Then and Now.

Junata county was, by Act of March 2, 1851, stricken off from Mifflin county. Previous thereto, parties in suit, witnesses, jurors, executors, administrators, guardians, and all persons having official business in court, from the two ends of this, now Junata, but then Mifflin county, had to travel on foot or horseback about forty miles to get to court.

On the last night of the year 1870, some one, actuated by a fiendish motive, set the town on fire, and before the flames were extinguished a large portion of the place was reduced to ashes.

During the fall, or rather opening winter, David Walker, Esq., of Walker township, and William McAlister, afterward Associate Judge of Juniata county, carried a petition and obtained many signatures, to have H. T. McAlister, then quite a young man, appointed Justice of the Peace for the district then composed of old Fernmanagh township, which had lately been divided.

On the 27th of June last, two daughters of Samuel Bell, residing a mile and a half northeast of Mifflintown, went to a wood-pile to get stove-wood.

At a late meeting of the Board of County Commissioners it was resolved that they proceed to locate and purchase a site for a Poor House, and submit their action to the County, in accordance with the provisions of an act of Assembly.

It is not your business, reader, or my business, if they pay their honest obligations. The work of the incendiary in the Old Fellows' Hall stopped the preparations for the building of 4th of July bonfire on the morning of the natal day. The first Centennial anniversary of the massacre in Wyoming Valley was celebrated on the 3d and 4th inst., at Wilkesbarre, with great demonstration. The Park Association have resolved that bathing in the canal that runs side by side with the road that leads to the Park shall be prohibited during the hours of daylight. If you want a suit of clothes for a small amount of money, go to Todd's. A man named Heywood, a graduate of Brown University has been set to jail for a period of two months, in Massachusetts, for circulating a book that advocates free love. The wheat crop in Europe is represented as a short one. "If the report be a correct one, good prices will be obtained by the American farmer for the wheat he has to sell. Harrisburg is happy; the appropriations to be expended on the new post-office in that city within the next year amount to $110,000. That will make work for a number of people. The robbery of the Hann brothers in Huntingdon county, some days ago, is charged, not to the tramp fraternity, but to a gang of outlaws that operate in Huntingdon and adjoining counties. Why celebrate the 4th of July with fire crackers and other abominable Chinese contrivances? Why not celebrate it in a more civilized way, after the fashion of Christmas and so forth? Several nights ago, some unknown person, or persons, entered the cellar of Joseph Martin's house, in this borough, and took therefrom all of a "fresh baking" excepting one loaf of bread. The barn of H. H. Brubaker, near Oakland Mills, was struck by lightning and destroyed on Monday evening. One horse, reaper and mower, hay, and about eighty dozen of wheat were burned in the fire. Michael Brennan, of Porter township, Huntingdon county, while feeding his cattle a few days ago, was tossed by an enraged bull. Brennan's injuries consisted of a number of bruises, and a broken leg. William Given, a citizen well known to many people in this county, died at his residence in Patterson, on Tuesday, 18th ult. His remains were buried in Union Cemetery on Thursday, the 20th. He was aged about 68 years. "No horse will die of Colic, Bots, or Lung Fever if Font's Celebrated Horse and Cattle Powders are used according to the directions. They will cleanse the intestines, purify and invigorate the system, thus preventing disease." Not within the recollection of men, have the wheat grains projected more prominently from the stalks than this season. It is safe to say that the threshing will be cleanly done. Edward Bartley, aged about seven years, son of Mr. Sarah R. Bartley, residing in this borough, was thrown out of a boys' wagon, which a couple of boys were drawing, a few days ago, by which mishap the lad's right collar bone was broken.

