

B. F. SCHWEIER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

The first point in President Grant's late message is the financial question and the resumption of specie payment.

The question of Expiration and Nationality is next introduced, and is reported not in the working order it should be; defects are pointed out.

The National Treasury and the report of its Secretary is referred to. The failure of revenues to meet the obligation to add one per cent. per annum to the sinking fund induces His Excellency to suggest to Congress the propriety of readjusting the tariff so as to increase the revenue.

The War Department, The Navy, Aiding Science, The Education of the People, The Report of the Post Master General, are all discussed.

Affairs in Louisiana, Ku-Klux Outrages, Troops in Southern States, The Trouble in Arkansas, The Law to be Enforced, are all closely considered.

We will quote the President in full on these last named points in next issue.

The reports of the Attorney General and the Interior Department are reviewed. The Indians, Pensions, Department of Agriculture, Centennial, Civil Service Reform, and Cheap Transportation follow in discussion.

The financial condition of the District of Columbia is stated, and the suggestion made that the proportion of the expenses to be borne by the General Government in the government of the District should be clearly defined.

The mouth of the Mississippi river is the point on which his Excellency closes his able message.

The advocates of a speedy resumption of specie payment seem to believe that if only the money in circulation were gold and silver, the panicky times would be over.

But none of them have yet told the country how that if every dollar of the National Bank circulation and Greenback circulation were turned into gold and silver, the times would be bettered.

It would not make money plentier if it were all coin, further than perhaps the premium on coin might add, which would be such a trifle that it would not be worth taking into consideration in a national distribution. It would not pay any more of our debts.

Our money is good everywhere among ourselves, and will pay all our debts except those in foreign countries. Let those be met by coin payment as stipulated.

When they are paid the accumulation of coin in the United States Treasury will be rapid, and can be used in the payment or redemption of our circulating medium at home.

If in the meantime private business houses and corporations see proper to resume specie payment, or pay specie instead of national or greenback paper, there is nothing to prevent them from so doing.

The sense of the country generally is against a speedy and forced resumption of specie payment. Time itself and the laws of trade will bring about this desirable end.

The late elections have given keener tone to the Southern sentiment that has been arrayed against the North.

An editor wrote the following concise statement of what is needed to help the people and the Government out of the present financial slough.

How well he touches the centre of the trouble the intelligent reader will realize as he reads it. The regret is that the credit of the writer cannot be affixed to it; no matter though, as it is the truth of the article that distinguishes it.

Economy is the magic power which is to bring back this country to plenty and prosperity. No tinkering with currency, no success or overflow of political parties will do it—a wise, patient and persistent economy will accomplish it, and nothing else will.

The people are learning and beginning to practice it, and the Government must learn it, or the men who now occupy places of power and honor will be cast out and be known no more forever.

Individuals are cutting down their expenses and there seems a hope of returning to the good old times when economy was deemed a virtue and extravagance a sin.

The Government must fall into line and follow their example. All expenses must be cut down to the lowest point. Salaries must be reduced. The servant must not be considered greater than his master.

The false idea of dignity founded on outward show must be dispelled, and that noble dignity born of Republican simplicity, such as prevailed among the Fathers of the Republic, must take its place.

This will bring us back to prosperity and good times; nothing else will. We are now reaping the harvest of extravagance and folly. What we deemed good times and called prosperity was not real.

We were but spending the means accumulated by years of economy. They gone. We must go back to first principles and tread patiently the same road we did before. Many experiments may be tried but this only will win.

INHUMAN MEANNESS—In a certain town in Rhode Island the parents of two children, a boy and a girl, died, leaving them to the cold charities of the world.

A meeting of the local authorities was held to decide upon some action that would relieve the town of the expense of supporting the children.

The matter was discussed freely, and at an adjourned meeting held at a private residence the children were required to be present, and this was the way in which the case was managed.

The boy was to go into an adjoining room, where he would find a man asleep, in a certain pocket of whose clothing was a five cent piece, which he was to bring to the committee.

The boy obeyed the order. The girl was sent to another room where a woman was sleeping, from whose pocket a piece of money or scrip was to be taken.

She also obeyed the instructions given her, and the children were afterwards arrested upon a charge of petty larceny, tried, found guilty, and sentenced to the State Reformatory School during their minority.

The city is that the Providence Journal has not stated the name of the town where the above case of conspiracy against virtue and law was planned and executed.

