Who Killed the Prisoner?—This is a question that agitates the minds of people in the vicinity of Montgomery's Ferry. It appears that some time in July, 1876, a pedlar stopped at a house in that vicinity, and rather mysteriously disappeared, leaving his horse and wagon, and has never returned.

Deaths.

Mr. William Askins, whilst fishing for bass in Sherman's brook, below Dugan's dam, caught a strange-looking creature, of a brownish color, shaped like a snake, with a common water lizard's tail, 22 inches in length, had broad, flat head, was as tenacious as a snapping turtle, and as active as an eel.

To Mifflin County Fair, Last Thursday.

The State is the mother, and the counties of Mifflin and Juniata are sisters. Juniata, being the younger, was driven to use a good deal of persuasive argument, and a good deal of force, before the elder sister gave consent that Mifflin should become the county seat for the valleys that lay between Shade and Tuscarora mountains.

Whatever degree of estrangement or coolness that was caused by the movement of separation, has been forgotten, and the children have fully determined that the relationship of kindred shall be recognized and kept up, which was abundantly evidenced last Thursday by one hundred Juniata cousins going to Lewistown to attend the Mifflin county fair.

When the Juniata people debouched from the cars onto the streets of Lewistown, it was plainly evident to the slowest observer that something unusual was going on, for the streets were lined with people.

It is an important advantage that Juniata has over Mifflin, that all who attend her fair must pass through town. Here fully one-half of the number of people who attend fairs never enter town to get to the fair ground.

One hundred people from Juniata sprinkled the crowd on the streets quite plainly, and even among the crowd of 3,000 people at the fair Juniata was plainly visible.

To get to our fair, one angle off by picturesque scenery, by the road along the river, toward the southwest; to get to their fair, the road angles off circuitously by Kiskadee creek, and an Episcopal graveyard toward the southeast.

So appreciative of the wants and requirements of our Mifflin county cousins have our people become, that the methods of conveyance to and from their fair was not neglected. Jacob Sulonoff filled the programme just by having a couple of carriages on the ground to see that they did not do too much walking.

Calo Parker was thrown out of his wagon a few days ago, while driving on his farm, across the mountains, on Monday. He has not been able to attend to his usual business.

John Bashore, of Fayette township, and his nephews, John and Peter Bashore, caught 22 pic in Licking Creek, on Tuesday a single net, and measured 11 inches and the largest 18 inches.

It is once in a while recalled that Mr. William Cullen Bryant practiced law for a short time, and was so disgusted by a defeat in one suit that he abandoned the profession immediately and forever.

Mr. Elwin F. Orwig enjoys the distinction of being the smallest man in Iowa. He is nearly 21 years old and 40 inches tall, and weighs 45 pounds.

Ten years ago the late Senator Bogy renounced Masonry to join the Roman Catholic Church, and he died in that faith.

Mr. Moody is said to be showing the results of overwork. He has been obliged to forego solid study during the past summer, and has suffered from some trouble in the head.

The following names have been filed in the Register's Office: 1. First and final account of James B. Okeson, administrator of Samuel R. Okeson, deceased.

WASH AND BE CLEAN.—Support Home Industry.—Soap is a cleansing agent, and should be clean, therefore use Clean Soap, such as is manufactured by J. B. BOYER & CO., not the dirty stuff obtained from diseased logs and cattle, or other unwholesome matter of which the Soaps now in the market are mainly composed.

Mr. John Hazzard, of this borough, died on Sunday morning, and was buried on Monday afternoon in the Presbyterian graveyard.

Philadelphia Markets.—Wheat, $1.40 to 1.48, Corn 60 to 62, Oats 30 to 32, Cattle range from 40 to 45, Sheep 10 to 12, Hogs 10 to 12.

John Reno, of Fernburgh township, this county, sold between 200 and 400 pounds of grapes at the Mifflin county fair last week.

An agent is wanted for Mifflin and Juniata counties. For further particulars apply to J. J. BRYAN, C. O., Harrisburg, Huntingdon Co., Pa.