"In many towns the merchants close their stores at 6 and 7 o'clock p. m., to give their clerks time to study—the colors of young ladies' eyes. And that's why so many young men have a liking for store-keeping. Tonsorial Professor John Robinson enlivened Patterson somewhat on the evening of the 4th by appearing on the streets of that town in the garb that Satan is supposed to wear when he shies around among the human family on his earth. A horse owned by David Mumma, of Fernmanagh township, took some sort of a spell on Main street last Friday; the beast was quite sick. Judge Elder came that way and took out his pocket knife, used it as a lance and bled the animal, after which it got better. The shifting engine that did service in the railroad yard at Patterson, has been taken away. There is a report that the dispatcher's office will also be taken away, and that the coal-yard is also to be removed, all of which it is hoped is only report. H. T. McAlister, Esq., represented the county at the Wyoming Centennial celebration. Mr. McAlister's people were living in the woods of Juniata when the dreadful massacres took place in the settlements of Wyoming in July, 1778. A Prussian sketch artist is stopping at Sulo's hotel, where he will be glad to supply all who may wish to have themselves sketched on paper or canvas. He also sketches houses, and barns, farm scenes, and writes family records in bibles or on parchment. "Stephens says: 'He would not be ruled out of the house of his father's home by thimble-riggers and shysters. There is not complimentary to the Port Royal Greasers, and the honor of Democratic camp followers who have been howling at the heels of the old man in Georgia.' M. L. Moore, residing about one mile and a quarter southeast of McAlisterville, was greatly surprised, a few days ago, to find a large blacksnake near the pump in the yard, at the house. He killed the snake, which measured 6 feet 6 inches in length and 5 inches in circumference. On the 29th day of June last, Henry Zook, farmer, residing in Fernmanagh township, cut five and one-half dozen wheat sheaves; on the 2nd day of July he threshed the wheat, and the yield therefrom was five bushels and one pint, and now he is eating bread from that extraordinary yield. Bismark—"Mein treu friend, Gortschakoff, you talk how you feel about 400 tog ven he betes you. It was outrageous! Oh, you madly, dirty, good-for-nothing yellow brand! Lay down mit you! [Exit Gortschakoff.] Nishe tog! Scindler, Goo-o-o! veller! Gime tog! Yacob, gih Schneider zwel, ain't tu? Bawel, dot makes him zaidger, s'und' it?"—Boston Traveller. This is what the Cincinnati Times thinks, and we agree with it:—"When tramps burn barns, mowing machines and reapers, the shot gun becomes the highest court of law, and farmers should not be slow in appealing to it. The farmer who gives up his farm machinery, because threatened by a Molly Maguire letter, is not only a thorough-paced coward, but a foolish man who thus exhibits himself as a prey for all manner of vagabonds." Some days ago, ten carrier pigeons, that belonged to a man in New York city, were left out of a cage in Alton, at 11 o'clock A. M. The first pigeon arrived in New York at 5:41 P. M., making the distance in 6 hours and 31 minutes. The second pigeon arrived at 6:28 P. M. At half-past ten o'clock P. M. the day after the start, five of the birds had arrived in New York. The other five arrived afterwards. It is believed that a storm scattered the birds. Mr. Pendleton, the defeated candidate for sheriff, at the late Republican primaries in Pennsylvania, secured a large number of adherents of citizens who had cast their ballots for him in districts where the returns credited to him had been very light, and submitted the case to the county committee. So palpable were the frauds that the committee has ordered a new election in the case of the candidates for sheriff, and the last Thursday of August was appointed as the day of holding it.—Allons Tribunes. The parcel that was stolen from the porch of Mr. John Horning's house, in this borough, some weeks ago, by a couple of tramps, was found by Mr. Emanuel Meyer's harvest hand while cutting a field of wheat on the farm of the editor of the SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN. In their departure from the town the tramps threw the parcel into the wheat field, where it lay till harvest time. The parcel was greatly damaged by the work of insects, and by the weather.—They have been Mexicanizing matters in St. Louis a good deal. Two parties claim to be the lawful government of the east end of the city. A few days ago, one of the factions made an effort to dislodge the guard of five men that the other faction had posted in an engine house. The attacking party was fifty strong. The party inside the engine house numbered five. The assailants were compelled to withdraw, with two men killed and a number wounded. The question of government is in the Supreme Court. The most of the rioters are foreigners. On the 27th of June last, two daughters of Samuel Bell, residing a mile and a half northeast of Mifflintown, went to a wood-pile to get stove-wood. While there the younger one, aged about 9 years, was bitten on the right leg, near the knee joint, by a copperhead snake. After biting the younger girl, the snake sprang at the older one and nearly reached her face. A dog owned by Mr. Bell, hearing the alarm and cries of the reptile and tore to its pieces. Dr. D. M. Crawford was called, and prescribed such remedies as saved the life of the child. The dog was bitten, but did not die. The 4th developed a number of pic-nics, but the one that elicited them all in point of numbers was the one that was gotten up by Port Royal and Mifflin people jointly. The Port Royal people arrived here at 9 o'clock A. M., in a boat, and were joined by people from this place, after which they journeyed to the "ragging canal" to Macdonia, where the party pic-nicked till evening. The boat arrived here on its return about 8 o'clock P. M. The Mifflin people stepped off and made their Port Royal cousins good night, and the boat went smoothly down the canal to its destination. A number of people from this place drove to Macdonia in carriages, and there joined the pic-nickers. About 175 ladies and gentlemen composed the party.

