Collision of Ships in the English Channel, November 25th.

A London dispatch of Nov. 26, 1878, says: The Hamburg American steamer Pomerania, under command of Captain Schwensen, which started from New York on the 14th of November for Hamburg, and arrived at Plymouth at midnight on the 24th inst., came in collision last night, about eight miles southeast of Folkestone, with the Welsh bark Moei Eilian, of Carnarvon, from Rotterdam at the time was on her way from Plymouth to Hamburg...

The Pomerania was struck on the starboard side midships and sank in less than twenty minutes. The distress signals were given and rescued by the steamer Glengarry, proceeding down the channel, which made all speed toward the scene of the disaster...

There were nine boats on the Pomerania, four of which were crushed in the collision. Five were got off, but one, being overcrowded with passengers, was sunk. All the boats pulled away from the doomed ship, leaving the captain and his crew to their fate...

First cabin.—Mr. and Mrs. E. Arnstein, family and nurse, San Francisco; Miss Mary Clymer and Miss Rose N. Clymer, Philadelphia; Mrs. Clementia De Friere and family, Washington; Miss Victoria De Friere, Washington; Alfred Faber, New York; Mr. E. Knig, New York; Miss E. Knig, New York; Conrad Pappenhuisen, Hamburg; L. F. Schwartz, New York; D. A. Ward, family and nurse, New York...

Second cabin.—Emil Bloch, Clarksville, Tenn.; Julius Charles, New York; Otto Kornemann, New York; Caroline Kozl, New York; H. Muller, Germany; Martha Muller, Germany; Miss Annie Neumann, New York; Mr. Sophie Ohmstedt, New York; Robert Pommer, St. Louis; C. H. Westphal, La Crosse, Wis.; Prof. Henry Kolyn, St. Louis...

Respecting the second cabin and stowage passengers whose names do not appear among the list of saved information has not been received. It is certain that a large proportion have been saved. The dispatches agree that but 58 in all, including several of the officers and three of the crew were lost. They also explain that on the arrival of the rescued passengers at London they scattered in all directions over the city, so that it was impossible to gather anything like a complete list of their names...

Some of the cabin passengers are probably lost: Alexander Bolicso, New York; Boris Bolicso, New York; Mrs. W. B. Clymer, Philadelphia; Miss Maria Heister Clymer, Philadelphia; Mr. R. Heister Clymer, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Lucke and three children; New York; Miss Anna Wolff, New York...

Mr. Mary Heister Clymer was the only sister of Hon. Heister Clymer, member of Congress from the Berks district of this State, and the wife of William Bingham Clymer. The others, Mary R. Rose Nicolls and Maria Heister are her three daughters, and Richard Willing, her son. She was on her way to Europe to complete her education. Mr. Clymer has been advised of the safety of Mary and Rose, but nothing has been heard of the others. Hon. Heister Clymer was preparing to leave Reading for Washington when he was apprised of the sad news, which very much depressed him...

Governor COVINGTON and Senator Hill, both of Georgia, and both Democrats, have a quarrel on hand. Hill charges the Governor with crookedness in the management of the railroad bonds, and the Governor charges Hill with political crookedness, and the Legislature is to investigate the quarrel...

Dancing. The case of Mr. Frank F. Block, of Atlanta, Ga., has made considerable stir. As is well remembered, he gave a little social party in his house, at which some of the guests and his own family tripped the light fantastic toe. The Atlanta Presbytery censured Mr. Block, and he appealed to the Synod of Georgia, which is the next judicatory in authority. The Synod decided that the Atlanta Presbytery was wrong and ought not to have censured Mr. Block. Now the Presbytery, determined to show the correctness of its standing, appeals from the decision of the Synod, and the case goes to the next higher judicatory, namely, the General Assembly, which meets next May. This is the highest of all Presbyterian courts and its action is final. But the gentleman who has been prosecuting Mr. Block do not wish it to appear that his victory in the Synod gives any aid or comfort to dancers. They procured the passage of a minute by Synod setting its views concerning the wickedness of the dance. This minute reads thus: "Whereas, the decision of the Synod of Georgia, in still charging the case of Mr. F. Block, of the Atlanta Presbytery, may be misunderstood by some of our people as favoring dancing; and
