was large-five ministers of the gospel, The 1st school was not let. thirty-four schools, eighty-four superintendents and delegates—the order excellent, the spirit lovely, perfect harmony reigning throughout, with a marked enthusiasm. The interest of the community was manifested by the house being crowded to over flowing, afternoons and evenings. The large-handed and warm-hearted hospitality of those who entertained the members of the convention cannot be too highly spoken of, to whom the hearty thanks of the convention were tendered. The thanks of the convention were also voted the editors of the county papers for their kindness in publishing notices of the convention.
