OF PHILADELPHIA.
JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT,

OF ALLEGANY.

Give Sherman a Chance.

As is well known, the Potter committee attempted to connect Secretary Sherman with the movement in Louisiana, during the late Presidential campaign that resulted in the rejection of the vote of certain parishes in the State mentioned. The vote that was rejected, it is alleged, was largely in favor of Tilden. The Potter people believe that if they can connect Sherman with the men who rejected the Tilden vote that they have something to present to the people of the country in the next campaign that will enable them to elect a Democratic Congress by an overwhelming majority and secure a number of State Legislatures and thus also, secure a majority of the United States Senators. Secretary Key, and Congressman Stevens say, it means more than power in both houses, they claim that it means nothing short of the ouster of Hayes.

The Potter people say that if Tilden majorities were thrown out, by the Louisiana board, that such throwing out of the vote constitutes a fraud. At first sight, what they say appears correct, but it is the deception of surface appearance. The rejection of the Tilden vote is a result, and not a fraud, the fraud lies back of that, the fraud is found in the systematic course of intimidation that was carried on during months of time previous to the election whereby the republicans were so scared that they did not vote, and if they did vote they voted for Tilden to save their lives and property, that is what has been alleged and if true, that constitutes the fraud, and that was the reason certain votes were thrown out. The votes were not thrown out without authority of law, for the State laws provide for the rejection of votes in districts where intimidation and violence have been practiced. The fraud was not in throwing out the votes but the fraud was committed when the rights of the people to vote were outraged by keeping them from voting by intimidation and violence. If the people were bulldozed and intimidated from voting, then the Return Board was justified in throwing out such votes as had been manufactured by the fraud on the right to vote. The majority of the Republicans in the North believe that in many of the districts in the Southern States no fair election has taken place since the subjugated Confederates have been allowed to take a part in matters of election. They would gladly believe the return board was justified in keeping them from voting by intimidation and violence. If the people were bulldozed and intimidated from voting, then the Return Board was justified in throwing out such votes as had been manufactured by the fraud on the right to vote. The majority of the Republicans in the North believe that in many of the districts in the Southern States no fair election has taken place since the subjugated Confederates have been allowed to take a part in matters of election.

One of the battle-cries of the Democracy has been a cry against carpet-baggers. But a little while ago they could not condemn the carpet-bag class too much; now, however, they do not play on that string; they have quit denouncing the carpet-bagger since the nomination of Mr. Dill for Governor, as he is a first-rate specimen of carpet bag adventurer, having been born in the State of Maryland. My Maryland.

News from the plains indicate an Indian war, but then such news is but the common news that every summer brings. It is the kind of news that has been told every summer since the "whites" landed in North America, and it is the kind of news that will be heard on through every coming summer until the Indian will have been numbered with the past. Such is the work of destiny, but what is destiny?

If Mr. Tilden and friends offered $4,000 and more for the vote of certain parishes in Louisiana, how much are they paying for witnesses in the Potter investigation? Referred to the Mexican Revolutionary Committee.

In the fifty-six years that have elapsed since Mexico secured her independence not a single President of that unhappy country has served out his term. This is the sort of thing the Democrats want to introduce in the United States.—Cleveland Herald.

King William is recovering from his wounds, and so is the world being reassured. They say Germany is ready for Republican rule, but Republican rule never came through the hand of an assassin.

The Potter investigation is a limited enterprise. It is intended to comprehend only a few parishes in a couple of the Southern States.

[From the Harrisburg Telegraph.]
"How will the Democracy escape from the ridiculous situation in which they are now held by the absurdity and absolute illegality of their proposed investigation of the Electoral vote of 1876, with a view to ousting Hayes from the Presidency? All the great lawyers of the country on both sides of politics pronounce the propositions in the Potter movement revolutionary. It is not the way to proceed against a President who is alleged to have committed a fraud. He ought to be impeached, and then the facts as alleged brought out, but for a committee of one House of Congress to proceed as Potter's committee is now proceeding is, in the judgment of the ablest men of Congress, revolutionary. How, then, can the Democracy escape from the ridiculous feature of their present course?"

Be Careful What You Think, How You Act, and What You Say.
Edison's Phonograph will receive, retain, and recount expressions delivered at a distance of seventy-five feet. It is something to almost marvel over, that a machine has been invented that may be placed in a room where a conversation is going on, and record the conversation, and retain it, one hour, or one day, or one month, and, when desired, recount the whole conversation as it was delivered. It is wonderful that man can so acquaint himself with vibratory sound, motion, and vibratory machinery as to construct such a machine.