The town, the names of the parties from Court to counsel, and from counsel to witnesses should be published. There is no scorn too deep and no language too emphatic to properly condemn the proceedings in the case.

When the courts are thus prostituted there is no safety for people. When the forms of law are thus used to defeat the object of law, it is high time that a close attention is directed to the method of procedure in every case in court.

Such cases are simple cases of satire on law and justice, and to tolerate them is worse than for a season to be thrown into a state of anarchy.

was in the bank making a deposit at the time, and was not permitted to leave until the robbers retired.

They were in the bank fifteen minutes. Those who observed the bank closed supposed that Mr. Taylor had gone to dinner.

The bank is in an out-of-the-way place, and not much noticed by the public. The robbers had been lurking about the town and county for two weeks.

They fired several shots as they departed, and rode at full speed in the direction of the Tennessee river.

The sheriff, with a large posse, has gone in pursuit. A citizen of Trenton, N. J., named Isaac P. Woodruff, was knocked down and robbed, just outside of the city, on the night of the 8th inst.

He bled profusely and reached his home a short distance beyond with great difficulty. Another citizen was badly beaten in another part of the city.

These matters have created some excitement and have led to the call of a special meeting of Council to increase the police force.

A farmer named Klein was murdered and robbed on Monday night, the 7th inst., on the turnpike road, at a point called Notch, about two miles from Scranton, this State.

While going through the Notch of mountains, six men sprang from the roadside and seized the farmer's horses and pulled him from the wagon, kicked and beat him, and shot him through the heart.

He was then robbed of his watch and money, and the murderers disappeared in the woods. The grand jury of Frankfort, Ky., have found an indictment against Thos. C. Jones, present Clerk of the Court of Appeals, charging him with usurping an office established by the constitution, he being ineligible from the fact that he accepted a challenge to fight a duel.

Jones has given bonds in $2,000, and the case was set for trial on Tuesday, the 15th.

Notice has been filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, by Benjamin Balch, of Newburyport, of his intention to apply to the next general court for an act of incorporation for the Darien Ship Canal Company, with a capital not to exceed $100,000,000.

Two passenger coaches of a train on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad were upset by the breaking of a chain plate near Uniontown, Pa., on Wednesday evening, the 9th inst.

Six passengers were seriously injured. The large saw and planing mill of L. R. Hummel & Co., at Selingsgrove, this State, was burned Wednesday night, the 9th inst.

Loss, $22,000; insurance probably $16,000. It was the work of incendiaries. Robert L. Willmer and George Rankin, notorious counterfeiters, were arrested at St. Louis on the night of the 10th inst., after desperate resistance.

S. S. Watts, who was assisting the detectives, was badly wounded. Three thousand dollars of counterfeit money was captured.

A distinct earthquake shock was felt Thursday night, the 10th inst., in the upper part of New York, along the Harlem road, along the Hudson, and at Stamford, Connecticut.

Families were aroused by their beds shaking, crockery rattling, etc. The suit of Beecher and Tilton has been postponed till the first Monday in January.

The Beecher-Tilton Scandal. One of the suits that grew out of the Beecher-Tilton scandal has been settled.

transaction, and to save any such trouble, he wanted me to write an expression of my feeling toward him.

I went up to the library and wrote the letter which Moulton published. Miss Proctor also testified—I never went out with Mr. Beecher but once, I believe, in my life, and that was for two or three hours in the middle of the day to see some pictures in Brooklyn.

I remember going with him to New York to see some pictures from Newport eleven or two or three o'clock; I went to the studio of a Mr. Johnson, whose sister I had known, and that is the only time I ever went anywhere with Mr. Beecher.

I was two or three times at his house with friends to see pictures and engravings; I remember going one evening with the late Henry J. Raymond to visit Mr. Beecher on his invitation.

Mr. Raymond called for me at Mr. Bowen's, and on going over we looked at engravings and pictures for an hour or two, with various other friends, among others Mr. and Mrs. Benedict, Mr. and Mrs. Love, and some others whom I have now forgotten.

I think perhaps on another occasion I went to Mr. Beecher's house in the morning to see engravings, of which he had a large collection; I remember being in his study for a few moments; these were the only occasions on which I was in Mr. Beecher's house or study; of course I met him at church and at concerts, &c., but I never accompanied him at any other time but this once to which I have referred.

