They are not Consistent.

The Democracy shout don't be extravagant, but they are extravagant, both in and out of office. They say nothing but hard money, and yet they are as greedy to make money in paper as any class of people in the world. They have always been shouting gold and silver, and at the same time banking in paper currency, and then the kind of currency they used to give the country when they controlled affairs would be worthless once in about every ten years.
