Imiata Sentinel La and Republican.

MIFFLINTOWN, JUNIATA COUNTY, PENNA., SEPTEMBER 9, 1874.

Poetry.

DEACON JONES. EXPERIENCE. Arkansas Conference, 1874.)

BY REEL HARTE. or right when you lays it down. Parson

That the flesh is weak and a snare; And to keep yer slow in the furrow When yer cattle begins to rare-

Ain't no sure thing. And between us, The same may be said of Prayer Why, I stood the jokes, on the river,

That I'd imed the Church, and the snicker Thet, may be ve mind, went round. The day I sat down with the mourners, In the old camp meetin' ground !

I might, at a pinch, stood more-For the boys, they represents Back And I stands as the Bock of the Law.

And it seemed like a moral scrimmage, In holdin' agin their jaw. But thar's crosses a Christian suffers,

As hez'nt got that pretense-Things with no moral purpose, Things ez hez got no sease; Things ez, somehow, no profit Will cover their first expense Ez how! I was jist last evenin' Addressin' the Throne of Grace, And mother knelt in the corner. And each of the boys in his place-When that enesking pup of Keziah's, To Jonathan's cat giv chase !

I never let on to mind 'em. I never let on to hear. But drove that prayer down the furrow

And Keziah a whisperin' "sic her!" And mother a savin' "you dare ! I asked for a light for the heathen. To guide on his narer track,

With that dog and that cat jest waltzin', And Jonathan's face jest black, When the pup made a rush, and the kitten Dropped down on the small of my back.

Yet, I think, with the Lud's assistance, I might have continered then, If gettin' her holt, that kitten Hed'nt dropped her claws in me—when It somehow reached the "Old Adam,"

And I jumped to my feet with "Amen." So, ye'r right when you says it, Parson, That the flesh is weak and a snare. And to keep yer plow in the furrow

When yer cattle begins to rare Ain't no sure thing. And between us, I says its jist so with prayer.

Miscellany.

Women as Medical Practition-entative and empirical initiation into the blind and superficial methods of established practitioners, was offered to students even of the male sex, no claim has recently been advanced in behalf of female physicians, which At tl would demand more of actuat profes-sional service for them than has been in their unchallenged possession at many periods in our present civiliza-tion, and in some of the most advanced regions, relatively, of Christendom. The fullest admission of the rights and functions now arged for women would

Any one who should take the pains cariously to investigate the teachings I history and of social customs in this respect might readily trace an unbroken series of female physicians in high re-pute, and follow the ministrations of thousands of earny and skilful women, whose names have not got into the public annals, but who served their generations in every rural hamlet of Christendom.

This research would begin and would be most richly rewarded in the local gleanings from Egyptian, Roman and greamings from Egyptian, Roman and more emphasis. Greeian history. True, more emphasis of evil fame has been laid upon the names and deeds of women in classic times whose skill lay in the concoction of poisons and love philters, and who began the dark doings which monopo-lized the application of the word witch to the female sex. But it might be successfully established that in classic times full two-thirds of all the medical service rendered, direct and indirect, was performed by women-for the most part, too, from their own wits and fat, bald headed, and short in stature und, England and Ireland expose the almost exclusive dependence of the simple population, in their straits and diseases, upon the skill and care of those too lightly called "old women." Many have been the places and occa-sions in which a wise, gentle and con-scientions woman has been the ministering and healing blessing of a wide neighborhood, in the prevalence of inintile, climatic and epidemic disease, will tell us, in broad contrast with the experience of cities in this respect, that difficulty and expense of obtaining the aid of professional doctors develops in many women, in their remote homes, a self-dependence, helped by a know-ledge of simples and the traditional fe-male lore which supplies the place of

MY COUSIN OLYMPE.

Two years ago, having attained my twentieth year, I concluded to leave Provence, and reached Paris, proposing to study law. I knew no one in the great city, but remembered to have heard that I had an aunt residing there, and I determined to seek her out, as my parents had requested me to do so before I left home.

