir?" said the exquisite, now becoming indignant; (it is astonishing by the way, on what slight provocation Post Office clerks let their angry passions rise): "If you don't give me that letter at once, I'll report you to Mr. James." The clerk, knowing that Mr. James, while he would not countenance impertinent "talking back," would be sure to sustain him if he were right, coolly answered: "I can't give you the letter unless you answer the description in the address." "Isn't my name Edward Jackson, and isn't the letter addressed to him? Don't I answer the description?" "Yes, sir, so far. But that isn't enough. The letter (reading from the address) is for Edward Jackson, colored, cook on the schooner Dirty Jane. If you answer to that description here's your letter."

But Mr. Jackson didn't take it, and vanished -leaving behind him the odor of Jockey Club perfume, and muttering imaledictions on the custom of advertising letters and on the head of the culinary artist of the gallant Dirty Jane.

Iron in the Blood. PERUVIAN IRON TONIC SYRUP. MAKES THE WEAK STRONG. The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as it digests and assimilates with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the Blood, and cures "thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and assimilated blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up as Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weakness, suffering, and debility, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and hundreds cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass. Pamphlets Free. SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, Proprietors, No. 1 Milton Place, Boston. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS GENERALLY.