There is a lesson to be learned from the Phonograph. Its power to retain and redeliver what has been said in its presence, is overwhelming evidence in favor of the declarations of sacred writing, that every word that a man utters, and every thought of his mind is recorded in the next world, and that when he gets there, the record that he made while in this world will be presented to him and all present, and that he will be satisfied with the verdict that will be made on the record of his own making. Those who are inclined to be skeptical on the point of a record being kept of a man's sayings and thoughts while in this world, had better look at it in the light of the practical operation of the recording machine invented by Edison, and say to themselves, "If finite man can invent a machine that will or can record every word that a man says in its presence, and repeat what was said in its hearing, at any time afterwards when desired, how easy a matter is it for the God of all nature, animate and inanimate, to have the world so constructed that every thought, word and action of man is put on record, to be redelivered at the judgment day."

Viewed in the light of the Phonograph, the recording of the thoughts, words and actions of men for the judgment day is a matter that to a certain degree may be understood. In other words, what a man can do with the laws of nature in a limited sense, the God of all the laws of nature can do in an unlimited sense. Be careful what you think, how you act, and what you say.

The Democrats in the Lower House have been so one-sided in their investigation views that they propose to investigate the late Presidential election vote and returns, only in the States of Florida and Louisiana. Of course the Senate can start a supplemental investigation for Oregon and other places, where it is said Tilden emptied one of his barrels of cash. Let the investigation go on by all means.

One of the battle-cries of the Democracy has been a cry against carpet-baggers. But a little while ago they could not condemn the carpet-bag class too much; now, however, they do not play on that string; they have quit denouncing the carpet-bagger since the nomination of Mr. Dill for Governor, as he is a first-rate specimen of carpet bag adventurer, having been born in the State of Maryland. They succeeded in stopping the Blacksburg train on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad and returned making the train stop when and where they pleased and refusing to pay fare.

In an establishment at Oakland, Cal., the entrails of sheep are used for making very serviceable belting machinery. First the entrails are cleaned and soaked a few days in brine. The prepared material is then wound on bobbins, when it is ready for working up into ropes or flat belts. A three-quarter inch rope of this material is capable of bearing a strain of seven tons. The material furthermore, is very durable—more than twice as durable as hemp.—Popular Science Monthly.

A good deal of fear and a stoppage in the sale of shad in New Jersey and New York has been occasioned by the discovery of ascarid worms about an inch in length occurring in the flesh and on the gills of these fish. On examination of specimens sent us by Mr. Ager, of Trenton, we find that the worms belong to ascaris, or a closely allied genus. They are closely related to the ordinary ascarid or round worms which are abundant in the intestines and flesh of the cod hake and haddock, and which we have always supposed to be rarely if ever injurious to man. The cause of the worms is supposed to be due to the shad worm having been reported in the papers, but it is doubtful whether any disease would show itself in so short a time. Similar but much larger worms are common in the intestines of man and the domestic animals.—American Naturalist.

A startling case of grave robbery was discovered near Great Bend, Indiana, last Thursday a week. On Monday John Stot Harrison, a son of the late ex-President Harrison, died and was buried near that place. During the ceremony at the grave it was discovered that the body of a young man buried a few days before had been stolen from the cemetery. The affair caused much excitement, and a party was organized to search for the missing remains, among whom was a son of Mr. Harrison. On Thursday afternoon a search warrant was procured and the party visited the dissection room of the Ohio Medical College, at Cincinnati. Here, after a protracted search, the missing remains could not be found. But just as the search was about to be abandoned, a body was found attached to a windlass rope leading to a lower story. When it was drawn up, Mr. Harrison was horrified to find it to be his own father, buried a few days before, and thought to be still lying in the earth. The body was taken back and reburied, and will be watched over day and night. The indignation caused by this discovery is intense.

MAHONY CITY, June 6.—Michael Landy, collector of the State and county tax, was arrested last week, at the instance of his bondsmen, for embezzling thirty-three hundred dollars. He was given a week to settle up. On Tuesday he absconded and it has since been discovered that he forged Rev. Father Ryan's name to a check for fifty dollars and collected the money. Landy is the man who made a speech at Tamaqua last week in favor of Communism. The National Greenback Labor party repudiated him before he turned embezzler and forger.