One fine afternoon I started out on my voyage of discovery, and at last reached my destination. I found the house of my unknown aunt, and by the oncierge was told to mount the stairs, three long flights, to the third story. This I hastened to do, and the door was opened by rather a good-looking woman with piercing black eyes.

"Who do you want?" she inquired. "Mme. Thibaudier," I responded.
"I am that person," was the sharp re-tended her hand, saying:

"Only a few days. I have come to study law."

I followed my aunt into the parlor. It was miserably lighted and in great disorder. The most cheerful object was a young girl, who, in the midst of the general confusion, was scated sew-"Olympe," said Mme. Thibaudier, "here is your cousin, Monsieur Guevin. The girl immediately arose and ex-tended me her hand familiarly: "Good day, consin," she said with a your father?" she continued, turning to me. "Tell me, have you not a brother? But first come nearer the

I said. "Had I known—"
"My dear fellow," she interupted, "you are, of course, welcome at any well, I happen to know some prominent men at our bar, and will present you." I thanked her cordially.

"You will dine with us, will you not?" continued Mme. Thibaudier. "Why, mamma, we have nothing for dinner," exclaimed Olympe.

"Oh, do let us go to the theatre," exlaimed Olympe. "What are they playing?" asked my as pretty as a picture, and her mother was equally fine.

We had a delightful evening, I was charmed with the music, and much pleased to find that my little companion had won general attention-was, in fact, ouse I was surprised to see a certain Monsieur Grumelot received with every appearance of satisfaction. He was a man of at least sixty years of age, I determined, if possible, to obtain panion. into the histories of the old hamlets and secladed villages of Germany, Scot-land, England and Ireland from Scot-One day I found Olympe alone, and after a few introductory remarks, I "Answer me frankly, does the life you lead render you happy?"

"What life do you allude to?"

questioned. "This hum-drum, monotonous existence, and perpetual round of soirees, where you meet so many uncongenial people and not one real friend."

"It is fatiguing and uninteresting, but one must keep up a certain circle, von know." "Could you not find happiness else-

"Who can tell?"

your own," I urged.
"I do not care," she responded

"He is deaf," I added.

"So much the better for me." "Moreover, stupid." "So much the worse for him."

"Certainly. And now, Adolphe, we must shake hands and say adieu."
Without another word I left her, and "Madam, I am your nephew, Adolphe without another word I left her, and a length of time elapsed before we met ashes scattered by the winds. You have riches. Your dream is realized. had fallen from the moon, and then ex- repressible desire to see her. On reach- Mine is yet to come. Farewell. ing the house I entered the parlor un-"My dear nephew, pray come in. I anounced, and, to my surprise, found hope I see you well."

"Quite well," I said, "and you, aunt?" weeping bitterly.
"What is the matter?" I inquired much alarmed at her distress. "You know the news of course," she

> "I informed her that I did not." "Then you have not heard that he is "Dead! Who is dead?" I ques-"Monsieur Grumelot, He died six delight in such partial exhibitions at

"You do not seem to understand," er privilege of appearance having been accorded any spirit in this country until now, at Philadelphia, one of the most pleasing smile of welcome.

"Olympe," continued the mother.

"get a better light, and carry in some fresh wood for the fire; it is actually fresh wood for the fire; it is actually from me a man who was willing to make freezing in this dull room. How is me his lawful wife, and give me the riches I so crave?"

ing, a long crape veil enveloped her, almosthiding her face; but I recognized her, and learned she had just returned At the Opera, Trovatore, I replied.

"Have you ever heard it?" quesioned Mme. Thibaudier.

"I the Opera, Trovatore, I replied.

"Have you ever heard it?" quesioned Mme. Thibaudier.

"Have you ever heard it?" quesioned Mme. Thibaudier. from the funeral. I did not stop to surdly weak. For a time I stood and watched them. Each one that passed gave her an admiring glance, which she follable above the passed then psychic force;" failed to observe, her entire attention being given to the old man beside her. This professed visitant from another being given to the old man beside her.

His age I judged to be about seventyfive, but many efforts, painfully apparent, had been made to disguise the Spanish main; and announced that her After this propitious evening, I often returned to my aunts, but seldom saw Olympe alone. Among those who visited parent, nad been made to disguise the fact. Saddened to witness another proof of Olympe's folly, I turned away.