Notes from the South. How glad we were this morning to see an old friend step in! He was a friend we had not seen for some time.

We were to see such familiar faces in this far country where we get no warm greetings, and where our neighbors are shy. I mean the excellent SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN, which arrived by overland route this morning.

His looks are grey, it is true, yet his eye is not dim, nor his natural force abated. He looks well, and his voice is as strong as in the days of his youth.

Hail old friend! we bid you a hearty welcome. Our old grandire took that paper from its incipency. When death closed the term of his subscription, my father continued it.

I can remember, while yet a little white-haired boy, going to Spruce Hill post-office, kept by the much loved Dr. Joseph Kelly, for the SENTINEL. The office has been removed to Conn's store, and the former postmaster is now passing the evening of his days at Port Royal, among his friends, beloved by all.

The paper was as familiar to us as a household pet. In the long winter evenings my father would read it aloud; nor would we tire until the last item of interest was finished.

How my father loved that paper! It was Whig, and so was he, of the "real old sort," following in the wake of his old sire. Then the paper cast its destinies with the Republican party, and so did he.

He never flinched, though the paper brought to him at times the news of the terrible defeats of his party. He loved the paper, because of its manly, honest, outspoken sentiments.

That paper has always been true to its principles. Some of its former editors have flinched—have gone after the phantom of Democracy, but the SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN is still true.

It has had good managers in the past, but never has it looked better, nor was managed better than at present. All honor to its present glorious chief. Hold on, then, to those glorious principles.

Don't flinch, though Democratic thunder roars and its lightning flash around your head. This is only a little "squall." It will soon expend itself. Carry the banner to victory. "Truth crushed to earth will rise again!"

My father took that paper for twenty-six years. He loved it and read it and followed its teachings, and we boys did likewise. It was our political food.

It fed us well. There was no "empty sound," or "soft soap"—it gave good wholesome political "pap." Is it any wonder, then, we wear the political mantle of our ancestors? We had on it to the principles for which our grandire fought at the battle of Lexington.

We have received so very large a number of letters from all parts of the country from those most largely interested, urging a postponement if all the tickets be not sold by the 20th, that we feel strengthened in our selection of the ticket-holders and the Public Library, to make the postponement. Under the circumstances, we have determined, in the interest of all parties, to postpone the concert and drawing to Saturday, February 27, 1875, at which time the drawing will take place; and as a guarantee of good faith toward ticket-holders, we pledge ourselves to refund to any ticket-holder his money, upon presentation of his ticket, should the drawing fail to come off at the day now fixed.

The past, we feel assured, will be sufficient guarantee and durability to be the best I ever saw, and I can with pleasure recommend it to any one in any one of a first-class parlor organ.

BEATTY & PLOTTS' GOLDEN TONGUE PARLOR ORGANS.

THE Beatty & Plotts celebrated Golden Tongue Parlor Organ, the best parlor organ now in use.—Herald.

ST. CLAIR, Pa., Dec. 6, 1874. Messrs. Beatty & Plotts, Gents:—I have received the organ as sent by your firm to me, and I have had it examined, and it gives ample satisfaction. JOHN SIXTY.

MARSHOFT CTR., Pa., Oct. 16, 1874. The Beatty & Plotts celebrated Golden Tongue Parlor Organ is by far the best parlor organ in use. I have carefully examined it, and find its tone, workmanship and durability to be the best I ever saw, and I can with pleasure recommend it to any one in any one of a first-class parlor organ. PROF. O. H. USHER.

Messrs. Beatty & Plotts, Gents:—Having had one of your Golden Tongue Parlor Organs for six months past, I thought before recommending it to give it a fair trial, and am happy to testify that it surpasses all that have been said or advertised about it. I have had professors of music and celebrated organists come and try it, and one and all say that it is one of the sweetest and best toned instruments in the market. It has taken the shine out of all the others around here. I am perfectly satisfied with it, and if I could not get another of the same kind, money could not entice me to part with it. You may publish this if you see fit, as my organ can be tried by any one wishing to do so, in proof of what I say.

A. S. RICHARDS, Late editor of the Tamaqua Courier, now at Bethlehem, Pa. Messrs. Beatty & Plotts, of Washington, N. J., are gentlemen of enterprise and whose presence would be a credit to any community.—Harrisburg News (N. J.) Herald, 1873.
