The cellars of Messrs. Nangle, Copeland and Beal were ransacked by thieves last Saturday night. The loss was chiefly in provisions. This is how the old folk: 'John, if you are going to be out till two o'clock to-night, you'll have to stay at home and let yourself in for I won't.'

Some days since the house of Wilson Land, near Academia, was struck by lightning. Fortunately, however, no serious damage was done. Fryberger and Schiffer, of Harrisburg, will print The Camp Meeting Daily during the continuance of the Juniata Valley Camp Meeting at Newton Hamilton.

John Balentine, a six-year-old boy, son of Mr. John Balentine, of Farmington township, lost a pocket-book containing six dollars, in the school-house yard in this borough, last Wednesday. The shoe store of John North, on Main street, was entered by burglars, and a pair of boots and a sheet stolen therefrom Saturday night. The entrance was effected through a back window.

Mr. Ephraim Lauer's spring house in Milford township, was entered by thieves on Saturday night, and just how nearly they came to receiving the contents of a gun or two, they will never know. A party belonging to the thieves' fraternity entered by way of a back window the jewelry store of Wm. H. Rollman, on Main street, on Saturday or Sunday night, and stole about $75.00 worth of jewelry.

Last Thursday a number of people from this place went to Lewisport to witness a trot that came off at that place. Our sportsmen carried the day, and returned with the proceeds raised for the occasion. A party of fifty ladies and gentlemen from Kichacoquillas Valley took the 10:30 train on Monday morning for the Centennial, intending to make the Grangers' Encampment their stopping place.—Lewisport Gazette, June 7.

The editors of the Globe and Journal, two Huntingdon papers, tell the public through the columns of their papers that they will quit fighting, that they have been fighting for other men at a great loss to themselves. Captain McCallan has opened a shop in the second story of the Belford building, where he is ready to serve his old customers, and the public generally, in furnishing them with saddles, bridles, harness, and all other articles in his line.

The late work of thieves about town has resulted in a general inspection and reloading of guns and pistols, and no one need be surprised if they hear of some of the long-fingered fraternity receiving a load of lead that will be restraining in its influence on the one who receives it, for years to come. Through the proceedings of the County Commission, as held last Saturday, and as published in this paper, in another county, the Republican voters of Juniata county are asked to vote for or against the change in the present system that requires candidates to be announced four weeks before the primary election. The proposal is to reduce the time from four to two weeks for the announcement of candidates.

A young Philadelphia, A. Jessup, Jr., who has been a successful stock-raiser in Colorado, is a well known man named Davis, in a shell near Denver City, Colorado, on the 6th inst. He was a son of Alfred D. Jessup, of the paper manufacturing firm of Jessup & Moore, Philadelphia. Despatches say that Davis had been abusing an employer, against which Jessup, who witnessed the abuse, remonstrated. Out of the remonstrance grew a challenge, out of the challenge a duel, and out of the duel the death of Jessup.

A horse, last Thursday, on the Lewisport Park track, threw its driver out of the sulky to which it was hitched, thereby breaking a leg for the man, and taking an excellent motor driver underfoot. He put the animal over the track. He loved better in this, that he did not have a leg broken, but the sulky was knocked quite out of running order.

The churches under whose management the control of congregations and denominational grave-yards naturally come, could do no kinder act than at regularly stated times, have all tombstones straightened. If there be neglect in such direction, here and there a stone gets out of perpendicular, and gradually sinks down on the ground, where but a few years are required to entirely cover it with weeds and debris from the eye or casual search. Within the past week a man from Ohio said, 'I was in the graveyard to look for mother's tombstone. I did not find it. Marble head and foot stones were put in place before we left for the west. They must have fallen down and been grown over since our departure.'

Last Thursday morning, about the time stores are opened for business, two strangers offered to sell a number of hams to the storekeepers of the place. Patterson people took the bait, and supposed that there was something not right about the ownership of the pork. To ascertain how the ownership of the pork stood, Officer Powell started looking for the strangers. He found them in Shaffer's store in Millington, trying to sell the hams, and proceeded to arrest them. One of the men did not take kindly to the arrest, and drew a knife on the officer. Officer Powell followed, shouting, 'Stop that man!' The race was a spirited one, and in whose favor it would have turned, is not known. The man who drew the knife on the officer, stepped out of the store, and ran to the store of Justice Middlethigh, in Patterson, who committed them to jail to await a further hearing on Monday next. The man who gave names for them to the matter, before the hearing on Monday took place, the man confessed to the crime of stealing the hams and said that he would appear on Monday and identified his bag, and recognized the man as a person who lived in his own neighborhood. The thieves were re-committed to await the action of the authorities in Huntingdon county.

'How is it that Todd can sell a full suit of clothes, hat and suspenders into the bargain, for $3.50? Because he sells more than any other clothing store in the county, and does so at two prices and takes one-half. Fair dealing will tell.'