A few nights since, Mr. Adam Clouser, of this place, set some steel traps to catch the owl that was visiting his chicken coop. The next morning one of the traps was missing.

A young man while hunting a day or two ago, shot an owl, which was greatly astonished at the bird fell from the tree, to hear the clanking of chains, as he supposed. It proved to be the owl which had flown away with the missing steel trap, fast to its legs.

On Thursday a young man named John Moyer, residing in Harrisburg, fell while trying to get on a moving freight train near Look's Run, and was run over by the entire train. He was not only cut in two, but had both arms cut off. The remains were gathered up and taken to his home, after an inquest had been held.

On Saturday last, Mr. William Askins, whilst fishing for bass in Sherman's brook, below Dugan's dam, caught a strange-looking creature, of a brownish color, shaped like a snake, with a common water lizard's tail, 22 inches in length, had broad, flat head, was as tenacious as a snapping turtle, and as active as an eel.

St. Marks Sabbath school.

Considering their age, the workmanlike manner in which they have carried out their motto, "I will not be moved," is a credit to their parents.

In this home Mrs. Jeremiah Lyon, and Miss Emma Kepper of Mifflin town, displayed their skill at sketching a peculiarly made, Scratch My Back, match safe. They promised a sketch for the special engraver of the Sentinel and Republican but for some unknown cause did not send it in, and thus it happens that no pictures of the articles, mentioned appear in this issue of the paper.

A fine organ was on exhibition, and was kept in use almost constantly by Mifflin county cousins, but the singing, and the playing on the organ that was pronounced best, while we occupied the stove, was that rendered by Mrs. Jennie Kelly, wife of Lieutenant James Kelley of Tuscarora Valley, this county. Col. William of this place looked in a few times. Walters of the Lewistown Sentinel held an eligible post in the office of the Secretary.

The making of the track caused a great deal of trouble to the slow, the impression became strong that the great majority of the passers-by were not Lewistown people, but people from the valleys of Mifflin county.

At one o'clock VICTOR E. POLETT, of Bradford county, began an address The attractions of Fine Art Hall prevented an appearance on our part at the time when the speech was begun; but as his speech was intended—and indeed proved—to be one of the great attractions of the day, a portion at least of it must needs be heard.

The Harrisburg Patriot has been informed that the celebrated nickel mines at Gap, Lancaster county, worked for several years past exclusively by the United States government, will soon be abandoned, and that operations will be resumed for some time.

ATTENTION!—A grand reunion of the honorably discharged members of the Juniata Soldiers will be held at the Jacobs House, Mifflintown, on Thursday, October 11, 1877, at 10 o'clock A. M. Prospect of reorganization.

CLOSING PRICES OF DE HAVEN & TOWNSEND, BANKERS, No. 40 South Third Street, PHILADELPHIA.

He was then talking about the cow of his choice is not the Gurney, or the Alderney. He does not object to them for their milking qualities, for they are good enough, but when they are worn out as milkers they are not fit for beef; there is little of them. By their smallest thousands of dollars are annually lost, for by a larger breed the quantity of beef would be largely increased. They should be crossed with some larger stock so as to get beef and milk united.

He was glad to see a Percheron horse on the ground. Such horses are what farmers need; they need horses that can draw a load on a wagon and draw a plough through limestone soil. He recommended the raising of large and active horses. They are of more use than 2.40 horses. He would recommend a carriage horse or two, but stout horses are the kind. A couple of such will do more and eat less than a larger number of the other kind and thus help lessen the cost of horse raising.

Producers. To the farmers, the cost of production is a great thing, and it is greatly overlooked by the farmer. How many can tell the cost of a dozen eggs, or a pound of butter. The limestone valleys are the most productive. The Germans who are the best farmers in the world, know their productiveness, hence, the German farmer is seldom found outside of limestone valleys, but in the best producing districts the expenses are entirely to great. Farmers are the poorest paid people in the country. They are the heaviest taxed people in the country, with the least representation in conventions and in Legislative assemblies that make laws for their government. In townships they keep up roads, schools, and the poor, and also pay County and State taxes while it is so small a number as they are, they are the most numerous of the country.
