If you catch black bass outside of the limit of law, you may be fined $25 and costs. Better fish for "scatles".
It is said Allegheny butchers kill horses and sell their flesh in market. They must be French out there.
The agitation of the rebuilding of the county river bridge at Lewisport is a vexatious question in Mifflin county.
An exchange says: "It matters not how many newspapers a man takes, his list is incomplete without his home paper."
The Lewisport borough authority is out in a proclamation against "corner loading, ball and marble playing on the streets."
Dunbarrow, of the Huntingdon Journal, has had a charge of libel preferred against him by a Broad Top railroad train conductor.
Dunbarrow has had a Martha Washington Tea Party, which netted $58.50. It was conducted by the ladies of the M. E. congregation.
Mr. William Banks, of Fernanagh township, shipped a lot of his fine steers to Philadelphia last Friday. Lovers of fine stock were full of praise over them.

About 6 o'clock last Thursday evening a horse driven in a cart by Charles Huzzard while passing southward on Third street frightened, became unmanageable and so justified the cart that Mr. Huzzard was thrown off and severely hurt. Mr. George Doughton, who lives opposite where the accident happened, assisted Charles to a lounge in his house, where he lay about an hour, when he had sufficiently recovered to go to his home.
"The act of April 24, 1874, makes it the duty of the auditors of the several townships and boroughs to meet annually on the first Monday of June, and settle the accounts of the supervisors, road commissioners, school, borough and township treasurers. These settlements must be published by printed or written handbills, posted in at least five public places in the borough or township, within ten days after settlement. The auditors must also file copies of the same with the township clerk and also with the clerk of the court of quarter sessions. Neglect or refusal to discharge those duties subject the auditors to a penalty of $20.00."

Wentworth's Mark township, Huntingdon county, has a horse disease that has caused the death of quite a number of horses.

Court Proceedings.
George Winters vs. Samuel Murphy.—This was a suit by plaintiff for the recovery of $105 balance on invoice bill. The defendant produced a receipt of payment in full of the claim by the plaintiff. Verdict for defendant.
William Cox vs. John Dietrich, to recover the proceeds of a Sheriff's sale, alleged to be in the hands of the defendant. Verdict for defendant.
Samuel Alexander vs. Joseph Bell and John Shendell. A suit to recover on note, the principal and interest of which amounted to $100. Offsets produced that reduced the claim. Verdict for plaintiff for $12.80.
Richard Johnson vs. David Smith. Action to recover damages done by cattle cutting into plaintiff's grain field through a fence that plaintiff alleges defendant should have kept up. This case had been before the Court in September, 1874, when a verdict for $420 was rendered for plaintiff. The case went up to the Supreme Court, which returned the judgment of the lower court. Verdict for plaintiff for $110.
James H. Graham vs. John Wright and Jane Gallagher. Action to recover $506 balance as Attorney's fee. Verdict for plaintiff for $500. The community believe one thousand dollars was a monstrous fee.
Daniel Coffman vs. Alfred Such. Action against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for obstructing the lower crossing in Patterson. Verdict for defendant.
Robert A. Patterson vs. David Snyder. Action to recover amount of note given by defendant to plaintiff for a horse, which defendant alleges turned out to be worthless. Verdict for plaintiff for $124.92.
Elisha P. Hinson and Martha J. Hinson vs. David Shuman. Action to recover a horse and lot in the borough of Thompsonston, claimed as entailed property by the grandfather of the defendant. Verdict for the defendant.
George W. Gordon vs. Samuel Hoffman. Action for ejectment of defendant from lands claimed in Black Log by plaintiff.—Opinion reserved by the Judge.
George W. Gordon vs. James E. Buchanan. Action for ejectment of defendant from lands in Black Log, claimed by plaintiff. Verdict for plaintiff.
Dr. J. P. Sterrett vs. Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Action to recover damages to person and property by horse of plaintiff frightened at, and running away from a locomotive, at the lower crossing in Patterson, which the plaintiff was signaled to cross by the watchman stationed there. Verdict for plaintiff for $1500.
Com. vs. John Single. Indictment—larceny. Verdict, not guilty.
Com. vs. Jacob Zeigler. Indictment—assault and battery with intent to rape. Mrs. Topley, prosecutrix. Verdict, not guilty, and the county to pay the costs.
Com. vs. Addison Sieber. Indictment—fornication and bastardy. Beekie Tyson, prosecutrix. After jury was empaneled and sworn, defendant withdrew the plea of not guilty and entered the plea of "Nolo Contendere," upon which the Court sentenced the defendant to pay the sum of $25, lying in expenses, $20 maintenance, and the sum of $1 per week for the period of six months and ten months, to be paid quarterly, and to give security to the overseers of the poor for the compliance of the same.
Com. vs. Henry Wildman. Indictment—desertion. Desertion tryable as a surety of the peace. John Hostler, prosecutrix. On the hearing of the case before the Judge, it was continued to May 11th, next.
FININGS OF THE GRAND JURY.
Com. vs. John Kiser. Indictment—false pretence. George C. Palm, prosecutrix. True bill.
Com. vs. Seth Zeigler. Indictment—false pretence. D. W. Harley, prosecutrix. True bill.
As to the jail the Grand Jury say: The lock of the iron door needs repairing. The lock of the outside door is insufficient, and should be replaced with a new one. The lock of the room now occupied by prisoners is defective. The cells all need white washing.
As to the new building on the north east corner of the Court House lot, which was erected about a year ago for the use of the county offices while the Court House was being built, and which is now occupied as a dwelling house, the Jury are unanimously of the opinion that, as the purpose of the erection of said building has been served and the same is no longer needed, the said building is a nuisance, and they earnestly recommend that the Commissioners proceed to remove the same.
The Jury examined the heaters in the Court House, and report that they are entirely insufficient; at any rate, they do not furnish sufficient heat to make the court room and jury rooms comfortable.
The Jury desire to express their entire satisfaction with the general appearance and arrangement of the Court House, and that they regard it as a credit to the county of Juniata, and a source of proper pride to our citizens and tax-payers.