The following day I again occupied

The following day I again occupied

The following day I again occupied proof of Olympe's folly, I turned away.

The following day I again occupied the same post of observation, and soon saw Mme. Thibaudier and her daughter; they were almost immediately joined by the gentleman. Meeting a friend, I inquired the name of Olympe's companion.

"He is the Count de Traney, a man of immense wealth, who lives in the Rue de Gredelle in a grand mansion, with his name blazoned above the door."

"Is he married?" I questioned.
"He is a widower with two children, was the repiy. "I have, however, never seen them with him. At present he is particularly attractive to those two ladies who, perhaps do not know that particularly attractive to those two ladies who, perhaps do not know that he is considered an old roue."

For two weeks I watched Olympe daily, but resisted the temptation to join her. One morning I received a letter. It ran as follows:

My Dear Address — Congratulate me. Olympe is about to be married to the wealthy Count de Tracy. Inclosed you will find an invitation to the ceremony, which will take place to-morrow, at the Church of Saint Clothilde.

Your affectionate Aunt.

Converses easily with the guests, and does not, to the casual eye, appear to have anything to do with the affair.

There is a board partition across one corner of the room, making a shallow, triangular cabinet. Suddenly the door of this recess opens, and an indefinite luminous cloud appears, which grows into the shape of a young and comely eyes, a lace scarf on her head, and wearing a white robe in the Greek fashion, low in the neck and caught at the shoulders with a knot, leaving the arms bare and sleeves flowing. This bewitching apparition walks, not the didiently and expense of obtaining the difficulty and expense of obtaining the difficulty and expense of obtaining the difficulty and the professional deciral several professional decirate where?

"Who can tell?"

"Suppose, for instance," I continued, in the supplies the place of his presence and the resources of the gothecary shop.

The finous sections and teachings caused such construction and excitement in the infant settlement of Massachusetts in 1638, became first known, trusted and warmly level here because of her freely rendered rown sex.

In the western corner of the oldurial ground in Charlestown is a solid and well-wrought state monument, and would evolute and accountry since the demonstrated more finant accountry size.

"I make state monument, which is the professional decomposition of the continued and combined places of her serious of the first professional probably creditary's Province of Massachusetts Ray." The original inscription, so that it reads. "14,000 childs deen."

"The Golden Rose.

It is reported that the Pope, in accordance with a custom that the prince or princess, who has been money distinguished for devotion to the High State should be sent to the prince or princess, who has been money of the contract of the solid beautiful to the prince or princess, who has been money of the contract of the solid black of the prince or princess, who has been money of the prince of the solid black of the prince or princess, who has been money of the prince or princess, who has been money of the prince or princess, who has been money of the prince or princess, who has been money of the prince or princess, who has been money of the prince or princess, who has been money of the prince or princess, who has been money of the prince or princess, who has been

you that in eight days I am to marry Monsieur Grumelot, and yet I love only you."

I listened to her in surprise. I could scracely realize the full meaning of her words.

"Explain, for heaven's sake," I said;
"you love me, and yet you marry—"
"True, I intend to marry Monsieur Grumelot."

I life in Vienna.

I life in Vienna.

The best cup of coffee to be had in Europe is in Vienna. On the principal business streets there is a coffee-house in almost every block; they are not loshe vanishes, the diamond on her pretty announcement of the death of the Count throat, I he bouquet or fan in her shapely fingers, vanish also. She disappeared in London, tied the in Vienna.

