In last week's issue of the Sentinel and Republican, a mistake occurred in the announcement of the death of Mrs. Jane Beale, mother of Rev. J. H. Beale. The announcement was made that Mrs. Beale had died at the residence of her son in Philadelphia. It should have been announced that her death took place in Tuscarora Valley, this county, at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. J. P. Kelley.

John Keller, a former citizen of Patterson, but for the past five years a resident of Lock Haven, this State, arrived in the former place on Wednesday last with his family, traveling as did our forefathers before railroads came in vogue, by wagon, intending, we learn, to settle near Hillsboro Orange county, North Carolina. Mr. Keller stopped a few days to visit his old home and see his friends, before departing for the "sunny south." It is his intention to travel the whole distance by wagon, passing through Tuscarora Valley on his way thither, and we trust that he may safely reach his destination, and be successful in his undertaking, that of farming. He has bought 161 acres of land in Orange county.

SELECT SCHOOL IN THOMPSTOWN.—Notice is hereby given that J. Warren Platt and E. C. Snyder will open a Select School in the borough of Thompstown, commencing APRIL 22nd and ending JUNE 28th, 1878. The following branches will be taught:—Spelling, Reading, Writing, Mental and Written Arithmetic, Grammar and Rhetoric, Physical and Political Geography, Ancient and Modern History, Algebra and Geometry, Natural and Mental Philosophy, Physiology and Chemistry, Book-keeping, Botany and Astronomy.

A well-known Sacramento man who had been out with "the boys" until about three o'clock in the morning felt it necessary to go to bed. His wife would say upon the subject, and determined to adopt a little piece of strategy. He entered the house stealthily, noiselessly removed his boots, and then made his way to their bedroom. He was not so obnoxious but that he knew it would be dangerous to attempt to get into bed, so after disrobing he took up a position by the side of the lady's cradle and began rocking like a "49-er." His wife, aroused by the noise, discovered him, as it was part of his deep-laid plan she should, and called out, "Why, what on earth are you doing there?" "Doing?" he replied, keeping the kinks out of his tongue by an almost superhuman effort, "I'm trying to get this baby asleep." "She's been crying half an hour, and you've slept through it!" His air of righteous indignation was well put on, but it wouldn't do—luck was against him. "What do you mean?" his better half sternly responded. "I've got the baby in bed here with me; and she hasn't cried tonight! When did you come home?"

Letter From Fort Wayne, Indiana. FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 5, 1878. Editor of the Junata Sentinel and Republican, Mifflintown, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—In looking over the columns of your welcome paper, no notice is published that the Star of Empire is still Westward and that Junata is furnishing her quota of the number that is swelling the population of the West—disappointment will and must meet those who expect to see the Star of Empire in the West, and who expect to see the Star of Empire in the West, and who expect to see the Star of Empire in the West.

There has long been a great and universal want of a History of the World suitable for general use. This want is now being supplied by the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., and Dayton, Ohio, who have issued a handsome volume, entitled "The Historical History of the World," by James D. McCabe, a well-known historical writer. This work will, undoubtedly, take its place as a standard history. It is the most valuable book that has ever been published in this country for many years. It contains a separate and admirably written history of every empire of ancient and modern times, and is full of valuable information concerning them, presented in popular style, and in a manner that will enable the reader to refer instantly to any subject upon which information is desired. The book is a complete treasury of history, and there is not a question that can be asked concerning any historical subject, but an answer to it can be found in this work. The author does not confine himself to a mere dry statement of facts, but sketches the life and manners of the various nations of which he treats, in life-like colors, and presents to the reader the causes which led to the prosperity and decay of the great powers of the world. He shows us the various great men—the warriors, statesmen, poets, sages, and orators—of ancient and modern times, and makes them familiar to the reader; he explains the secret motives of their actions, and points out the lessons which is a full History of the last War between Russia and Turkey.

This is the only complete History of the World in print, and it should be read by every intelligent person. We are constantly called upon to discuss the great questions of history, and the wars and quarrels of the nations of the old world require us to be continually refreshing our historical knowledge. This work offers the best means of obtaining the information the people need. It is compact, easy of reference, and strictly accurate, and presents to the reader a mass of information respecting ancient, mediæval and modern history not to be found in any other book. It is comprised in one large royal octavo volume of 1260 great column pages, magnificently embellished with over 650 line engravings illustrative of the events recorded in the narrative, embracing battles and other historical scenes; portraits of the great men of ancient and modern times; views of the principal cities of the world, and of noted places and public buildings, executed by the best artists and engravers of Europe and America.