PENNSYLVANIA ARCHIVES.—The Secretary of the Commonwealth has issued the following circular to the county treasurers, in regard to subscriptions for the second series of the Archives:
SIR: The 1st Volume of the 2d Series of Pennsylvania Archives is now ready for distribution.
The act of the 13th of May, 1874, P. L. 1874, page 138, authorizes a disposal of a balance of the copies therein named by subscription opened at the offices of the several county treasurers.
You will please take single subscriptions only, and send with the remittance a list of the names of the subscribers; the price is $1.00 per volume. A specimen copy will be sent you by express, with which you will be charged, and may hand it over to a subscriber, retain or return it if not wanted.
Respectfully,
J. M. S. QCAY,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Spelling Bee—No. 1.
First Prize, $100, May 1, 1875.
MR. EDITOR:—Friday evening last (April 30th) found the Lutheran church of this place pretty well filled with people, eager to witness the "Spelling Bee," the subject of which had been on the end of every tongue for the last three weeks.
Seats were arranged on each side of the church for the spellers. The umpires, Revs. Stewart and Marshall, and J. G. Hertzler, Esq., were promptly on hand and took seats immediately in front of the pulpit. The class first met in the basement of the building, where the Captains, Thompson and Snyder, picked their spellers, after which they repaired to the places assigned them. The pastor, Rev. H. C. Shindler, called the meeting to order and stated, that to inspire confidence one round of blank cartridges should be fired, or, in other words, that the first round should not rule a speller out in case the word given was misspelled. That being done, the teacher for the evening, Mr. S. M. Shelley, informed all that business would now begin in earnest. All went "merry as a marriage bell," until Mr. Rutherford tried to repose on a "matress," (with but one "s" in the last syllable) which came very near being burned by the "fagot" which Wallace buried at it, with an "e" in place of an "o." The "ECHO" of the last word had not died away, when Beidler fell mortally wounded. Mrs. K. evidently had a thorn in her path in the shape of a "briar" with an "a" in it. Captain Snyder symbolized the occasion with a "symbol" with "ble" for the last syllable, and good naturedly took a tack seat. Miss W. put an "n" in the second syllable of "unhappy," and followed those who had gone before. Ebberts persisted in having four "s" in "gasool," Ludwig's effort was on a "parallel," with too much at the latter end. Jacobs put a "pick" for a "pique," and Miss B. gave him a "receipt," in full, without a "p." Swartzel now commenced to "whiny," but got an "e" between the last "n" and "y," and dug out for another seat. This left but five spellers on the floor, and each felt sure of securing a prize. The contest waxed hotter and hotter, until Bealer, Jr., proved conclusively that he did not belong to any of the species of plants in which some people deal, and spelled "vegetable" with an "a" in second syllable, and accepted the glassware. Miss B. said she was not used to being sold, and put it "stationary" instead of "ery" in the ending. The result was a beautiful chromo. Miss S. hashed her hen fruit and made "omelet" without an "e" in second syllable, and took home another chromo. Patterson now drew his "broad-sword" to slay Thompson, and might have succeeded, but he accidentally slipped the letter "a" into the latter part of the word, which broke the force of the blow, and gave him the Bible Dictionary, and entitled Capt. J. B. Thompson to the first prize, viz: Webster's Unabridged; but he was determined to earn what he was to get, and worked away faithfully until he spelled "lasses" over the whole class, in place of a single "lassie."
Taken altogether the "B" was a success, although the class was small.—Everybody there was amused, and at times smiled pretty loud.
Next Friday, May 7th, Bee No. 2 will be held at the same place. The prizes will be the same. Many more competitors are entered. Fifty names are already enrolled, and many more will find a hearty welcome. If convenient come and see us. Doors open at 7 o'clock P. M. Spelling commences at 8 P. M., sharp.
Yours respectfully,
ONE OF THEM.