The best cup of coffee to be had in Europe is in Vienna. On the principal business streets there is a coffee-house
the hair on her head; moreover, when she vanishes, the diamond on her pretty when I one day read in the paper the announcement of the death of the Count
throat, I he bouquet or fan in her shapely fingers, vanish also. She disappeared in London, to re-appear in shapely fingers, vanish also. She disappeared in London, to re-appear in business streets there is a coffee-house
the hair on her head; moreover, when she vanishes, the diamond on her pretty throat, the bouquet or fan in her shapely fingers, vanish also. She disappeared in London, to re-appear in shapely fingers best the fine is truggle with him like a thing of ordiheart least and passed her hand through the hair on her head; moreover, when she vanishes, the diamond on her pretty throat, the bouquet or fan in her shapely fingers, vanish also. She disappeared in London, to reappeared in London to redict the full mot find her elude his grasp like air, but the struggle with him like a thing of ordiheart least and passed her hand through the hair on her head; moreover, when she vanishes, the diamond on her pretty throat the hair on her head; moreover, when she vanishes, the diamond on her pretty
the hair on her head; moreover, when she vanishes, the diamond on her prett

"Who advises such a step?"

"My mother."

"But, remember, his years are double our own," I urged.
"I do not care," she responded these words:

"I do not care," she responded these words: My DEAR COUSIN-I returned to Paris to-day. My life is saddened by the death of the Count. To see you would be a consolation. Come, then to me in my retirement, and believe me now, "Then his only attration consists in as in the past, lovingly yours. OLYMPE, COUNTESS DE TRANCY.

In return the wealthy widow received this answer from me :

The Ghost in Society.

The newly fashionable manifestation of that mysterious power, whatever it be, that lies back of the perplexing medley called Spiritualism, is the ap-pearance of spirits clad apparently in the flesh and the garments of the flesh; a phenomenon for the want of a better Hairand its Uses. The Dublin University Magazine, in discourse upon human hair, says: It is not the less useful because it is word christened materialization. The little spiritualistic circles all over the days ago from an attack of spoplexy."
"Then, Olympe, you will listen to my love," I said quickly.
"You do not seem to understand,"
"You do not seem to understand," are said to rely solely on their bushy compel attention, especially as, while they are of the class most sure to cap-tivate the imagination and convert the credulons, they have "Olympe!" I exclaimed.

"It tell you," she continued, "poverty is abhorrent to me. Whatever be the means held out, honest or not, I will grasp them, happy to escape, and if I here," she resumed. "The fact is, we only receive on Thursdays, and, only receive on Thursdays, and only receive on Thursd perverted your heart and mind, and power acquired by Florence Cook, a to workers in metals, etc. Full beards perverted your heart and mind, and power acquired by Pinchec Cook, a power and your nature too honest to comprehend the strange and cruel waywardness of mine. Dream on in your own pure and better life-of one holier and more blessed than me, and when tempted to dinner, "exclaimed Olympe.

"Mynephew will excuse all ceremony, the special education of women for the various offices of medical ministration, at least to their own sex, so little reference has been had to past usages and experience in that matter, and experience in that matter, and the state of the fact, that it is only within the last two centuries that anything worthy of being called a medical education, anything better than a merely to take cold easily. The curling nature of the hair is attributed to a large probable ensure one you once loved, turn from the hair is attributed to a large probable ensure one you once loved, turn from the hair sattributed to a large probable ensure one you once loved, turn from the hair sattributed to a large probable ensure one you once loved, turn from the heaven she was a so the fitness, claims and properly of the special education of women for the various offices of medical can look over these books and allows, and look over these books and allows.

At last, atter considerable running to and bright in her dark eyes, and a bright in her dark dier; she was dressed in deep mourn- ratus, passed a current through Miss test as the condition of the tongue. Cook's body by fastening sovereigns The state of the hair depends much on soldered to wires to her arms; an ap-paratus so delicate that it indicated every movement. Yet the spirit form that of the general health. In perfect health the hair is full, glossy and rich in its hues, in consequence of the ab-sorption from the blood of a nutritive and the dame. Thibaudier.

"I was obliged to confess that I had ont, owing to my Arcadian life.

"Then to the opera we will go. Be quick, Olympia," added my aunt. "Put the desert on the table, and while this is being done you, my dear fellow, and run and engage a carriage."

Oh, mamma, let us first eat the cream, "said Olympe.

I seconded the suggertion, and the cream was eaten to the satisfaction of the party of three, and off I started in quest of a carriage.

On my return I found the two ladies arrayed in expaisite toilets. They were searcely recognizable. Olympe looked as pretty as a picture, and her mother was conally fine.

