PENN'A. R. R. TIME TABLE. Passenger trains leave Mifflin Station as follows:

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE. Citizens are empty. The river is lower than low water mark.

THE IMPROVED GRADING ON Cherry street is nearly completed.

People are talking about Thanksgiving, Christmas, and turkeys.

Another fresh arrival of goods at Todd's, in Patterson.

The revival in the P. M. Church still continues with unabated interest.

Mifflintown has more payments than any other town of its size in the State.

The new hotel on the corner of Main and Bridge streets is an ornament to the town.

The Common Schools of the borough expect to give an exhibition about the 15th days.

The School's haul from ore from their mines in Slim Valley to Millin railroad station.

The Town Council have been ordering board walks for the south side of Washington street.

Cash will tell if you don't believe it, go to Todd's Clothing Store, and you will see it.

The Democrats do not talk of the policy they are going to inaugurate; it is who are to gather up the "bones and shins."

H. L. Smith, of Fayette township had a herd of 28 shoats to die, a few days ago of some unknown disease.

Mr. Samuel Baker, has tendered his resignation, as Superintendent of the Middle Division of the P. C. R. R.

There will be no more floods of water down Cherry and Washington streets in time of rain, from the country. The water hereafter will run down Cross street.

By arrangement among the clergy Rev. M. Blackwelder will preach a Thanksgiving sermon on Thanksgiving day, at 11 o'clock A. M., in the Lutheran church.

Folds are not getting mended this season. There are a number of interesting patches in town, who ought to. But what's the use of talking?

Mrs. William Fackel died suddenly, about 4 o'clock last Friday morning, at the residence of her son, Alonzo Fackel, in Patterson. She was aged 72 years, 2 mos. and 1 day.

John Soda, in the employ of the Wilson brothers, had a leg broken between the knee and ankle joints, on Monday evening while making an effort to mount a horse.

The Teachers' Institute of Juniata county will be held in Mifflintown during the week commencing Monday, December 11, 1874. Prof. Robert Curry, Deputy State Superintendent, Prof. J. W. Shoemaker, and others will be present as instructors.

Ninety-six lessons for $12.00. All instructors in the vocal and instrumental departments have been secured. Good boarding at from $5 to $1 per week. For circulars and further particulars address—

E. C. ROYER, Director.

Last Friday morning, about 10 o'clock, the horse of E. R. Gillford, in Sperry Hill township, took fire on the stable, from a fire, and was burned to ashes. The horse was worth twenty or twenty-five hundred dollars. The fire took place at that hour of the day when men are in the fields, in fair weather. Friday was a fair day. Men for miles around saw the smoke and flames, and hastened to the burning house, where they gave all the assistance they could in removing the furniture, and in saving adjacent buildings from the fire.

Sheriff Koushe had a pair of the pants hanging on a peg some six or eight feet from the door, in a cell in the jail. The cell door was a grate of iron bars, and securely locked. The Sheriff had a fishing pole, that lay in the corridor along the cell. On the morning of Friday a week two tramps, who had lodged in prison the night just gone, escaped the pants and fishing pole, and put the two together and drew the pants into the hall. A third tramp informed the Sheriff of the theft. The thieves were arrested, the pants restored to their lawful owner, and the vagabonds lodged in jail. They were kept there until last Saturday, during which time they had access to the jail-yard during the day, and became so well acquainted with it that on the afternoon of that day, while the Sheriff was away, they climbed up the inside to the top of the yard wall, and down the jail-posting on the outside to the pavement and lot. A number of citizens saw them, and John Mozor hailed them as they reached Main street, and asked them to stop; but they didn't, but scattered in a hurry, and whether they have yet come together no one here knoweth.

You no longer have any reason to wear a troubled look about "that pain in your side," or your lame back, or your bursting headache, for Pain Cure Oil is now the Standard Remedy for all painful complaints. Use nothing else, for "There is nothing like it."

Sold wholesale and retail by Banks & Hancock, Mifflintown.

THE Independent could not be ranked among the happy Stengers. It was not in their boat. When the "Solomon Books" sailed for Salt River, it came with a ponderous razor, and claimed passage as Wister's barber; but as it would not stand an examination as to how often and how closely it had shaved the General, it was left behind. There was no place on the "Solomon Books" for doubtful barbers.

CARD OF THANKS. SPERRY HILL TOWNSHIP, Nov. 14, 1874.

Mr. Editor—Allow me, through the medium of the Sentinel and Republican, to tender the sincere thanks of myself and family to the friends and neighbors whose prompt and vigorous assistance enabled me to save the on-buildings and a greater portion of the furniture from my house, burned on Friday morning last.