'Governor HARRISMAN has issued the following in regard to the Centennial Encampment: HEADQUARTERS NATIONAL GUARD OF PENNSYLVANIA, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, NO. 11 S. Full and specific details will be hereafter be announced.

The Legislature, at its last session, appropriated funds to pay only for transportation, canvas and grounds, and to that extent alone can the troops be supported by the State authorities. Division commanders will report, without delay, the designation by regiment and company, and the members of each of their several organizations that intend to participate. This will also cause to be distributed the copies of the regulations prescribed by the park commission, under which it has permitted the occupancy of its grounds for military purposes. By command of JOHN F. HARRISMAN, Governor and Commander-in-Chief. JAMES W. LATTA, Adjutant General.

A MAN named Vanormer was in town yesterday, who states that while coming across the Seven Mountains on Monday he met a gentle-looking man who asked permission to ride. Mr. V. said he was not going in the same direction, but he said that made no difference so that he got a ride. Mr. V. insisted that his vehicle would not stand any more weight, and drove on, the man going the other way. He passed but a short distance when the scoundrel fired at him, the ball passing through his hat.—Lewisport Gazette, June 7.

DARWIN says that animals have no religious sense, but he probably never observed the calm reflection which a chicken will stand on one leg and look up to heaven after squeezing through a hole in the fence into the straw-bird nest door.—Norwich Bulletin.

A friend at our elbow said, 'I don't see the point in that chicken paragraph. I never saw a chicken go through a hole, and straighten itself backward. The illustration is lost on me, I am sure.' 'Ah,' said another friend, 'the illustration was lost, but the hole is not. I have a hole that more than one chicken went through, and didn't straighten either. The hole is all right, but the chicken that goes through it all right, but the straight never gets out of that chicken.' Where is Darwin?

'The Boston Globe' announces the rule that a beautiful female foot should be one-seventh the wearer's height. If the 'wearer' is five feet four inches high, then the foot should be nine inches high; and it should, of course, be three times as long as high, which would give it a length of twenty seven inches. But this is in Boston, which makes all the difference.'

ATTENTION! JUNIATA SEVER'S!—You are hereby ordered to parade in Millington on Saturday, June 17th, 1876, to be ready to mount at 1 o'clock prompt. Books are open for the subscription of new members. By order of J. K. ROBISON, Captain Commanding. MATTHEW ROGERS, O. S.

'BRIHAM YOUNG spoke a few words of wisdom the other day to a youthful Chicago enthusiast who called upon him.' He said: 'Young man, be sure you are through with your search for the kind of a partner you want—be sure you have got the pattern of a woman that suits you, before leading her to the altar. Don't wait till after marriage, as I did, and then be obliged to keep on sampling.'

We hear great complaint on all hands of the ravages of that formidable pest, the cut-worm. Farmers are fearful that the entire crop of corn will be destroyed unless something is done to rid the fields of the enemy. They are even more destructive than the Colorado beetle and more difficult of eradication. Will not some good Samaritan suggest a remedy?—West Chester Republican.

The Lancaster Inquirer says: 'Jos. Reizer, of Mirmore township, Lancaster county, lost two valuable young mares within a week, supposed to have died from eating Hungarian hay. Jos. Dushong, of Eden township, was called to see the second one on Saturday, the 29th ult., found it unable to swallow any solid food and very little fluid; he inserted a probe almost to the stomach, supposing it to be choked; this did not relieve it; he went again next day, found the animal no better, again tried the probe, but could not reach the stomach on account of the contraction of the stomach; the horse finally died. On making an examination, the stomach and bowels were found to be very much contracted, as also was the entrance to the stomach almost closed, and the passage from the stomach in the same condition. To all appearances the horse died from the asphyxiation properties of the Hungarian hay, which was fed nearly ripe.'

A NEW enemy to the growing crop of corn has been discovered this spring, which is committing considerable destruction in some sections of the country. It is a peculiar black worm which can scarcely be crushed on the loose earth, as it is encased in a suit of armor difficult to break. They operate in the corn hills by eating off the young plants. As many as ten or twenty worms are sometimes found in one hill. The cutworm has hitherto been a great annoyance, but this new pest is said to be even more destructive. Paris green has been found to be as efficacious in exterminating these worms as it is in destroying the potato bug. Powdered white hellebore is also said to be very efficacious.—Ez.

Their universality is, however, the least of their merits. Their safe and speedy cures of Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, King's Evil, Scrofula, and all skin diseases, are their chief recommendation. PROGRAMME.

For the Collection of Statistics, of which is form Historical Sketches of Juniata County, Penna.