We cannot too highly praise the numerous and beautiful portraits of historical personages which it abounds. England—Well, we demand—Germany—No, nein, nein, mine good front, say, "You demands," 'ot you put den may not be we demands. Austria—Yab, dot ich vord der matter. France—Gentilhomme, ze grand exposition will offire ze world ze most superbe. France—S-a-c-r-e. Germany—Vot? Vot's dat you say? France—Nossing; sarre; nossing; Sarriate. Russia—Well, Mr. Bull, you seem to be the chief grumbler: What are you going to do about it? England—We've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money, too! Russia—Well! England—We've got the ships, we've got the men, we— France—Ze grande attracting we shall offire a Paris—Bismarck—Order! Order! Fire the French pedler out! (He is fired out.) England—We've got the ships, we've got the— Austria—I move this meeting adjourn sine die. Italy—Seccond the motion. England—We've got the ships, we— Adjustment carried. Russia, Germany, Italy and Austria walk away to a private champagne supper at Delmonico's. England moves off alone, saying, "We've got the, etc."

General Wayne also showed himself an expert diplomat, and conducted the proceedings of the council in such a manner as to show that he was fully conversant with the laws of diplomacy. After the treaty had passed a second reading and had been signed, General Wayne addressed the council as follows: "All you nations now present, listen. I shall ask each nation individually if they agree to the treaty, and if they do not, I shall begin with the Chippewas, who with the others who approve the measure will signify their assent. You, Chippewas, do you approve these articles of treaty and do you prepared to sign them? (A unanimous answer, yes). You, Ottawas, do you agree? (ditto). You, Potawatomes? (ditto). You, Wyandots, do you agree? (Yes). You, Delawares? (yes). You, Shawnees? (yes). You, Wasis? (yes). You, Kickapoos, do you agree? (yes). A large party of Ohio and Indiana was ceded to the United States by this treaty, and with it commenced the tide of immigration from the Eastern and Middle States, that has been constantly flowing into the north western territory, and on the ground where stood the famous fort, the present site of the city of Fort Wayne is located; where we will leave it for the present, for fear of intruding on your time and space.

F. P. H. "A missionary rebuked a South Sea Islander for polygamy, whereat the heathen was much grieved. In a day or two he came back to the missionary, with a face radiant with joy. 'My very good Christian now,' said he, 'one wife.' What did you do with the other?' asked the missionary.—'Me eat her!' This story is related in a Sunday school newspaper."

Subscribe for the Sentinel and Republican. It contains more, and a greater variety of good and useful reading matter than any other county paper.

Put the money you pay for poor tax at interest. You ask how can we do that? The problem is easily solved. We say purchase a good farm, build a good poor house and have it well farmed and you will then have land money at interest, just as every land owner in the country has his money invested, with this difference in favor of a poor house farm, you will have that farmed and kept in order by those who would have to occupy the buildings without having to pay for the labor, which would be an advantage over the other farmers of the country. Now let us see the difference between county that have a poor house and those counties which have none.

Let us now turn to counties that have poor houses. Franklin county, with an almshouse and good farm, $5 worth $60,000, and a population of 46,000, has only expended $15,762.28, only $615.98 more than Junata with a population of only 17,390. Franklin county maintained and supplied 321 paupers, and lodged and fed during the year 4,443 tramps and the number of meals furnished 10,118. Now we will tell you what they raised on their farm and what was made in the house by the women. They raised 1235 bushels of wheat, 625 bushels of oats, 212 bushels of corn in the ear, 713 bushels of potatoes, 50 bushels of beets, 18 bushels of green beans, 8 bushels of soup beans, 50 bushels of tomatoes, 65 bushels of onions, 40 bushels of cucumbers, 4000 heads of cabbage, 26 loads hay, and 18 loads of corn fodder. Of goods manufactured and work done in houses 82 men and boys coats, 142 men's and boys' trousers, 38 vests, 218 shirts, 143 women and children's dresses, 181 women's chemises, 42 infants dresses, 2