Some weeks passed. I had companied by the spirit, and the receam was eaten to the satisfaction of the party of three, and off I started in quest of a carriage.

On my return I found the two ladies arrayed in expaisite toilets. They were searced by each off the party of three, and off I started in quest of a carriage.

On my return I found the two ladies arrayed in expaisite toilets. They were searced by recognizable. Olympe looked as pretty as a picture, and her mother was conally fine.

About Smoking on Peath Beds. and was one that passed by an and sunspine, appressed by my disappointment and anxious to find relief.

Some weeks passed. I had companied to my infatuation, and the fine medium's house, but that of a gentleman of repute. Prof. Crookes, a chemist of note and an F. R. S., went with a phosphorus lamp into a dark room, accompanied by the spirit, and there saw and felt Miss Cook, in black velvet, while the apparation in white two constantly looks faded and dead. Climate exercises great influence on the curling the constantly looks faded and dead. Climate exercises great influence on the curling the constantly looks faded and dead. Climate exercises great influence on the curling the constantly looks faded and dead. Climate exercises great influence on the curling the constantly looks faded and dead. Climate exercises great influence on the curling the constantly looks faded and al who fairly earned his rank on the battle-field, who admits that he smoked on the bed that he supposed to be his death-bed, and he attributes his recovgest a conclusion quite opposite to the purpose, for many a dying drunkard on his death-bed has longed for a glass of appeared in London, to re-appear in Philadelpia about the time it would re-quire to cross the ocean and rest from But coffee and cigars, with a newspaper and a little bread-roll, constitute the commodities of the place. Sitting the fatigue of the voyage. And were she really an undying spirit, there comes the old question, Cui bono? She tells nothing of that infinite realm of spirits she but momentarily quits for these evenings in society; utters no wise or poetic saying, skipping around a drawing-room, full of keen, childish enjoyment and buoyancy, addressing one as "stoopid" another as "nice," tapping old men on the head and calling them "father," pleased alike to have the Lord's prayer around scores of little metallic or marble tables, within the room or on the sidewalk, may be seen groups of persons, of both sexes, sipping coffee, with bread and newspaper; and, if the sipper be of the male persuasion, a cigar is added to the entertainment. The next establishment may be a beer saloon. the head and calling them "father," pleased alike to have the Lord's prayer or a negro melody sung, displaying pretty kittenish ways and baby prattle—this is all! And yet Dr. Child,her chief apostle in Philadeiphia, considers this "the strongest possible evidence of the immortality of the soul," and the venerable Robert Dale Owen sits through these seances with mulifited through these seances with uplifted soul, looking to the day when he shall be freed, to share a condition that furnishes no higher representatives than this!

ornamental. It is a bad conductor of as a spy; in which capacity he went heat, and keeps the head warm in freely through their lines, penetrated winter and cold in summer. It wards into the city, and conveyed messages to off the effect of the conductor of the city, and conveyed messages to keat, and keeps the head warm in winter and cold in summer. It wards off the effect of the sun; and we find negroes exposing themselves without head covering to its burning rays in the term of the rough their lines, penetrated into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and we find into the city, and conveyed messages to the besieged, and from them to the results of the sun; and the thought, "These people in the serious damage. A great diversity of opinion prevails with respect to the city and the thought, "These people in the serious damage. A great diversity of opinion prevails with respect to the serious damage. A great diversity of opinion prevails with respect to the serious damage. A great diversity of opinion prevails with respect to the serious damage. A great diversity of opinion prevails with respect to the serious damage. A great diversity of opinion preva tropical climate without the slightest their camp vast quantities of coffee, injury, and some tribes of wild Arabs, Kulcziski asked for the coffee, and the who wear neither tarboosh nor turban, privilege of opening a coffee-house in heads of hair as protection against sunstroke. The moustache is a natural respirator, defending the lungs against the inhalation of cold and dust. It is pared the beverage in the Turkish way.