By a meeting of elder citizens of Juniata county, Pa., held in the Court House in Millington, May 30, 1876—called in pursuance of joint resolution of Congress, approved March 31, 1876, succeeded by proclamation of Governor John P. Hartranft, April 21, 1876, and seconded by proclamation of President U. S. Grant, May 25, 1876, to organize to collect statistics from the earliest dates obtainable, of the every-day life, and events of the people, to be woven into historical sketches, by a regularly authorized historian, which shall be read or published to the people of the respective counties, and a copy of which shall be filed in the Clerk's office of the respective counties, and a copy sent to the Librarian of Congress, to be filed in his office, on or before the close of the Centennial year—Hugh T. McAlister was elected Centennial Historian for Juniata county, with the following Committee as assistants to collect statistics, and render whatever other service they may choose in the patriotic and noble work:

COMMITTEE. Millington—John Wright, J. A. Christy, Turbot—Wm. Groninger, O. L. Hench. Port Royal—Jos. Middlethigh, J. Frank. Port Royal—J. W. Beale, G. W. Jacobs. Spruce Hill—J. D. M. Howell, Jacob McLaughlin. Tuscarora—John Sarvis, Thomas Morrow. Lark—Wm. Patton, John Woodside. Beale—Capt. J. J. Patterson, Richard Doyle. Millport—Peter Shoets, Wm. Stierett. Fernung—David Hasbrou, Wm. Banks. Fayette—Wm. Dunn, G. J. Shellenberger. Delaware—Theodore Thompson, S. O. Evans. Monaca—Luke Marks, Joseph Sellers. Susquehanna—S. G. Dressler, Dan K'Nouse. Thompsonstown—Dr. P. L. Greenleaf, John S. Lokens. Walker—Hugh Hamilton, John Motter.

The co-operation of the Committee is earnestly solicited, and the following series of questions is sent them, with the belief that it will prove an assistant in a speedy collection of such statistics as are meant to be embraced in the object of the work. The Committee will please make out a statement as nearly as they possibly can, in answer to the questions, and send them to the Historian: QUESTIONS. PART I. 1. Where were the first improvements made in your township, and by whom? Were they native born or foreigners? (Look up your old title papers.) 2. Did they dwell in booths, tents or log huts? 3. Where and by whom was the first grist-mill, saw-mill and other water power machinery erected, and where were the first tanneries, distilleries, stores, &c., within your knowledge? 4. By what means did people first get to market, within your knowledge, and where was that place of traffic or trade, and did they get there by land or water? 5. When, where, and by whom were the towns or villages, within your knowledge, laid out? 6. How many distilleries were in your township during the decade between 1829 and 1830. 7. What has been the principal staple or agricultural production of your township? PART II. Juniata county was organized in 1831. 1. Who was the first man elected from your township to fill a county office, say Associate Judge, Sheriff, Commissioner, Auditor, Prothonotary, Register, &c., and when was his election, and who were his successors, and when elected? 2. When was the Juniata turnpike made? When the canal? When the Pennsylvania railroad? When was our first Court House erected, and when the present one, and who were the contractors? 3. What has been, and is now, the principal production of your township, with surplus for market during the last ten years? 4. How many soldiers entered the army against the late Rebellion, from your township or borough? 5. When, where, and by what religious denomination was the first congregation in your township or borough organized? 6. When and where was the first Sunday School in your township organized? Address, Hugh T. McAlister, McAlisterville, Juniata Co., Pa. HUGH T. McALISTER.

MISCELLANEOUS ADVERTISEMENTS.

A MATTER OF POPULAR INTEREST.

We condemn from the Ladies' Register the notice of a Universal about Oak Hill, in the State of Massachusetts, &c. Largest Clothing Store in America. A visitor and success to the reader's interest. The notice is in the building on the Market. Please note the SIXTH, for some time past, the notice has been omitted by designing persons.

'It is perfectly correct! Do you know its dimensions?' 'A 1200 square feet—on Market and 1st Oct on Sixth, my store has been over three years, and covers space occupied by a man twenty different buildings.

'Do you use steam power?' 'A fine young engine furnishes power for the freight and passenger elevators, and the boiler room for heating and other purposes. The engine is in the basement, and the boiler is in the room on the 2d floor.'

'You are first classed and arranged in the basement on long counters and taken the business of the store to the basement room on the 2d floor.'

'No, sir, measuring. The goods are first measured in the place, then measured, the cloth passes over rollers in the face of a strong building the goods, with the eye of a hawk for the least pin-hole imperfection, and marking every yard, so that the customer and avoid it will be come to cut the garment as well as the first operation.'

'You must employ an army of cutters?' 'Come to our first day and see! We keep 70 hands all the time cutting up the cloth into garments,—besides the machines that do a dozen men's work each a stroke.'

'Do you manufacture all your own goods?' 'We do, and most carefully. Our expenses to every article and man, and certainty to every garment as extra-very cheap. It is the great secret of the success of our business. Do you get our ticket on it, and become responsible for it.'

'Your system must save
