

DYSENTERY, CHOLERA MORBUS, FEVER AND AGUE, CURED AND PREVENTED BY Radway's Ready Relief.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, DIPHTHERIA, INFLUENZA, SORE THROAT, DIFFICULT BREATHING, RELIEVED IN A FEW MINUTES BY Radway's Ready Relief.

BOWEL COMPLAINTS, Looseness, Irritation, Cholera Morbus, etc. Radway's Ready Relief.

ACHES AND PAINS, For headache, whether sick or nervous, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, etc. Radway's Ready Relief.

Dr. Radway's Regulating Pills, Perfectly tasteless, elegantly coated, for the cure of all disorders of the bowels.

DR. RADWAY'S Sarsaparillian Resolvent, The Great Blood Purifier, FOR THE CURE OF CHRONIC DISEASES.

Liver Complaint, &c., For only those who have had a Liver Complaint, or who are afflicted with Biliousness, etc.

Kidney and Bladder Complaints, For only those who have had a Kidney or Bladder Complaint, or who are afflicted with Gravel, etc.

OVARIAN TUMOR, Of Ten Years' Growth, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

DR. RADWAY & CO., 32 Warren St. N. Y.

DR. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

DR. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

DR. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

DR. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

DR. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

DR. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

DR. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

DR. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

DR. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, CURED BY DR. RADWAY'S REMEDIES.

HUMOROUS.

AN ISLANDER HOOPER.—On New York day, 1878, the Judge of the Circuit of Indiana, five persons who had been convicted of violations of the criminal code of Indiana were brought before him for sentencing.

"You mean," said the criminal, "that they will be taken to the poor-house?" The Court replied, "Yes."

"The criminal, after drawing himself up to his full height, and with a look of defiance, said, in a full, round tone of voice: 'Why, my dear, what is the matter?'"

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

DOMESTIC.

FLORA ADULTERATIONS.—Dr. Himly, professor of Chemistry at the University of Kiel has suggested a method, by means of which the amount of ordinary adulterations of flour. It is based upon the fact that chloroform is specifically absorbed by all the substances usually employed for these adulterations.

"The apparatus required is a small tin can, the diameter of which is four inches long. A teaspoonful of flour to be tested is placed in the test glass and chloroform poured over it to the height of an inch or two.

"The criminal, after drawing himself up to his full height, and with a look of defiance, said, in a full, round tone of voice: 'Why, my dear, what is the matter?'"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

AGRICULTURE.

THE APPLE WORM.—Mr. P. H. Foster sends to the Scientific American his mode of destroying the apple worm. "After the worm has entered the fruit and accomplished its damage, the time arrives when it has to leave the fruit and hide itself in a quiet, secure position, to undergo the transition from the larva to the pupa state, which requires, in the early part of the season, eight or ten days; after this time it is hatched, and is again ready to besiege the fruit with its sting. The insect, being two-brooded in this climate at least, if not disturbed, has an aggregating force to do mischief the second time. The progeny for the succeeding year have also to depend on the security of this second generation of larvae. As they may often be found in the bark of apple trees during winter, my plan of destruction is, about the first of July to take wooden rags large enough to wrap around the trees, and say four inches wide. Each week I look over the trees and destroy the worms secreted under the rags and send them to the fire, until the fruit is off the trees. I have all the green fruit, of every kind, carefully picked up as soon as it falls, thereby destroying the eggs, and preventing the apple worms. In future I intend to poison the rags made use of to capture the insect."

"The apparatus required is a small tin can, the diameter of which is four inches long. A teaspoonful of flour to be tested is placed in the test glass and chloroform poured over it to the height of an inch or two.

"The criminal, after drawing himself up to his full height, and with a look of defiance, said, in a full, round tone of voice: 'Why, my dear, what is the matter?'"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

PALESTINE.

The Jordan Valley is a waste, on both sides of the river. It is one of the finest tropical countries in the world. It has numerous fountains and ways for irrigation. All the waters of the Jordan may be used for purposes of irrigation, so great is the fall; and the valley is capable of sustaining five millions of souls in comfort, and even in luxury. There are, perhaps, two hundred and fifty thousand in all Palestine. Some of the ancient works of this country still remain, because of their Cyclopean architecture and substantial character. Such are Solomon's pool and the aqueducts which might easily be repaired, and at small cost comparatively. Some of the tombs which remain were constructed at enormous cost.

"The apparatus required is a small tin can, the diameter of which is four inches long. A teaspoonful of flour to be tested is placed in the test glass and chloroform poured over it to the height of an inch or two.

"The criminal, after drawing himself up to his full height, and with a look of defiance, said, in a full, round tone of voice: 'Why, my dear, what is the matter?'"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"

"No, my dear, I mean that you will be taken to the poor-house, and if you had known the fact I was in, they would have been here with money enough to buy up the whole court."

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? You mean, I suppose, that you will be taken to the poor-house?"