Vienna, as the reward for his hazardagainst cold, and is equally in warm citizens soon acquired a taste for it, and climates a safeguard for those parts from that day to this they have been to show how much good a little general rous kindness might do. But yesterday the revised constitution which deals with the law of marriage. There have been already, it is stated, numerous "I know boys," said a man, shaking under this article, which prescribe that no impediment whatever, founded on religious considerations, or on supposed want of means, is to be put in the prescribe that as far as you can see 'em!"

"Well, I think I know boys," said a lady smiling, "and I find almost all boys can be trusted, if you come at boys can be trusted, if you come at them from the right side."

When you do a mean thing, or a dishonorable thing, first remember that you are injuring born before wedlock. Lastly, it renders legally recognizable marriage contracted by Swiss persons anywhere, if it be valid according to the lex loci. As certain cantonial governments have tion; they are warned that all such obstructions are illegal, advised that any deposits of money received since the 29th of May, when the constitution came into force should be series of the series came into force, should be restored, and further are informed that a special law is being prepared designed to carry

Stories of good deeds and compenery to that smoke. His arm, shattered by a ball at Cherubusco, or some other are pleasant to read, besides, affording well-won field of the Mexican war, had been amputated; but the symptoms were unfavorable, and the surgeons plainly intimated that the brave soldier had fought his last battle. As the case seemed incurable they made no objection to his request of being permitted.

are pleasant to read, besides, affording excellent examples to the rising generative ation. They always happen a long way off, like the generality of eclipses, transits and other events of high characteristic and the same, and the other five failed.

The art of dyeing woolen, cotton and solk materials has been rapidly improbate houses than in any other crop. So now seemed incurable they made no objection to his request of being permitted.

Buried Alive in a Bird's Nest.

It is not alone in small neighborhoods that scandal exclusively operates. Out in the world it interferes the Megapodius, which in the size of with a thousand things. There is a bird in New Guinea called the Megapodius, which in the size of its eggs and its manner of hatching them, must be considered extraordinary. It is not larger than one of our ordinary fowls, but its eggs are three inches long by two and a half in diameter. It does not attempt to sit on them. A colony of birds lay their eggs together in a large mound, in the hottest of March, and leave them to be hatched by the sun. The mound is made of sand, loose earth, and sticks and leaves, which latter by their decay increase the least. The mounds are wonderfully large, being ten feet high and about sixty feet in circumference at the base. The young birds come out at a hole in the top. The mother birds wait on the trees around till their clicks are large around till their clicks are larged mound. And missed the lord returned, the magpie began to say to him, 'My louf, and missed the world and in his dish besides his own. How much harted, how much harted, how much hartered, how much hartered, how much hartered, how much hartered to world and are quite shocked at the result which abouninable interference has sixty feet in circumference at the base. The young birds come out at a hole in the top. The mother birds wait on the trees around till their clord that the otter had eaten it. And when the lord returned, the magpie began to say to him, 'My louf, and missed the lord went to his pond, and missed the low when the house, and missed the low when the house, and the the world, and the eech.' Then the lord that the otter had eaten it. And when the lord returned, the magpie began to say to him, 'My louf, and missed the lord went to his pond, and missed the low when the house have the hot house, and the went to his pond, and missed the low when the house have the hot house, and the trade she how when the hot house, and the trade she there were hered easily; and that the world it interferes the house. The wound is made of sand, loose earth, and suggest the sand are quite shocked at the result was that there was quarrelated to Youths' Column.

Only a Grave.

Only a Mother's sail, sail face, Fre set close to the window pane. That she might see that lonely grave. Where her darling long had inco.

But she patiently while her summons bon With a smile that is bender and fend. As she dreams or the blies so surely hers When she enters the "Bright Beyond."

equally filled with persons of both sexes within and without. The Vienna peoin long, crooked rows, and then moving ple have a great penchant for taking them down by giving the first one a their beer or coffee out of doors, under the shade of a tree or an awning. In experiment to him, and he never can the shade of a tree or an awning. In the public parks there are whole acres of metallic tables placed under the block knocks over the whole regiment.

Saxony, 3,000; blovaria 9,000; block knocks over the whole regiment.

