Republican State Nominations.

FOR GOVERNOR, Gen JOHN F. HARTRAUT, of Montgomery County.

FOR STATE TREASURER, Hon. HENRY RAWLE, of Erie County.

Harttraut and Rawle.

There are a few of the many favorable paragraphs relative to the nominees of the Lancaster Convention.

The nomination of Governor Harttraut was to be naturally expected. He has been, on the whole, a popular Governor, and his position in the party fairly entitled him to be its standard bearer in the coming contest.

On the 21st of April we suggested that in view of the past, and of the solid union of all the Republican elements of the Commonwealth on Gen. Harttraut, his nomination should be made made, and making it yesterday the Convention rang with shouts and cheers as if the delegates were taking Fort Steadman.

Mr. Rawle's nomination is one that fully supplements the excellent one which it is linked. These strong candidates stand on a strong platform, and one every plank in which will command the united support of the whole party.

The defeat of the State ticket last fall admonished the Republican party that it must strengthen itself before the people in all ways possible.

Pennsylvania has gone for an upright administration of public affairs, for placing confidence in the man who has faithfully kept the promises made when he first asked it, for an honest conservation of the finances, and for a continuance of good government in the State.

With two such candidates, and resting upon a platform of principles so unassailable we should win a brilliant triumph in November, and reanimate for the great struggle of next year the whole Republican army of the nation.

There may be some dissatisfaction on the part of Mr. Strang's friends, but the unexceptionable character of Mr. Rawle and his admitted fitness for the position will make him a strong candidate.

The State Convention, in nominating Harttraut and Rawle, give to the people of Pennsylvania candidates in every way worthy of their suffrages.

The platform has the true ring. There is no uncertain sound in any of the doctrines laid down. The position on the third term question is clearly stated, and heartily accords with the popular sentiment of the day.

The nominations of Harttraut and Rawle are as acceptable as could have been made, and constitute a ticket which any well wisher of the State can conscientiously vote.

In the future we intend to refer to our nominees for Governor and State Treasurer more fully. To-day let it suffice us to say that it is a strong ticket and one that will command the earnest support of all true Republicans.

The Influence of the Republican State Conventions of Pennsylvania and Ohio on the South.

The Republican platform, as adopted by the Republican State Conventions of Pennsylvania and Ohio, have had an astounding influence on the expression of Southern opinion.

A writer from that section of the country says: "We must kill no more niggers, and cease our political intimidation and persecution of Union men until after the Presidential election."

A few days ago, near Fort Sanders, Wyoming, a party of Indians captured and ran away with 200 horses that belonged to white people.

The Direct United States Cable Company established the desired communication between Ireland and the New Hampshire coast, on the 17th inst.

assembled at Lancaster. There were no other names presented to the convention. It is in accord with the feeling of the whole community, when men are constantly struggling with each other for places of honor and distinction, this fact can only be explained upon the ground that the administration of Gov. Harttraut has been thoroughly acceptable to his party.

The unanimity of his present nomination is also in striking contrast with his nomination and subsequent election three years ago. No man ever entered upon the discharge of the duties of Chief Magistrate of this great Commonwealth, under such a deep cloud of suspicion, and with fewer real substantial friends, than did Gen. Harttraut in 1873.

It is in keeping with the demands made by the rank and file of the party, and will prove a tower of strength in the coming canvass.

Although elected Mayor of the city of Erie upon two different occasions, he is not what the world recognizes as a politician, but a thorough business man, and it was those qualities that induced the citizens of Erie to select him as their chief Executive officer.

The nomination of Governor Harttraut, for a second term, was not only due, as a matter of party usage, but as a recognition of his merits as a man and Governor.

He has been quiet, prudent, unassuming, yet clear headed and energetic, and is entitled to the rare praise of having furnished the best State papers, and the most logical, sensible and timely votes ever submitted to the Legislature of the State.

His enemies, who deluged him with bitter taunts and cruel falsehood during his previous canvass, now admit the "negative success" of his administration. His friends go vastly farther, and claim a positive success.

It was no small thing, when special legislation was at its flood, and those who sought its advantages were peculiarly clamorous, in view of the progressive changes in the fundamental law, for special enactments, for the Governor to stand up like a man of iron against the entire business.

A Duel in Cuba. An American physician and a Spanish recently fought a duel in the streets of Havana, Cuba, which originated through jealousy on the part of the Spaniard. He believed the American and his wife to be on an intimate terms with each other. In the duel the American fell severely wounded, killed, discharged a pistol shot into his own head, thereby causing his own death instantly.

Another appalling disaster, incurring the probable loss of over 40 lives, occurred at sea. On Tuesday, June 15, 27, the steamer "Washington" was wrecked on an ice floe 100 miles off the coast of Newfoundland. Collision with the ice caused a leak which all efforts on the part of the crew and passengers proved unavailing to repair, and just as two of the boats had got clear from the vessel she suddenly sank with the captain and all of the passengers and crew who remained on board.

Among the floating wreckage of the sunken vessel a third boat, bearing about 30 persons, was seen to float. The three boats contained in all about 45 persons. The rest sank with the vessel. After keeping company for about two hours the boats lost sight of each other, and as far as is yet known, the only persons who are left to tell the tale are five seamen.

Within the past week the town of Morshak, on the right bank of the river Tana, Russia, has been entirely destroyed by fire. It had a population of 20,000, and contained three churches and several manufactories and sawmills.

The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania held its twenty-sixth annual session at Pottsville last week. A New York city man was compelled to pay $750 damage to a boy who was bitten by his dog.

Notice to Tax-Payers. At a meeting of the Commissioners, held at their office in the Court House in Millintown, Juniata county, on the 11th day of June, 1875, the following resolution was passed by the Board:

Resolved, That the tax-payers of Juniata county for the year 1875 be allowed 10 per cent deduction on their State and County Taxes for said year, on all such taxes paid on or before Saturday, July 31, 1875, and 5 per cent, on all taxes paid on or before Saturday, September 4, 1875, after which time no deduction will be allowed.

A drowning accident occurred at Cambridge, Mass., on the afternoon of the 9th inst., by the sinking of a scow. Seven men were on the scow at the time, which was heavily laden, and sank from a sudden squall blowing the water on board. Three of the men were unable to swim and were drowned.
