TWILIGHT.

Child, go and pray-for see ! the night is here Through cloudy rifts the golden lights appear; The hills' faint ontline trembles in the mist: Scarcely is heard a distant chariot-list ! The world s at rest ; the tree beside the way Gives to the evening wind the dust of day. Twilight unlocks the hiding place of stars ;

The gleam and glow behind night's shadow bars.

The fringe of carm ne narrows in the west The moonlit water lies in shining rest . Furrow and footpath melt and disappear The anxious traveler doubts the far and near

It is the hour when angels stop far and near, To bless our babes amid our careless mirth ; The little ones with eyes upraised in prayer, With tiny, folded hands and white feet bare, Ask at this, this twilight hour a blessing dear. Of Him who loves His little ones to hear.

Then, while they sleep a cloud of golden dreams

Born in the calm of day's declining beams, Waiting in shadow till the hour of night ; Fly to each couch and scatter visions bright, As joyous bees seek honey-laden flowers, ms hover near in slumber's quiet hours.

O cradied sleep! O prayers of childhood blest! O baby-voice, speaking a loving breast, Thy happy prayer the darkness maketh light. Turneth to song the solemn sounds of night. As 'neath his wing the birdie hides his head, Thou shelterest by the prayer thy cradle-bed.