Saxony, 3,000; other countries, 9,000; the total European productions being block knocks over the whole regiment. trees, and thousands of all classes ar- It makes me think of so many things perfectly familiar with the Turkish language, was employed by John Sobieski, King of Poland, during the light of the suburban village, and crept light of the fields and markets of the fields and marke warmed and fed, and cared for in every the hospital surgery, met Paddy Doyle, way. He was so bright and intelligent, the orderly, and asked him which he so eager to learn, every one said he considered the most dangerous of the would make a grand man. After a while many cases then in the hospital. he was sent away to a pleasant home on a great fruit-farm; and letters and excellent reports came back from him.

"That, sir," said Paddy as with an indicative jerk of the thumb, he pointed to where on the table, lay a case of sur-

I have been thinking I would tell this gical instruments. our minister, with a sad face, told the habits and evil influence had carried relatives. We no longer hear of ghosts the day, and the boy had broken into prancing around in the old fashion The Swiss government finds it necesit, and run away. The minister told sary to issue a special proclamation, the boys that the worst of it was, that bringing to the notice of all citizens, this bad boy had robbed all other boys convent school, and make their exits and and especially of the cantonal adminis of their chance of being helped, by trations, the full bearing of that part of making people afraid to trust them. of well-bred people.

not against mankind."

sea; and one day the fortress, the light-house, and even the cliff itself, went down and were swallowed up. That but two lost their lives and the other part fell in and he was smothered. He was afterward found in the very act of digging—buried alive in a bird's nest.

Three cables are now in working order across the Atlantic, and a fourth, and also a fifth one will soon be laid. One is led to hope that the incidental competition will reduce the rates of transmitting messages very materially.

Chales Dickens said that "The first the fact that the demand for leeches the supply. The marches and streams of Central and Southern Europe are nearly external revelation of the day rot in man is a tendency to lark and lounge; to be at street corners without intelligible reason, to be going anywhere when prone to suspect evil is mostly looking to his neighbor for what he sees in him prone to suspect evil is mostly looking to his neighbor for what he sees in him that the demand for leeches the caternal revelation of the day rot in man is a tendency to lark and lounge; to be at street corners without intelligible reason, to be going anywhere when to the Swedish, which is now most generally used. The American species to have an intention of performing a number of tangible duties to-morrow or the day after.

Editor and Proprietor.

Undertakers' motto-Circumstances alter burial cases.

There is only one way in this world after all—the right way.

A Washington widow who is known to have $10,000 is reported to have re-fused eight offers of marriage from discharged clerks in one day and two

A friend invited Horace Greeley to call and see him, ending the invitation with, "If I am not at home you can always see my wife." "Oh," said the philosopher, "I don't think it's well to make a practice of that," And it isn't.

Russia produces annually, 195,000 tons of flax; Austria, 45,005; France, 40,000; Belgium, 20,000; Great Britain. 18,000; Italy, 12,000; Bavaria 9,000;

While New York city has 950,000 intrees, and thousands of all classes arrange themselves around every fair evening. Sunday inclusive, to drink coffee or beer—and a few wine. The use of coffee in Vienna was first introduced in 1683, by one Kulcziski, a Pole, who, being the interpreter of a Constantinople trading company, and perfectly familiar with the Turkish poor, and without father or mother.

siege of Vienna by the Turks in 1683, up, just at dusk, to the lighted winkets of Europe shows an average wheat as a spy; in which capacity he went dows of a pleasant home, to listen to erop in regard to quality and growth;

The London Spectator notes the singular fact that with the increase of culture the ghosts have become as convenboys how it had ended; that early tionally wellbehaved as their surviving playing malicious tricks upon people; but they have become as staid and well-

Bayard Taylor, writing from Aberbeen already, it is stated, numerous appeals made to the central authority his head; "they're all alike. Trust'em of Shakespeare's famous tragedy: So much of the old moorlands have been reclaimed that Macbeth's witches would now have some difficulty in find-ing a place to meet. From the Gram-