E. R. GILLFORD.

Neighboring News. MIFFLINTOWN, AS PER LEWISTOWN PAPERS.

Reedsville boasts of a man who jumped 30 feet at a single "standing jump."

Two young men from the East End were driving along the dam above Reedsville in a buggy, on Saturday night, when a quarrel took place, and the one attempting to knock the other down, both went into the water, which cooled their passions considerably, and after a brief consultation they mutually agreed to pursue the even tenor of their way.

On Sunday night last the Presbyterian parsonage in this place was entered by one or more hungry thieves, who probably gained access through the cellar hole in front. Having deliberately eaten a meal from the larder in the cellar, they bagged the provisions which were left, and then proceeded to proceed through the rooms of the front house, both up and down stairs, securing Dr. McLean's overcoat, all his winter stockings, a basket belonging to one of his daughters, in all amounting to about $30. Escape was likely effected through the back kitchen window, the whole affair having been carried on so quietly as to leave the married of the parsonage in undisturbed repose until morning.

The carelessness with which some men shoot in the woods was again exemplified on Monday last, some one having fired a load of buckshot at Joe Reed on that day while hunting on Jack's Mountain, near Reedsville. Mr. Reed escaped without injury, but did not discover the person who fired at him. No man ought to discharge a rifle or gun in the woods without being certain that he covers game of some kind.

The new bridge at Lewistown will cost the county $34,000. Sixty persons have subscribed stock to a brewers' association.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY, AS PER HUNTINGDON PAPERS.

One of the most sudden deaths which it has been our painful duty to record, was that of Samuel Sikkinter, of Barre township. The deceased on Monday, the 2nd inst., had been attending to his accustomed duties on his farm. In the evening he went to bed, apparently in the enjoyment of good health, and about 2 o'clock the next morning he was found in his bed a corpse. The deceased was a good citizen, an indulgent parent, and had left a large family to mourn his sudden death.

On Tuesday morning about half past one o'clock an attempt was made to break into the Francis Hardware store of this place. While a train of ears was passing the thieves had by the use of a "jimmie" succeeded in breaking one of the large panes of plate glass in the front of the store. The noise aroused Mr. Lewis, who fought them the burglars and they made off, before they effected an entrance.

Huntingdon County Institute will convene in Huntingdon, in the Court House, on the 23rd inst.

A citizen of Juniata county, who had gone to considerable trouble to raise sugar cane this season, lost the fruits of his labor in a very short time, a few days ago. He had manufactured about 26 gallons of sorghum molasses from his cane. In getting it home from where it had been manufactured, he managed to accumulate an undue quantity of liquid poison about his person, and the wagon he was driving went into a rut and upset the barrel containing the molasses. The bung flew out and so did the molasses.

A young lady in Milwaukee fainted away when her lover called and found her barefooted, but we know of some in this section who would have kicked his hat off and bid him a good morning.

PERRY COUNTY, AS PER BLOOMFIELD PAPERS.

On last Thursday Mr. John Wilson, an aged gentleman residing near Millford, this county, fell dead in the cornfield where he had been husking. He had just finished his last shock, and was in the act of tying up the fodder, when he dropped down and instantly expired.

On Tuesday last Mr. David Souder, of Centre township, made a remarkable escape from injury to himself and horses at the railroad crossing near the mill at Newport. Mr. Souder was coming out of that place with a four-horse team, and when on the race bridge, stopped and listed for coming trains. Not hearing any signals, or any noise of the cars, he drove along, and just as his wheel horses were going on to the track a train appeared on the curve within 50 feet of him. As quick as thought he sprang from the saddle and seized the bodies of the front horses, and pulled them from the track. He succeeded in getting them off just in time, the engine grazing the harness of the off horse and tearing the harness. It was a remarkably narrow escape, and in this case the engineer was evidently to blame for not giving the usual signal. Not only Mr. S., but others in that vicinity, say neither bell nor whistle was blown, and the air was so foggy and smoky that it was impossible to see but a short distance.

Last Friday afternoon, as Mr. Samuel Moore, of Newport, was in the act of placing the springpole on a load of corofodder, at his farm in Ilwaco township, while sitting on the end to hook it in the galloways, the pole broke, and Mr. Moore fell to the ground, breaking his collar bone and injuring his spine. He is still at the farm, being too badly injured to be sent home.

Some weeks ago we visited the coal mine lately opened by Mr. Matchett, near Mt. Patrick, this county. The vein bids fair to increase in size as the mine is opened. The coal appears to be of a semi-bituminous quality, and burns rapidly. Coal can be seen in the Susquehanna river during low water, a few yards from the mine of Mr. Matchett. We hope he will receive liberal assistance to enable him to open this mine and see whether coal can be found in paying quantities.
