AMENDMENT.
The Republican County Committee, in its meeting of June 10, 1878, proposed an amendment to the first article of the system, "Limiting the time of announcement of candidates to the newspapers of the county, weeks prior to the Primary Election," and submitted the amendment to a vote of the party at the Primary Election held August 10, 1878. The amendment was adopted, and the Chairman of the Convention, W. C. Laird, announced the vote on the question of amendment, as follows: For amendment, 587; Against amendment, 172.

The June report of the Agricultural Department shows that the acreage of oats has decreased about four per cent. The general average is 81, against 103 last year. The condition is unfavorable in nearly all sections of the Union. The decrease in the acreage of rice is about four per cent. New England is full; New York is only 80 and Pennsylvania 88. Barley is low; the general average is 55, while in 1878 it was 102. Corn is backward, owing to drought. In five or six localities the seed did not germinate. The condition of clover is very low all over the country, except in the New England States and those bordering the Gulf of Mexico. The prospects for a good crop of fruit is gloomy. The late frosts were fatal in many regions. There will be a short crop of apples; the average is low. Except in New England, the crop in all the Atlantic States is fair. In the Gulf States the yield will be only half of a full crop. Peaches suffered most from the frosts of May. In the Eastern States, and particularly in those where the culture is a specialty, the crop is represented as good, but in the Atlantic States, and in Virginia, it is a failure, and that is the case in the States bordering on the Ohio river, except in a few localities. California will have a full crop.

Says the Sunbury Democrat: Mr. Daniel Williamson, a tailor of this place, has received letters patent for a grain binder, and is using on seed-raking reapers. The Champion reaper blades with wire and the Champion blades with straw, taken from the sheaf. Among reaper men this invention is regarded as very valuable, the inventor having already received large royalty offers.

On Sabbath evening Rev. E. E. Berry preached a sermon from 1st Timothy, 2d chapter, 5th verse.

"For there is a God, and our mediators between God and man, the man Christ Jesus." The THEME deduced from the text was, Christ the mediator between God and man.

That there should be a mediator implies that there is something wrong. What differences arise among men, so that they must have a mediator, one that stands between to adjust and settle the difference, it is a sure, a certain sign that there is something wrong. There is a difference between man and God. Man has fallen from his high original state in which they were originally made, and because of their present sinful state the difference is so great that a mediator is needed to restore them to their lost estate. Without the mediation of Christ there can be no reconciliation. The difference cannot be removed without his mediation.

It was the said difference between God and man that caused the agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, and the tragedy of the Cross. The whole life of Christ is witness to the difference between God and man.

He was both Advocate and Mediator. As an advocate he constantly pleads for fallen men, but the office of advocate alone had not the power to save. Christ's was a double office, mediator and advocate united.

In a human sense an advocate is one who pleads one's cause. A lawyer is an advocate, a paid advocate, who will, with the most consummate skill, and playing eloquence, defend and advocate in causes where difference exists between men, but he can be on one side only. He cannot speak for both sides. A human mediator may be the friend of both parties between whom a difference exists; he may be a mutual friend.

No human being can stand as mediator between God and man, for the equality that exists between men, which enables them to settle differences, does not exist between God and man. God is infinite and man is finite being, and therefore it became necessary that some infinite being should be mediator.

Christ is qualified for the office of mediator.

First. Because Christ is God's equal. He is the Son of God, and is qualified to act as mediator. God is his friend, and he is the friend of men; he assumed the flesh and blood of men.

Second. Christ is qualified for the office of mediator because he is men's equal. He is God, and yet he was man. He passed from the infant state to that of man's estate, clothed in flesh and blood, and with the feelings, and sympathies of men, and subject to the temptations of men. He was the equal of God, and he was the equal of men, and that equality qualified him for the double office of mediator.