THERE are two stories of famous light. a magnificent little Hebe arrayed in sathitherto refused to recognize any such marriages when celebrated without previous sanction from the authorities of at least the husband's canton; while others have required caution money from those who had no real property, and continue to exact it ever since the constitution passed; again, a few object to acknowledging mixed marriages except under special ecclesiastical sanction; they are warned that all such Cathedral, which had been a constant This was in 1759; but centuries be- eyesore to the Germans, was recently This was in 1759; but centuries be-fore that the Roman writers tell us of removed, a reward of $75 having been A reverend gentleman of Worcester propounds the conundrum: "Would you smoke on your death-bed?" There is a gallant officer in this city, a general who fairly earned his rank on the it. But they never thought to inquire what the great ereeping sea, that washed against the foundations, was doing, or the little springs down deep in the ground, that were mining a way to the ting therefor a German flag of black seemed incurable they made no objection to his request of being permitted to smoke a cigar. Whether it was a coincidence, or whether, as he insists, the soothing influence of the tobacco wrought a beneficial change in his nervous system, he fell into a calm sleep for the first time in several days, and from that hour grew better until completely restored to health. Then, again, there is the well-authenticated case of old General Herkimer, who puffed away at his pipe until the blood gushed from the several arteries of his leg, torn by a cannon shot. No doubt, sensibly remarks the New York Daily Necs, as a rule, people in their death agonies have no spettle for to bacco; but neither as a rule do they care for roast beef and plumb pudding. As an argument against smoking the reverend gentleman's remark has recipied again. The peakage with a server of roast beef and plumb pudding. As an argument against smoking the reverend gentleman's remark has recipied and some place to go to open until they separated again. The peakage with a server of roast beef and plumb pudding. As an argument against smoking the reverend gentleman's remark has recipied for the first time in the latter half of the lith center, better that of the latter half of the lith center, between the part of the second pay the remarks the New York Daily Necs, as a rule, people in their death agonies have no spetite for to bacco; but neither as a rule do they care for roast beef and plumb pudding. As an argument against smoking the reverend gentleman's remark has resignificance if it had it invigit sure. crave for roast beef and plumb putding. As an argument against smoking instructions not to open until they seplady who had a magnie in a cage, which the reverend gentleman's remark has no significance; if it had, it might suga deed for one sixth of a rich silver Now it happened that the lord of the became the fashiou for young children Now it happened that the lord of the household preserved a large cel in a pond, and kept it very carefully in order to give it to some of his lords, or of his the parents were puzzled to detect the friends in case they should visit him. the cause, when some one took into his hatched, and then each leads off her own brood. How each knows its own is a mystery. The eggs are much relished by the natives, but not at all by Europeans. A native of Cape York ventured one day into a nest for eggs, and while he was exploring the hidden riches of the large mound the upper part fell in and he was smothered. He was afterward found in the very act of digging—buried alive in a bird's nest.

Never put much confidence in such as their very propensity propensity when it saw any people who were baid, or had large foreheads, the magpie said to them, 'Ah! you told about the eel.'

The Dry Rot in Man.

Chales Dickens said that "The first external revelation of the day rot in man is a tendency to lark and lounge; to be at street corners without intelliging to be a superior or had large foreheads, the magpie said to them, 'Ah! you told about the eel.'

The Dry Rot in Man.

Chales Dickens said that "The first external revelation of the day rot in man is a tendency to lark and lounge; to be at street corners without intelliging to be a superior or had large foreheads, the magpie said to them, 'Ah! you told about the eel.'

September in the mud of shallow waters, from whence they are taken and transferred to artificial ponds, constructed expressly to hatch them. What will make the experiment a profitable one is smoothly.

Chales Dickens said that "The first external revelation of the day rot in man is a tendency to lark and lounge; to be at street corners without intelliging to be a superior or had large foreheads, the magpie said to them, 'Ah! you told about the eel.'

Chales Dickens said that "The first external revelation of the day rot in man is a tendency to lark and lounge; the first part of the mud of shallow waters, from whence they are taken and transferred to artificial ponds, constructed to them, 'Ah! you told about the eel.'

September in the mud of shallow waters, from whence they are taken and transferred to artificial ponds, constructed to them, 'Ah! you told about the eel.'

September in the