A New and Important Book.
The Political, Personal, and Property Rights of a Citizen of the United States. How to exercise and how to preserve them; by Thomas Parsons, LL. D. Jones Brothers & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
This work is the most important that has ever been issued from the pen of this distinguished author, both because it contains the result of his life long labor and study, and because it is written for the great mass of American citizens, giving clear, plain and authoritative information with regard to those rights and duties upon which their success and prosperity depend.
The work embraces a popular commentary on the constitution of the United States, section by section, explaining its principles, purposes, and the rights and powers it confers, and also a full and complete compendium of the laws and rules which pertain to the management of property and the transaction of all kinds of business. The book is covered with statistics, and of its accuracy the name of the author is the best possible guaranty. His language is simple throughout, and the subjects treated are brought within the easy comprehension of those unlearned in the law.
This volume is most highly recommended. It is a book of which every intelligent man will feel the need as soon as he has examined it. The amount of blundering and litigation that would be avoided by a general knowledge of its contents cannot well be overestimated. It should be in the hands of every man who has any desire to understand his rights, or any care to conduct his business safely and without expensive legal help. It will undoubtedly meet with a very large sale. It will be sold only by subscription, and any one desiring an agency should apply to the publishers.
DURING the epidemic of intermittent fevers in the West this season, the whole immense stock of Ayer's Ague Cure became exhausted, and the producing power of his laboratory was found inadequate to meet the demand. Many who knew its extraordinary virtues for the cure of Chills and Fever, paid exorbitant prices for it to those who were fortunate enough to have a supply on hand. Some of our neighbors paid ten dollars for a bottle, while the regular price is but one, and assure us it is on the whole the cheapest remedy they could buy, even at that figure. They praise it for two qualities: first, that it cures, and last that it leaves the health unimpaired.—Jones Standard.

Dyspepsia! Dyspepsia! Dyspepsia!
Dyspepsia is the most perplexing of all human ailments. Its symptoms are almost infinite in their variety, and the toilers and dependent victims of the disease often cherish themselves the prey, victims, of every known malady. This is due, in part, to the close sympathy which exists between the stomach and the brain, and in part also to the fact that any disturbance of the digestive function necessarily disorders the liver, the bowels and the nervous system, and effects, to some extent, the quality of the blood.
E. F. Kumbel's Bitter Wine of Iron is a sure cure. This is not a new preparation to be tried and wasted; it has been prescribed daily for many years in the practice of eminent physicians, with unvarying success. It is not expected to be intended to cure all the diseases to which the human family is subject, but it is intended to cure Dyspepsia in its most obstinate form. Kumbel's Bitter Wine of Iron never fails to cure. Symptoms of Dyspepsia are loss of appetite, mind and rising of the food, dryness of the mouth, heartburn, distension of the stomach and bowels, constipation, headache, dizziness, sleeplessness and low spirits. Try the great remedy and be convinced of its merits. Get the genuine. Take only Kumbel's, which is put only in $1 bottles. Depot, 229 North Ninth St., Philadelphia. Put it never fails. For sale by all druggists and dealers everywhere.
