LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

REV. MR. SHERRARD, last Sabbath morning preached from the 19th verse of the VII chap. of the Book of Joshua.

The pleasant and interesting introductory to the sermon brought the mind to dwell on Achan, he, who had "trespassed in the accused thing," and thereby unconsciously to himself became a noted historical character of the Bible.

The secret sin of Achan was the Theme, and was considered by the reverend gentleman under the following heads: 1st. "The history of the sin." It was elaborately traced out from the fall of Jericho, to the fall of the army of the Jews before the city of Ai.

2d. "The nature of the sin." This grand diversion was subdivided and considered.

3d. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

4th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

5th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

6th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

7th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

8th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

9th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

10th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

11th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

12th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

13th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

14th. "The sin was a transgression of the covenant." Covenant had been made with God, Achan had violated them for self, for gain, for gold.

The fourth and last division was delivered under the following analysis: 4th. "The consequences of Achan's secret sin."

1st. It brought trouble upon the whole nation. The troubles of the Jews as a consequence of the sin of one man was recounted with marked effect.

2d. It brought destruction upon the author of the sin. It brought terrible dishonor and death to him. Beware! Secret sins bring dishonor and terrible death to all who indulge in them.

3d. It brought ruin upon the family of Achan. It brought dishonor and death upon his family. Secret sin now will bring dishonor, ruin, and death to the Family, to Society, to the Church. How many here have secret sins?

If you have a moderately disposed boy you will understand without trouble how well the one described by the Detroit Free Press in the following local meets his case: A Case avenue painter procured an outfit of oil paints and brushes for his eight year old son the other day, the lad having developed a talent for drawing. Little was seen of the boy for two or three days, and then he took his father and mother by the hand, and led them into the parlor, and triumphantly pointed to the proofs of his artistic skill. The gift paper on the walls formed a fine ground-work for him, and he had painted a horse over one door, a lion over another, a bird over the third, and at intervals along the walls he had brought out fighting dogs, ships, fire-engines, Indians in full dress, and bears chasing boys. He had put a new border on the bay window curtains, striped the legs of the piano, and had proceeded to touch up and improve certain chronos and oil paintings hanging on the walls. Father and mother gazed around, and the young artist anxiously waited for them to pat him on the head, and say they were proud of such a son. They didn't pat him—not very much. The father placed the son's ear between his thumb and finger, and led him through several rooms to the woodshed, and what followed may be inferred from a remark dropped by the boy and overheard by a pedestrian: "Oh! father! let up on me! and I'll never be an artist any more."