James McCrum, aged 85 years, 11 months and 8 years, a native of Milford township, was in good health on the morning of the 4th of July, and attended to some farm work till about noon, when he came to the house and lay down, as he frequently did at that hour. He had not reclined long till Mrs. McCrum heard him make a peculiar noise. Hastening to him, she found him dying. His remains were buried in the Presbyterian graveyard adjacent to this town, on Saturday. He was born August 1st, 1792. On the 27th ult. Levi Zook, residing one mile west of McVeoytown, got on Pacific westward bound, at Lewistown, with a ticket for McVeoytown. By some means the conductor of the train missed Zook, did not get his ticket, and of course did not know that the train should be stopped at McVeoytown. When Zook realized that the train would not stop at McVeoytown but was hurrying by, he ran out of the cars on to the platform and from the platform sprang off the train. The result was dreadful for Mr. Zook. His head evidently came in contact with the ground, for his skull was fractured and the brain exposed. This, from the Lewistown Gazette, explains itself: "Richard Henry, Henry Culbertson and George Orndorff have been out in the mountains near Penn's creek making shingles, and here also had an adventure with a panther. One night, recently, while occupying their cabin, the animal was attracted to the vicinity, and scenting the articles kept in a box at the spring made a meal on two loaves of bread and a ham. It was so well pleased with these that it returned next night and came so close to the horse that he made unmistakable signs of alarm. The three men, armed with axes, sallied forth to attack the monster, and finally succeeded in driving him from the vicinity. Here is a recipe for making pic-nic lemonade: First get your barrel. Then fill it with water. While Mrs. Baker was roasting the bird she said the sun shone to her into her face, and while exchanging seats with her husband she fell out of the boat, face forward. Her husband jumped to catch her, but his foot caught at one of the oars, and he fell in also, and when he got loose he lost the place where she had fallen in. She was soon found, but not soon enough to save her life, for when found she was dead. The deceased formerly was Miss Alice Sonders, from near Tuscarora Station. Her age was 17 years, 3 months and 11 days. She had been married just three months. She was amiable and intelligent, and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. The water is about five feet where the distressing accident occurred. Her remains were embalmed in Church Hill Cemetery. A delegation of masked Patterson boys in the rancidest clothes they could obtain, paraded through the streets on the morning of the 4th, about 9 o'clock. The procession was led by a masked boy seated on a one-year-old calf. Of course the calf had its proper share of flag decoration. The national colors were not neglected by the long procession of maskers that followed the leader. They flattered from the hands of nearly every boy in the procession. There were three small banners in the procession. The first read: "On the way home!" the second one read: "On a strike," and the last one read: "On an arm." Apparently the boys enjoyed the march, and the attention they drew from people on the sidewalks. A large crowd of children had collected at the canal bridge to see a pic-nic in a boat, but when the Patterson company came along, the pic-nic people lost their attraction for the children, and they followed the maskers through the streets of the town. JOHN M. GARMAN, M. E., will open a Normal School, in the borough school house, next Monday. Terms moderate. Number of pupils limited. The old Jackson Democrats used to call paper money advocates, Shipplaster Princes, Rag Barons, and Paper Kings. So we read in the papers and books that were published in the days of Jefferson and Jackson. Burglars in Port Royal, a few nights ago, made an effort to enter the dwelling place of G. W. Jacobs and the ware-room of S. M. Gibson. The burglars were captured from both places before they had accomplished their object. Last Thursday two steamers sailed from Philadelphia, for Liverpool, England, each having on board a large lot of hogs and cattle. The aggregate number of hogs on both ships was 1,000; the aggregate number of cattle was 669. Communists in the West, in towns, say, "build manufacturing establishments so that the people may have work." They then go to the country and burn the machinery that the shops turned out, saying, "the use of such machinery takes the bread out of people's mouths." If the country rise up some day and make short work of such people and their abettors, those that are left will know how to behave themselves. The Republicans of Patterson borough held a meeting last Friday evening for the purpose of electing two members of the County Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William Given, and the absence of Kansas and J. B. Marley. G. R. Henderson and John Foreman were elected, and will present their credentials when the County Committee meet in this borough, which will be on Saturday, the 20th inst. Thompsons people made an organized effort to celebrate the 4th, and succeeded admirably. At a stated hour they marched to a grove adjoining town, where J. Warren Platt read the Declaration of Independence, W. I. Hibbs delivered an oration, and T. D. Garman and John M. Garman each delivered speeches. The music for the occasion was under the management of Prof. Hudson, who was assisted by a choir of twenty ladies and gentlemen of the town and vicinity.

At a late meeting of the Board of County Commissioners it was resolved that they proceed to locate and purchase a site for a Poor House, and submit their action to the County, in accordance with the provisions of an act of Assembly. If you have property to sell that will be suitable for the purpose under consideration, make it known to the Board of Commissioners. The action is the result of a request of a convention of Directors of the Poor that was held in Mifflintown not long since. People from the country have as much right to come into town and throw down fences, and cross gardens, tramping in their course such vegetables as come in their way, as town people have a right to go to the country and throw down fences, and tramp down such vegetables as come in their way. True bill. A pugnacious ram-brother came out of its "nest" in the wall of the stable on Mrs. Frow's lot on Cherry street, and sought battle with the people that passed from the Presbyterian church to their homes, last Sabbath. Many blows were delivered at it as it attacked the passer by, but it escaped them all. It succeeded in stinging Mrs. John Horning on the point of her nose, and in stinging a daughter of Mr. Frederick Eschenshade on the upper lip. Since the address at Gettysburg he styled the Rev. A. K. McClure. It is believed that he will be called to fill a pulpist post. LUMBER.—All kinds, sizes and qualities, for sale at prices to suit the times. Call on or address JAS. C.