THOR, N. Y., June 7.—Detective Markham, of this place, arrested Jesse Billings, of Fort Miller Bridge, Saratoga county, yesterday, on a charge of murdering his wife Tuesday night by shooting her through a window. On the night of the murder the accused was visiting a neighbor's house when the news was brought, and he asked, "What has happened, did you say?" and immediately drove home. Rushing into the room where his dead wife lay, Billings spread out his arms and cried, "Oh, dear! what does this mean?" His daughter answered: "You are my father, and you are the man who did this deed. This is the third time you have tried to do it." Tip-toe footsteps have been found leading across a newly ploughed garden to the spot from where the shot was fired, which shows that the murderer wore rubber boots, and Billings is said to have worn such on the evening stated.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The mass meeting and parade of the workmen of the District on Wednesday night were the most orderly that have taken place in this city for many years past. The various labor organizations were well represented, and the mottoes on the transparencies were of a very conservative character. The Workingmen's Assembly having given explicit orders that nothing of an offensive character should appear in line. The procession moved over the principal streets in the city, and such enthusiasm was manifested. Many houses were illuminated, and at different points, displays of fireworks were made. At the armory of Company A, Washington Light Infantry, the only military organization in the city, there was an elaborate display. At the City Hall, where the meeting was held, there were congregated fully five thousand people, and with the arrival of the procession their number was greatly increased. The principal speakers were George McNeill, President of the International Labor Union; Dr. Lawrence, A. T. Davis, Dr. Thomas, and John Reynolds. The speeches and resolutions were conservative and calculated to give no violation of the law. The meeting continued until midnight, and the best of order was preserved.

DISPATCHES.
WILLIAMSPORT, June 1.—About 3 o'clock this morning the private banking house of Doane & Son, at Canton, Bradford county, near Minnequa, was burglarized. Three masked men entered the house of the senior member of the firm, awoke him and compelled him by threats of instant death to accompany them to the bank and open it. Being helpless he accompanied the robbers, opened the door of the bank and admitted them. Once inside, some twenty-five dollars in a drawer and a package of registered bonds amounting to $2,500 outside the safe were found and secured. They then commanded him to open the safe, threatening to kill him if he refused. Mr. Doane informed them that he did not know the combination and could not open the safe. At this juncture one of the burglars, at this violently with his fist gave the senior member a blow on the forehead that would make short work of him with a short rope if he did not do as he commanded. Doane begged lustily for his life and declared that he could not open the safe. Finally one of the party became satisfied that he was telling the truth, and bade his comrades desist. At this time two young men, named Pierce and Jackson, who were sleeping in a room in an adjacent building, were awakened by the noise. They arose, dressed, slipped down, armed themselves with clubs and started out to ascertain the cause of the noise. As they approached the bank a man was discovered outside, who, it turned out, had been stationed there to give the alarm on the first approach of burglars. They immediately attacked him with their clubs and pummeled him vigorously for a few seconds. This attracted the attention of his comrades inside, when they rushed out of the bank and began firing their revolvers right and left to frighten or kill the assailants. Seven or eight shots were fired in quick succession, but fortunately the young men did not receive any of them. In the confusion that ensued the burglars effected their escape, and when the villagers were aroused they had fled. On making an examination a full set of burglars' tools, a mask and a sash were found. The latter had been knicked from the head of the burglar on guard when he was accosted by Messrs. Pierce and Jackson. When daylight arrived there was great excitement in the village over the affair. Mr. Doane was comparatively uninjured, but greatly frightened over his adventure. Had the burglars not been frightened off it is probable that they would have tied their prisoner and then forced the safe and secured considerable money. The bonds cannot be negotiated, as all bankers and brokers have been notified of their numbers. It is believed that the party were burglars about Williamsport for several days and only made their way to Canton or vicinity on the train the same night of the robbery, having previously made a careful reconnaissance of the bank and the residence of Mr. Doane.

Later intelligence is to the effect that the burglars proceeded to blow the safe open with gunpowder. The explosion was so severe as to blow out a portion of the glass of the front windows. Doane was then handcuffed and gagged, and when found he was in this condition. It is supposed that the outside robber was badly injured, as he had to be helped to the carriage in waiting by his companions. The previous evening a Towanda livery carriage was seen on the road, and it is supposed that it was driven by the burglars after the flight. The robbers drove down the valley, and farmers along the road say that they heard groans proceeding from a rapidly-driven carriage early this morning. It is supposed that the burglars fled to Towanda, where they succeeded in taking a train.
