The General Conference of the "River Brethren" Church opens its sessions at Shamokin, Carroll county, Pa., to-morrow. Rev. M. H. Bowers, personally known to many of our readers, is a member of the body of clergymen representing this State in the Conference.

The borough schools have been well managed during the past winter. Apparent good has resulted from the grading, and no single school has been oppressed by numbers.

YEARS ago a family named Hoffman became the owners of a tract of land in Slim Valley, or rather on the first bench of Eshade Mountain, which forms the northern boundary of said valley.

It is said that on the announcement of the result of the Connecticut election Bonnell and Jackman, of the Register and Democrat and others held a glorious meeting. They closed the meeting with a long song which began thus:

Connecticut! Connecticut! Connecticut! My dear, Since you drubbed the Republicans we have nothing to fear.

and ended thus— Give praise, dear friends, "The King will soon enjoy his own." "The Republican branch to largeness tends, And through their camp we are bound to roam."

In consequence of the harmonious action of Massachusetts in electing a United States Senator, the said editors and a few special friends held a meeting last Saturday. Their closing song began thus—Connecticut! Connecticut! Connecticut! My dear! Massachusetts wouldn't have us, and now we are full of fear.

Quit your praise, dear friends, "The King is not soon to enjoy his own;" "How drearily we feel, friends, For Massachusetts, oh! how we must roam."

SOME years ago, when hunting deer in Licking Creek Valley, we chanced to meet in camp our fellow-townsman, Tom Hamilton. He was so cheery and full of narrative that some time afterwards we wrote a story, in which he figured as our hero.
